XENIA, Ohio, Nov. 26.—Charles Mackrodt, former lieutenant of police in the department of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, with headquarters here was shot three times and instantly killed by the man he blamed for his recent demotion, at Main and Detroit streets at 10 o'clock this morning.

The shooting was done by Charles Lattimer, another member of the railroad police department, who surrendered to Deputy Sheriff Baughn, who witnessed the affair from the sheriff's office window, and had already started for the scene.

WOLFE'S TRIAL OPENS MONDAY

Clay Miner Charged With Murder of Mrs. Dearth.

William Wolfe, East End clay miner, will go on trial before Judge Carl H. Smith, of Steubenville, in common pleas court, Lisbon, Monday morning on an indictment, charging him with second degree murder for the slaying of Mrs. Flora Dearth, Mulberry street restaurant owner, October 3.

The court has appointed Attorney Frank E. Grosshans of East Liverpool and Attorney Walter Beck of Lisbon, former prosecuting attorney, to defend Wolfe, while Prosecutor J. C. Hanley and his assistant, Attorney Robert Brookes, will represent the state.

Most of the first day probably will be occupied in the selection of a jury and the opening arguments of attorneys, taking of evidence starting Tuesday. Wolfe faces life imprisonment in the penitentiary if he is convicted.

Red Cross Drive Will Continue After Thanksgiving Day

The annual Red Cross roll call campaign will be continued after Thanksgiving Day, Mrs. Aubrey H. Dornan, roll call chairman announced today.

Due to the inability of the workers to interview a number of business men and manufacturers, who will be asked to make larger contributions, it will be impossible to complete the drive until Saturday.

Less than $1,400 has been raised thus far. The quota, is $2,500, necessary to maintain the home nursing section for the year.

Two-day Vacation For School Pupils Over Thanksgiving

The public and parochial schools closed this afternoon for the Thanksgiving vacation. Classes will be resumed Monday morning.

The public schools dismissed at 3 o'clock, an hour earlier than usual, in order to give out-of-town teachers an opportunity to leave on the 3:25 train.

Community Chest Filled.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 26—Raising $4,399,160, instead of $4,375,000 the amount sought, the Cleveland community chest was filled today for the sixth time. The plan was adopted during war time to take care of all public agencies and charities and has since been continued.

"William Tell" Stunt Fails; Shot Strikes Friend in Knee

FORT COLLINS, Colo., Nov. 26.—Charles Lancaster perfected his "William Tell" stunt to such an extent that he was able to shoot the knob off his hotel room door, so he decided to try it on a friend, one J. Murphy. Placing a bottle on top of Murphy's head, Lancaster stood off several paces and fired from a .38 automatic. His "William Tell" finesse deserted him, however, and the bullet struck Murphy in the knee. He will recover.

Lancaster was fined $50 in court today for disorderly conduct.

Woman is Burned To Death When Oil Stove Explodes

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26.—Mrs. Isabella Wentworth, 85, was burned to death here early today when an exploding oil stove in her room started a fire which endangered the lives of several other persons in the house. Mrs. Anna S. McArthur and Mrs. Mary Hoskins were burned slightly when they tried to extinguish the flames which enveloped the aged woman. Alarmed by the huge clouds of smoke, Mr. nad Mrs. Wm. Hevany, third floor roomers, slid down a water spout.

U. S. Conciliator Goes to Scranton To Mediate Strike

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26—Acting Secretary of Labor Robert C. White today ordered Thomas Davis, a commissioner of conciliation, to Scranton, Pa., with instructions to mediate the strike of 12,000 anthracite miners employed by the Pennsylvania Coal company at Oliphant, Underwood and in the Pittsburgh district.

The Department was advised the strike was called because of the alleged failure of the company to adjust certain grievances of the miners and was not authorized by the United Mine Workers.

Willite Company Lays Asphalt on McKinnon Avenue

The Ohio Willite Paving & Surfacing company yesterday started to lay asphalt on the Anderson boulevard and McKinnon avenue improvement projects.

The short stretch of the boulevard was completed Wednesday morning and the material is now being laid on McKinnon avenue. Unless bad weather interferes, the job will be completed by the end of this week.

WALK IN GOD'S WAY, IS PRAYER OF EVANGELIST

SPLENDID SERMON

Union Services in Tabernacle Thursday Morning.

By T. T. JONES.

With a plea that the Christian life to reach its full fruition should be begun in early life and permitted to glow in its development through the years of those possessing it, Dr. W. E. Biederwolf moved and impressed a good sized audience, despite the drop in temperature, at the Second and Washington streets' tabernacle on Tuesday night.

"God wants you when you are young," declared the evangelist, "because it is easier for you to come to him then and by doing so you will be so much richer when the end comes. You are saved by the faith you have and put in Jesus Christ but your reward will be measured by what you do for Him."

Dr. Biederwolf indicated the time all might reasonably expect for human service for the Nazarene, once accepted, and pointed out the lack of time for such activities when this was deferred to middle or old age.

Morning Tabernacle Service.

Announcement was made of the deferring until the afternoon of the annual football game of the East Liv-

Uncle Sam Signs Claims Pact With Austria and Hungary

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—The United States, Austria and Hungary today entered into a tripartite agreement providing for the establishment of a mixed commission to settle claims growing out of the world war.

War Truck and Bus Operators.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 26—Threatening prosecution of all violators of the law, the state untilities commission today announced that all of its inspectors have been informed that the Freeman-Collister act, requiring operators of trucks or bus lines to obtain certificates of public convenience and necessity from the commission, must be strictly enforced.

Health Seal Committee Seeks $2,200 In Three-Day Drive

More Than Half of $2,206.61 Collected Last Year Was Expended for Milk and Eggs for Tuberculosis Patients and Undernourished Children.

East Liverpool's quota in the 1924 Christmas health seal campaign has been placed at $2,200, an average of ten cents per capita, it was announced today on the eve of the opening of the annual drive which will be conducted on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, December 4, 5 and 6.

More than one-half of the $2,206.61 collected here last year through the sale of health seals, was expended for the purchase of milk and eggs for tuberculosis patients and undernourished children, according to the financial report of Mrs. Louis Steinfeld, chairman of the health committee of the City Federation of Women's Clubs in charge of the campaign.

In addition to providing milk and eggs for tuberculosis patients and children, the committee also assisted in the maintence of the nursing service here and promoted the health education of children.

Fund for Local Work.

The state and national health seal organization was given 20 per cent of the money, or $441.32, while the expense of the drive was $5, leaving a balance of $1,760.29 for the local work.

Milk and eggs purchased during the year cost $1,181.36, while $210 was spent in the nursing service. Clothing, blankets, transportation and health education cost $143.93, leaving a balance of $225 in the fund on Nov. 24.

Twenty tuberculosis sufferers were given financial aid.

Every effort is to be made by the committee in charge to complete this year's campaign within three days. Every man, woman and child will be asked to aid.

The committee will give prizes to high school students who submit the best essays on the subject, "How Can We Free East Liverpool from Tuberculosis?" The prizes will be $10 for the first place; $5 for the second and $3 for the third. All essays must be in the hands of the committee not later than Friday, Dec. 19.

SCORCHED, STAINED COAT HAS NO CONNECTION WITH FURNACE MYSTERY

Man Released From Workhouse Claims Wearing Apparel Held as Evidence in Death of Mrs. C. V. Sheatsley.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 26.—Proof that the scorched and stained coat turned over to police by a local dry cleaning establishment has no connection with the mystery surrounding the death of Mrs. C. V. Sheatsley, Bexley furnace victim, was forthcoming today.

The coat had been left with the cleaners by an unknown man who, some persons later thought, might have worn it while thrusting the body of the Bexley clergyman's wife into the basement furnace at the Sheatsley home Nov. 17.

Tom Jones, who has just completed a five-day sentence in the work house here for vagrancy, convinced County Prosecutor King and police officials that the coat belonged to him and that it has no connection with the Sheatsley mystery.

Stains Red Paint.

Jones explained that he had scorched the coat while cooking meals over camp fires. The stains, he said, were red paint. His inability to reclaim the coat at the cleaner's, Jones stated, was due to his incarceration. Searching for work, Jones said, he recently came here from St. Louis.

Announcement that no member of the Sheatsley family will be questioned here before Friday was made by Prosecutor King. He said none of the officials working on the case, and no person representing them, will meet Rev. Sheatsley or his family.

He does not propose that they shall be prevented from observing Thanksgiving day unmolested, King said.

"Fatty" Arbuckle's Wife Asks French Court for Divorce

PARIS, Nov. 26—Mrs. Arminta Durfee Arbuckle, whose determination to stand by Roscoe ("Fatty") Arbuckle, from whom she was separated when the comedian was being tried after the death of Virginia Rappe at a party in a San Francisco hotel, asked the Seine tribunal today to grant her a divorce, charging he deserted her. She said they had been married in 1909.

Everett Hall, Auto Accident Victim, Slightly Improved

There was slight improvement yesterday in the condition of Everett Hall, Canton newspaper worker and former residents of this city, who is in the Alliance hospital, suffering from a broken back, sustained Sunday morning when his automobile overturned on the Alliance-Minerva road, seven miles south of Alliance.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Hall and his brother, who have been at his bedside since Sunday, returned home last night. His wife, Mrs. Birtie I. Hill, of Morton street, who was also called to Alliance by the accident, returned Monday evening.

The accident occurred when the machine in which Hall and two other newspaper workers were riding, skidded on a dirt road and overturned. One of the other passengers suffered a broken leg while the third member of the party escaped unhurt.

Charles Chaplin And Bride Will Go to Hollywood

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 26—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chaplin, married yesterday at Empalme, Mexico, in the most unusual and simple ceremony fildom has ever known, will return at once to Hollywood, according to word received here today.

Plans for a honeymoon on a yacht off the West Coast of Mexico have been abandoned by the movie comedian and his 18-year-old bride, who was Miss Lita Grey.

On their return here, both Chaplin and his wife, who has been his leading woman since last spring, will go on location in Chaplin's new film, which is now nearing completion, it was said.

NO TRUCE SIGN IN INTER-CITY SPORTS WAR AS DOVE FLUTTERS

D. F. White Explains East Liverpool's Attitude.

OUTLOOK GLOOMY

Wellsville Board President Refuses to Comment.

Indications late today were that the prposal to name a six-man arbitration board to settle the controversy between the East Liverpool and Wellsville High schools, which culminated in the severance of athletic relations on the eve of the 1923 Thanksgiving football game, would not be accepted.

Couts is Silent.

There were no signs of negotiations looking toward a post-season football game, suggested for Saturday, Nov. 29, in lieu of the fact that both schools have booked Thanksgiving day battles, or the resumption of relations in basketball and other sports.

Efforts to reach Attorney J. H. Brookes, president of the East Liverpool board of education, were futile, as he was in conference with a client in his office.

C. C. Couts, president of the Wellsvills school board, refused to comment upon the situation.

Vice-President's Statement.

D. F. White, vice-president of the East Liverpool board, said:

"The East Liverpool board of education is in a receptive mood on any proposition looking toward peace between the two schools, but we feel that any proposition to this end must come from the Wellsville board of education.

"Wellsville cancelled the Thanksgiving game in East Liverpool a year ago and if they are anxious to re-establish athletic relations, they should say so.

"A non-partisan board, selected from the two cities could not settle this controversy as it should be settled, and our board would not agree to leave settlement to any such body unless they would be willing to consider differences which resulted in the break a year ago.

"Before athletic relations between the school can be resumed, the East Liverpool board must have certain guarantees from Wellsville."

The situation, as a whole, appears gloomy.

KIWANIS CLUB MEETS FRIDAY

Attorney C. C. Connell, Lisbon, Will be Speaker.

Attorney Charles C. Connell, a member of the Lisbon club, will be the speaker at the weekly meeting of the Kiwanis club which will be held in the Larkins Annex Friday instead of Thursday.

Attorney Connell will describe his recent trip to Coral island, in the South Seas and a visit to the Samoan group of islands of which Tahiti is the capital. These islands are depicted in Robert Louis Stevenson's novel, "Treasure Island," and other South Sea Island stories.

Dring the administration of President McKinley, Charles E. McCrum of East Liverpool was appointed U. S. consul to Tahiti. Later he was sent as U. S. representative to Congo Free State.

Gus Harris will furnish the attendance prize. The glad handers will be Irvin Fair, Fred George, John Golden and James Hanley.

"GIVE THANKS UNTO LORD"--SERMONETTE BY DR. FOWLER

[Editors Note—The following Thanksgiving Day sermonette was written especially for The Review-Tribune by Dr. Frank G. Fowler, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church.]

BY DR. FRANK G. FOWLER.

"We have many holidays that are rich in national religious sentiment, but none of them is richer or even as rich as Thanksgiving. It encompasses all the things for which other holidays stand. 'Give thanks unto the Lord!' was the psalmist's cry, and it is as modern as it was ancient.

"The day was inaugurated by the Pilgrim fathers. Before the bleak winter of 1620-21 had fled before the breath of spring, it had buried beneath its snows one half of the Pilgrims, who had landed on the New England shores a short time before.

"The summer following was not a productive one. When the leaves of autumn began to fall, the outlook for the winter was not auspicious. The settlers were compelled to live on half rations. But in the midst of such conditions they gathered in their little church house and held a Thanksgiving service. No wonder the Puritan spirit is stamped so indelibly on American life.

"Abraham Lincoln nationalized the day in 1863. The war clouds were hanging heavily over the country. Crepe was on nearly every door, for a father or son had gone to war never to return. Those were days that carved deep lines in the face of the Republic's president. When the hand of brother was against the hand of brother, the arbiter of our country's destiny called the people together in a day of Thanksgiving and made it a national holiday. So you see the day was inaugurated and nationalized in the midst of great stress.

"But of all the ideal days the world has ever seen our day exceeds them all. It is great to live in such days as these. We are living most as much in one day now as our fathers lived in a decade. Think of the mechanical inventions; the means of transportation and communication. The world has been shrunken into a common community.

"Think of the scientific discoveries made in the last decade. It

Every effort is to be made by the committee in charge to complete this year's campaign within three days. Every man, woman and child will be asked to aid.

The committee will give prizes to high school students who submit the best essays on the subject, "How Can We Free East Liverpool from Tuberculosis?" The prizes will be $10 for the first place; $5 for the second and $3 for the third. All essays must be in the hands of the committee not later than Friday, Dec. 19.

SCORCHED, STAINED COAT HAS NO CONNECTION WITH FURNACE MYSTERY

Man Released From Workhouse Claims Wearing Apparel Held as Evidence in Death of Mrs. C. V. Sheatsley.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 26.—Proof that the scorched and stained coat turned over to police by a local dry cleaning establishment has no connection with the mystery surrounding the death of Mrs. C. V. Sheatsley, Bexley furnace victim, was forthcoming today.

The coat had been left with the cleaners by an unknown man who, some persons later thought, might have worn it while thrusting the body of the Bexley clergyman's wife into the basement furnace at the Sheatsley home Nov. 17.

Tom Jones, who has just completed a five-day sentence in the work house here for vagrancy, convinced County Prosecutor King and police officials that the coat belonged to him and that it has no connection with the Sheatsley mystery.

Stains Red Paint.

Jones explained that he had scorched the coat while cooking meals over camp fires. The stains, he said, were red paint. His inability to reclaim the coat at the cleaner's, Jones stated, was due to his incarceration. Searching for work, Jones said, he recently came here from St. Louis.

Announcement that no member of the Sheatsley family will be questioned here before Friday was made by Prosecutor King. He said none of the officials working on the case, and no person representing them, will meet Rev. Sheatsley or his family.

He does not propose that they shall be prevented from observing Thanksgiving day unmolested, King said.

"Fatty" Arbuckle's Wife Asks French Court for Divorce

PARIS, Nov. 26—Mrs. Arminta Durfee Arbuckle, whose determination to stand by Roscoe ("Fatty") Arbuckle, from whom she was separated when the comedian was being tried after the death of Virginia Rappe at a party in a San Francisco hotel, asked the Seine tribunal today to grant her a divorce, charging he deserted her. She said they had been married in 1909.

Everett Hall, Auto Accident Victim, Slightly Improved

There was slight improvement yesterday in the condition of Everett Hall, Canton newspaper worker and former residents of this city, who is in the Alliance hospital, suffering from a broken back, sustained Sunday morning when his automobile overturned on the Alliance-Minerva road, seven miles south of Alliance.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Hall and his brother, who have been at his bedside since Sunday, returned home last night. His wife, Mrs. Birtie I. Hill, of Morton street, who was also called to Alliance by the accident, returned Monday evening.

The accident occurred when the machine in which Hall and two other newspaper workers were riding, skidded on a dirt road and overturned. One of the other passengers suffered a broken leg while the third member of the party escaped unhurt.

Charles Chaplin And Bride Will Go to Hollywood

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 26—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chaplin, married yesterday at Empalme, Mexico, in the most unusual and simple ceremony fildom has ever known, will return at once to Hollywood, according to word received here today.

Plans for a honeymoon on a yacht off the West Coast of Mexico have been abandoned by the movie comedian and his 18-year-old bride, who was Miss Lita Grey.

On their return here, both Chaplin and his wife, who has been his leading woman since last spring, will go on location in Chaplin's new film, which is now nearing completion, it was said.

D. F. White Explains East Liverpool's Attitude.

OUTLOOK GLOOMY

Wellsville Board President Refuses to Comment.

Indications late today were that the prposal to name a six-man arbitration board to settle the controversy between the East Liverpool and Wellsville High schools, which culminated in the severance of athletic relations on the eve of the 1923 Thanksgiving football game, would not be accepted.

Couts is Silent.

There were no signs of negotiations looking toward a post-season football game, suggested for Saturday, Nov. 29, in lieu of the fact that both schools have booked Thanksgiving day battles, or the resumption of relations in basketball and other sports.

Efforts to reach Attorney J. H. Brookes, president of the East Liverpool board of education, were futile, as he was in conference with a client in his office.

C. C. Couts, president of the Wellsvills school board, refused to comment upon the situation.

Vice-President's Statement.

D. F. White, vice-president of the East Liverpool board, said:

"The East Liverpool board of education is in a receptive mood on any proposition looking toward peace between the two schools, but we feel that any proposition to this end must come from the Wellsville board of education.

"Wellsville cancelled the Thanksgiving game in East Liverpool a year ago and if they are anxious to re-establish athletic relations, they should say so.

"A non-partisan board, selected from the two cities could not settle this controversy as it should be settled, and our board would not agree to leave settlement to any such body unless they would be willing to consider differences which resulted in the break a year ago.

"Before athletic relations between the school can be resumed, the East Liverpool board must have certain guarantees from Wellsville."

The situation, as a whole, appears gloomy.

KIWANIS CLUB MEETS FRIDAY

Attorney C. C. Connell, Lisbon, Will be Speaker.

Attorney Charles C. Connell, a member of the Lisbon club, will be the speaker at the weekly meeting of the Kiwanis club which will be held in the Larkins Annex Friday instead of Thursday.

Attorney Connell will describe his recent trip to Coral island, in the South Seas and a visit to the Samoan group of islands of which Tahiti is the capital. These islands are depicted in Robert Louis Stevenson's novel, "Treasure Island," and other South Sea Island stories.

Dring the administration of President McKinley, Charles E. McCrum of East Liverpool was appointed U. S. consul to Tahiti. Later he was sent as U. S. representative to Congo Free State.

Gus Harris will furnish the attendance prize. The glad handers will be Irvin Fair, Fred George, John Golden and James Hanley.

XENIA, Ohio, Nov. 26.—Charles Mackrodt, former lieutenant of police in the department of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, with headquarters here was shot three times and instantly killed by the man he blamed for his recent demotion, at Main and Detroit streets at 10 o'clock this morning.

The shooting was done by Charles Lattimer, another member of the railroad police department, who surrendered to Deputy Sheriff Baughn, who witnessed the affair from the sheriff's office window, and had already started for the scene.

WOLFE'S TRIAL OPENS MONDAY

Clay Miner Charged With Murder of Mrs. Dearth.

William Wolfe, East End clay miner, will go on trial before Judge Carl H. Smith, of Steubenville, in common pleas court, Lisbon, Monday morning on an indictment, charging him with second degree murder for the slaying of Mrs. Flora Dearth, Mulberry street restaurant owner, October 3.

The court has appointed Attorney Frank E. Grosshans of East Liverpool and Attorney Walter Beck of Lisbon, former prosecuting attorney, to defend Wolfe, while Prosecutor J. C. Hanley and his assistant, Attorney Robert Brookes, will represent the state.

Most of the first day probably will be occupied in the selection of a jury and the opening arguments of attorneys, taking of evidence starting Tuesday. Wolfe faces life imprisonment in the penitentiary if he is convicted.

Red Cross Drive Will Continue After Thanksgiving Day

The annual Red Cross roll call campaign will be continued after Thanksgiving Day, Mrs. Aubrey H. Dornan, roll call chairman announced today.

Due to the inability of the workers to interview a number of business men and manufacturers, who will be asked to make larger contributions, it will be impossible to complete the drive until Saturday.

Less than $1,400 has been raised thus far. The quota, is $2,500, necessary to maintain the home nursing section for the year.

Two-day Vacation For School Pupils Over Thanksgiving

"William Tell" Stunt Fails; Shot Strikes Friend in Knee

FORT COLLINS, Colo., Nov. 26.—Charles Lancaster perfected his "William Tell" stunt to such an extent that he was able to shoot the knob off his hotel room door, so he decided to try it on a friend, one J. Murphy. Placing a bottle on top of Murphy's head, Lancaster stood off several paces and fired from a .38 automatic. His "William Tell" finesse deserted him, however, and the bullet struck Murphy in the knee. He will recover.

Lancaster was fined $50 in court today for disorderly conduct.

WALK IN GOD'S WAY, IS PRAYER OF EVANGELIST

SPLENDID SERMON

Union Services in Tabernacle Thursday Morning.

By T. T. JONES.

With a plea that the Christian life to reach its full fruition should be begun in early life and permitted to glow in its development through the years of those possessing it, Dr. W. E. Biederwolf moved and impressed a good sized audience, despite the drop in temperature, at the Second and Washington streets' tabernacle on Tuesday night.

"God wants you when you are young," declared the evangelist, "because it is easier for you to come to him then and by doing so you will be so much richer when the end comes. You are saved by the faith you have and put in Jesus Christ but your reward will be measured by what you do for Him."

Dr. Biederwolf indicated the time all might reasonably expect for human service for the Nazarene, once accepted, and pointed out the lack of time for such activities when this was deferred to middle or old age.

Health Seal Committee Seeks $2,200 In Three-Day Drive

More Than Half of $2,206.61 Collected Last Year Was Expended for Milk and Eggs for Tuberculosis Patients and Undernourished Children.

East Liverpool's quota in the 1924 Christmas health seal campaign has been placed at $2,200, an average of ten cents per capita, it was announced today on the eve of the opening of the annual drive which will be conducted on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, December 4, 5 and 6.

More than one-half of the $2,206.61 collected here last year through the sale of health seals, was expended for the purchase of milk and eggs for tuberculosis patients and undernourished children, according to the financial report of Mrs. Louis Steinfeld, chairman of the health committee of the City Federation of Women's Clubs in charge of the campaign.

In addition to providing milk and eggs for tuberculosis patients and children, the committee also assisted in the maintence of the nursing service here and promoted the health education of children.

Fund for Local Work.

The state and national health seal organization was given 20 per cent of the money, or $441.32, while the expense of the drive was $5, leaving a balance of $1,760.29 for the local work.

Milk and eggs purchased during the year cost $1,181.36, while $210 was spent in the nursing service. Clothing, blankets, transportation and health education cost $143.93, leaving a balance of $225 in the fund on Nov. 24.

Twenty tuberculosis sufferers were given financial aid.

Eastern Ohio's Largest Tunnel Kiln Installed At Lisbon

What is said to be the largest tunnel kiln in this section of the country has just been installed in the Lisbon plant of the R. Thomas & Sons, electric porcelain manufacturers, main offices of which are located in East Liverpool.

Designed and manufactured by the Harrop Tunnel Kiln company of Columbus, it is 363 feet in length, or 38 feet longer than the bisque kiln now in use at the new No. 6 plant of the Homer Laughlin China company at Newell, which was made by the same firm. It is designed especially for electric porcelain work.

The kiln works continuously, cars being started through every 90 minutes, the firing process lasting 73 hours. The ware is heated to a temperature of 2,498 degrees Fahrenheit, in the center of the kiln, gradually cooling as it nears the end. Electric porcelain is fired but once, glaze being applied before the firing takes place.

Raze Upright Kilns.

While the kiln has a capacity of 14 upright kilns when cars are started thru every 60 minutes, it is now being worked only to the ten kiln capacity. It is fired with fuel oil, although it is so arranged that either coal or gas may be substituted, if necessary. This is said to be the only tunnel kiln in this section burning fuel oil. The new kiln has now been in operation for taree weeks and, according to officers of the company, has been found to be successful.

The Lisbon plant of the R. Thomas & Sons offers employment to about 360 workers, most of whom are skilled. Increased facilities have been made necessary by the installation of the new kiln, offering employment to additional workers. The company now employes about 12 percent of the entire population of the county seat town.

The plant was built in 1903 and for two years was engaged in the manufacture of table ware. Since 1905, however, the sole output has been electric porcelain.

The ten upright kilns, which have been in use at the plant are now being razed to afford more space in the kilnshed.

A. G. Mason, formerly of East Liverpool, is in charge of the Lisbon plant.

U. S. S. Washington Is Sunk by Texas Off Virginia Capes

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 26.—Her sinking by the Battleship Texas surrounded by as much secrecy as prevailed during the war time, the great hull of the unfinished super-dreadnaught Washington, lies under 50 fathoms of water off the Virginia Capes today, and marks the completion of America's full compliance with the arms agreement. Except that the giant craft, representing an expenditure of $35,000,000, had been sunk, nothing further could be learned in navy circles here.

The Battleship Texas steamed up to the Norfolk navy yard shortly before noon today.

It is believed that the Washington went down sooner than was expected by ordnance experts aboard the Texas. Photographic planes that were preparing to leave the naval air station to obtain pictures of the dreadnaught's had their orders countermanded on short notice.

Accidents Reduced.

BELLAIRE, O.—Police say the city's new traffic ordinance has reduced accidents 75 per cent. Officers cite the case of a garage man who had ordered an auto crane due to the many crashes on local streets. After the ordinance became effective he cancelled the order because of the noticeable decrease in repair work.

Towns Protest.

MIDDLEPORT, O.—The town of Langsville and Dyesville, along the K. & M. railroad, north of here, are protesting against the propsed removal of train service. Both claim they are not on hard surfaced roads and will be forced to travel through mud all winter.

This now leaves no excuse for dieting or violent exercise for the reduction of the overfat body to normal.

Kidney Sufferers

Physicians have long known a remarkably effective remedy for weak bladder and overworked kidneys—a wonderful oil imported from Holland which heals and tones up the irritated organs and banishes frequent calls, tired feeling, backaches, rheumatic pains, etc., often within 24 hours. This remarkable oil has at last been put up in easy-to-take, tasteless capsules, under the name of Red Mill Haarlem Oil. It costs only 50c, and relief is guaranteed or money back. C. N. Shuman, Republic, Ohio, says: "Before taking Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula) had to get up six or seven times each night Now I do not get up at all. You may use my name if it would benefit anyone with bladder trouble." Be careful not to take drugs that check the action of the bladder. You may have to continue its use. Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula) increases the action during the day. It cleanses the bladder as epsom salts do the bowels driving out foreign matter, neutralizing excess acids, thereby relieving the irritation which causes "Getting Up Nights." Labor Will Fight Any Attempts to Cut Workers' Wages

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 26—Plans for marshalling the forces of organized labor for a nation-wide fight against any attempts to slash wages of workers were formulated today by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor in session here.

Labor Chieftains expressed the belief that with all indications pointing to returning prosperity in the United States, wages should go upward, instead of downward.

Acting on reports that certain industries are contemplating cutting envelopes, Federation leaders, upon the advice of Samuel Gombers, veteran President, instructed all unions to resist these attempts with full force.

California Banker Was Murder Victim, Physicians Claim

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 26.—William Fee, banker, found dead in the mountain wilds near San Bernardo, was struck on the head by some blunt instrument and murdered, physicians examining the body of the slain financier, declared today. The blow fractured the skull and caused a blood clot on the brain.

With the case apparently established as murder, the authorities centered their investigation of the crime upon a torn love note written by Fee to Miss Mary F. Watkins, secertary of the San Gabriel Water company, the day before the banker mysteriously disappeared last Saturday. Fee's body was found 50 yards from a cabin owned by Miss Watkins.

"We were just friends—he was like a father to me," Miss Watkins said, admitting she had received Fee's note, which read:

"Dearest, I want you to have a dandy good time today and tomorrow but I want you to know that I want it that way ——"

The remainder of the note, voluntarily given investigators by Miss Watkins, was missing.

Dr. Biederwolf will speak following a special musical program by the choir.

Intimations from Treasurer R. R. Curtis following a partial report of the Monday night's collection and sums later contributed were to the effect that sufficient money to care for ten lepers for one year are already at hand. The unexpected contribution after the evangelist's lecture netted alone $357.07. This from private sources has and is being added to.

Announcement, too, was made of a choral practice on Thursday evening that of the songs of the late W. L. Thompson, so on the following night when they will be sung familiarity will be had with them.

"I hope you will remember the subject of Thursday evening's sermon, 'The Dance,'" asserted Dr. Biederwolf before his Tuesday night sermon. "It will not be a tirade against the departure that is so frequently heard from evangelists. I hope to present the matter in an entirely different manner and in such a way that no offense can be taken and with a slant that should give no light upon what has become an almost universal custom of pleasure in American society."

William McEwan Sings.

The invocation was made by Rev. B. R. Johnson, pastor of the First Church of Christ, and the consecration prayer at the close of the services when sixteen persons responded to the invitation by Rev. F. A. Dean, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church.

William McEwan, choral director, sang "Wonderful, Wonderful Jesus" preceding the evening sermon.

Emphasis was made on the continuance of personal work by church members during the present week in lieu of the holding of cottage prayer service at various homes throughout the city.

Because, as he asserted, the Christian life was the most manly and womanly kind, the happiest, the most influential and the safest life to live, Dr. Biederwolf commended to his hearers its early acceptance.

"The Christian is the happiest person in the world," affirmed the speaker. He does not wear the oft thought long face ascribed to preachers and deacons. On the contrary their innermost feelings are of the keenest joy and they are they who get the most out of existence. They have anything but a dull time. They don't have to put a quart of beer under belt, smoke a disease-breeding cigarette or carouse about on the Lord's day to have pleasure. Their's is the pure, clean and holy delight.

"And their influence tends to bring others to them and to Christ. Every one is either doing this or smoothing the way by his or her action for some one to go to hell. Always somebody, somewhere, some way or some how is watching you and following [illegible] in what you do. But the Christian's actions are ever of such a sort as will tend to bring those about him or her into the narrow way that leads to heaven finally and a life of worth here.

Conduct Affects Others

"It would not be so bad if you were going to perdition alone. But you can't go by yourself therefor, always, your influence will carry others, some of whom you may not know or see going with you. Nothing but the principles of Christ will keep you living the right life, that fraught with good to yourself and others.

"If you are not a Christian no matter what else you may be you are not much. Without Christ in your souls you are but the carricature of the young man or woman you ought to be.

"Dead fish go down, but it takes a live one to go up the stream. It is no credit to you to drift like a dead fish with the crowd given to wrong. Any fool can do that. But it takes a Christian—a live fish—to go up the channel and dodge the current of temptations by keeping clean, pure and holy. The latter is the kind the world commends.

"And safety lies only in the way of the Christian life. Always do those refusing Christ ultimately when too late find they have trodden the path that leads to physical and spiritual destruction. King David did that. He left his former close association with God and he prayed to come back from his sinful state. He said 'Restore to me.' Did he say melancholy or sadness? no, he said 'Restore to me the joy of thy salvation.' No one can be miserable because of religion, but because of the lack of it."

would most seem that the secrets of the Almighty were about to be grasped by the hand of man. But not yet, for man has not shown himself worthy. There is much yet beyond. But because we have been permitted to develop so much, we ought to be the most thankful people in all the world.

"We have had abundant harvests. There is no hounger throughout the land. All classes of people are living better today than ever before. Luxuries are in homes where they were never known to have been even in the recent past. The Great Leveler is at work in our land. Is not this much to be thankful for?

"Then the health of our people is not in danger. No great plague crosses our country. Sanitation has done noble Christian work. Hospitals and homes for the unfortunates drive away many cares. Our free school system gives education to any one who will take advantage of the opportunity afforded, so that illiteracy is becoming a thing of the past.

"Our country is at peace with all the world. No war clouds are on our horizon. We have designs on one's possessions or lands. We are a country with peaceful traditions. We would out-law war and make it a crime among nations, and exalt reason to the throne where Mars once sat undisturbed and unchallenged.

"In these wonderful days of progress and peace, let us give thanks to God, so that the evil days may not return."

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—New forward movements in United States Steel and independent steel stocks stimulated the whole market today and numerous industrial and railroad stocks pushed upward to higher price levels.

Low priced industrials like Universal Pipe, International Replogie Steel which have been attracting considerable attention since the first of the week, continued their spectacular courss trading in these stocks was quite heavy in the first hour. On the other hand heavy profit-taking and short selling of other industrials elsewhere in the list resulted in declines of ap oint or two from Tuesday's close. Speculative interest in the steel stocks had its foundation also in the optimistic statement of Judge Gary, head of the United States Steel Corporation who predicted increasing demand for steel and iron, and in the reports of the resumption of activity in many of the steel mills which have been temporarily idle. Replogle's advance to an ew high at 18, represented a gain of nearly four points for the week and Gulf States, Republic and Bethlehem Steel sold about a point higher.

Metal stocks in other sections of the speculative lists also responded to the improved outlook in the domestic and foreign markets. International Nickle sold up nearly two points to a new high at 24¼, and leading copper stocks like Anaconda, Kennecott, American Smelting and United States Smelting were active at fractionally higher prices.

Call money rates were posted at 2½ per cent and time money at 3 per cent for 60 days and 3¼ to 3½ per cent for four months. Outside markets were steady, though activity was somewhat contracted because of the proximity of the holiday.

Another wave of profit-taking swept over the market near the end of the first hour, an dprices were again directed downward, with the industrials in the lead. American Can lost 2½ points at 147½. Cast Iron Pipe 3 at 140¾, United States Steel, Baldwin and General Electric a point each, while many of the active rails lost fractionally. As in previous sessions, this selling was well absorbed, and the average of the decline was small. Buying orders were still in large volume, maintaining the market just below the previous closing level. Oil stocks were unsteady, with fractional loss in Cosden, Sinclair, Pure Oil, Marland and other active independents as well as the Standard Oil issues.

PITTSBURGH STORE FIXTURE CO.
11th St. and Penn Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa
Half Block From Union Station

Sharp upward movements in the steep stocks featured the market near the noon hour. Crucible Steel moved forward to 73 for a gain of eight points and declined to 71. Vanadium was up about two points to 29⅝ on unusually heavy buying; Gulf States gained two points at 80⅝, and Replogle made a new high for the year at 18.

Among the specialties Universal Pipe touched 30 before declining to 27¼. American Safety Razor made a new high at 39½; Pittsburgh and West Virginia led the rails with an advance of three points to a new high at 68½.

Eastern Ohio's Largest Tunnel Kiln Installed At Lisbon

What is said to be the largest tunnel kiln in this section of the country has just been installed in the Lisbon plant of the R. Thomas & Sons, electric porcelain manufacturers, main offices of which are located in East Liverpool.

Designed and manufactured by the Harrop Tunnel Kiln company of Columbus, it is 363 feet in length, or 38 feet longer than the bisque kiln now in use at the new No. 6 plant of the Homer Laughlin China company at Newell, which was made by the same firm. It is designed especially for electric porcelain work.

The kiln works continuously, cars being started through every 90 minutes, the firing process lasting 73 hours. The ware is heated to a temperature of 2,498 degrees Fahrenheit, in the center of the kiln, gradually cooling as it nears the end. Electric porcelain is fired but once, glaze being applied before the firing takes place.

Raze Upright Kilns.

While the kiln has a capacity of 14 upright kilns when cars are started thru every 60 minutes, it is now being worked only to the ten kiln capacity. It is fired with fuel oil, although it is so arranged that either coal or gas may be substituted, if necessary. This is said to be the only tunnel kiln in this section burning fuel oil. The new kiln has now been in operation for three weeks and, according to officers of the company, has been found to be successful.

The Lisbon plant of the R. Thomas & Sons offers employment to about 360 workers, most of whom are skilled. Increased facilities have been made necessary by the installation of the new kiln, offering employment to additional workers. The company now employes about 12 percent of the entire population of the county seat town.

The plant was built in 1903 and for two years was engaged in the manufacture of table ware. Since 1905, however, the sole output has been electric porcelain.

The ten upright kilns, which have been in use at the plant are now being razed to afford more space in the kilnshed.

A. G. Mason, formerly of East Liverpool, is in charge of the Lisbon plant.

"The Christian is the happiest person in the world," affirmed the speaker. He does not wear the oft thought long face ascribed to preachers and deacons. On the contrary their innermost feelings are of the keenest joy and they are they who get the most out of existence. They have anything but a dull time. They don't have to put a quart of beer under belt, smoke a disease-breeding cigarette or carouse about on the Lord's day to have pleasure. Their's is the pure, clean and holy delight.

"And their influence tends to bring others to them and to Christ. Every one is either doing this or smoothing the way by his or her action for some one to go to hell. Always somebody, somewhere, some way or some how is watching you and following you in what you do. But the Christian's actions are ever of such a sort as will tend to bring those about him or her into the narrow way that leads to heaven finally and a life of worth here.

Conduct Affects Others

"It would not be so bad if you were going to perdition alone. But you can't go by yourself therefor, always, your influence will carry others, some of whom you may not know or see going with you. Nothing but the principles of Christ will keep you living the right life, that fraught with good to yourself and others.

"If you are not a Christian no matter what else you may be you are not much. Without Christ in your souls you are but the carricature of the young man or woman you ought to be.

"Dead fish go down, but it takes a live one to go up the stream. It is no credit to you to drift like a dead fish with the crowd given to wrong. Any fool can do that. But it takes a Christian—a live fish—to go up the channel and dodge the current of temptations by keeping clean, pure and holy. The latter is the kind the world commends.

"And safety lies only in the way of the Christian life. Always do those refusing Christ ultimately when too late find they have trodden the path that leads to physical and spiritual destruction. King David did that. He left his former close association with God and he prayed to come back from his sinful state. He said 'Restore to me.' Did he say melancholy or sadness? no, he said 'Restore to me the joy of thy salvation.' No one can be miserable because of religion, but because of the lack of it."

Many remained for the brief after service when those, agreeing to a new life, came forward for the evangelists admonitions and the prayers of those already active in the Christian existence.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 26—New forward movements in United States Steel and independent steel stocks stimulated the whole market today and numerous industrial and railroad stocks pushed upward to higher price levels.

Low priced industrials like Universal Pipe, International Replogle Steel which have been attracting considerable attention since the first of the week, continued their spectacular courss trading in these stocks was quite heavy in the first hour. On the other hand heavy profit-taking and short selling of other industrials elsewhere in the list resulted in declines of ap oint or two from Tuesday's close. Speculative interest in the steel stocks had its foundation also in the optimistic statement of Judge Gary, head of the United States Steel Corporation who predicted increasing demand for steel and iron, and in the reports of the resumption of activity in many of the steel mills which have been temporarily idle. Replogle's advance to an ew high at 18, represented a gain of nearly four points for the week and Gulf States, Republic and Bethlehem Steel about a point higher.

Metal stocks in other sections of the speculative lists also responded to the improved outlook in the domestic and foreign markets. International Nickle sold up nearly two points to a new high at 24¼, and leading copper stocks like Anaconda, Kennecott, American Smelting and United States Smelting were active at fractionally higher prices.

Call money rates were posted at 2½ per cent and time money at 3 per cent for 60 days and 3¼ to 3½ per cent for four months. Outside markets were steady, though activity was somewhat contracted because of the proximity of the holiday.

Another wave of profit-taking swept over the market near the end of the first hour, an dprices were again directed downward, with the industrials in the lead. American Can lost 2½ points at 147½. Cast Iron Pipe 3 at 140¾, United States Steel, Baldwin and General Electric a point each, while many of the active rails lost fractionally. As in previous sessions, this selling was well absorbed, and the average of the decline was small. Buying orders were still in large volume, maintaining the market just below the previous closing level. Oil stocks were unsteady, with fractional loss in Cosden, Sinclair, Pure Oil, Marland and other active independents as well as the Standard Oil issues.

Eastern Ohio's Largest Tunnel Kiln Installed At Lisbon

What is said to be the largest tunnel kiln in this section of the country has just been installed in the Lisbon plant of the R. Thomas & Sons, electric porcelain manufacturers, main offices of which are located in East Liverpool.

Designed and manufactured by the Harrop Tunnel Kiln company of Columbus, it is 363 feet in length, or 38 feet longer than the bisque kiln now in use at the new No. 6 plant of the Homer Laughlin China company at Newell, which was made by the same firm. It is designed especially for electric porcelain work.

The kiln works continuously, cars being started through every 99 minutes, the firing process lasting 73 hours. The ware is heated to a temperature of 2,498 degrees Fahrenheit, in the center of the kiln, gradually cooling as it nears the end. Electric porcelain is fired but once, glaze being applied before the firing takes place.

Raze Upright Kilns.

While the kiln has a capacity of 14 upright kilns when cars are started thru every 60 minutes, it is now being worked only to the ten kiln capacity. It is fired with fuel oil, although it is so arranged that either coal or gas may be substituted, if necessary. This is said to be the only tunnel kiln in this section burning fuel oil. The new kiln has now been in operation for three weeks and, according to officers of the company, has been found to be successful.

The Lisbon plant of the R. Thomas & Sons offers employment to about 360 workers, most of whom are skilled. Increased facilities have been made necessary by the installation of the new kiln, offering employment to additional workers. The company now employes about 12 percent of the entire population of the county seat town.

The plant was built in 1903 and for two years was engaged in the manufacture of table ware. Since 1905, however, the sole output has been electric porcelain.

The ten upright kilns, which have been in use at the plant are now being razed to afford more space in the kilnshed.

A. G. Mason, formerly of East Liverpool, is in charge of the Lisbon plant.

U. S. S. Washington Is Sunk by Texas Off Virginia Capes

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 26.—Her sinking by the Battleship Texas surrounded by as much secrecy as prevailed during the war time, the great hull of the unfinished super-dreadnaught Washington, lies under 50 fathoms of water off the Virginia Capes today, and marks the completion of America's full compliance with the arms agreement. Except that the giant craft, representing an expenditure of $35,000,000, had been sunk, nothing further could be learned in navy circles here.

The Battleship Texas steamed up to the Norfolk navy yard shortly before noon today.

It is believed that the Washington went down sooner than was expected by ordnance experts aboard the Texas. Photographic planes that were preparing to leave the naval air station to obtain pictures of the dreadnaught's had their orders countermanded on short notice.

Accidents Reduced.

BELLAIRE, O.—Police say the city's new traffic ordinance has reduced accidents 75 per cent. Officers cite the case of a garage man who had ordered an auto crane due to the many crashes on local streets. After the ordinance became effective he cancelled the order because of the noticeable decrease in repair work.

Towns Protest.

MIDDLEPORT, O.—The town of Langsville and Dyesville, along the K. & M. railroad, north of here, are protesting against the propsed removal of train service. Both claim they are not on hard surfaced roads and will be forced to travel through mud all winter.

All Fat People Should Know This

Fat people owe a debt of gratitude to the discoverer of the now famous Marmola Prescription. And they ought to be still more grateful because effective obesity remedy is now prepared in tablet form. Marmola Prescription Tablets can be obtained at all drug stores the world over at the reasonable price of one dollar for a box. Or you can secure them direct by sending the price to the Marmola Co., General Motors Bldg., Detroit, Mich. This now leaves no excuse for dieting or violent exercise for the reduction of the overfat body to normal.

Kidney Sufferers

Physicians have long known a remarkably effective remedy for weak bladder and overworked kidneys—a wonderful oil imported from Holland which heals and tones up the irritated organs and banishes frequent calls, tired feeling, backaches, rheumatic pains, etc., often within 24 hours. This remarkable oil has at last been put up in easy-to-take, tasteless capsules, under the name of Red Mill Haarlem Oil. It costs only 50c, and relief is guaranteed or money back. Ask these druggists. C. G. Anderson, J. C. Carnahan, Gamble's Drug Store.

QUIT GETTING UP NIGHTS

A Healthy Bladder Acts During the Day

C. N. Shuman, Republic, Ohio, says: "Before taking Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula) had to get up six or seven times each night Now I do not get up at all. You may use my name if it would benefit anyone with bladder trouble." Be careful not to take drugs that check the action of the bladder. You may have to continue its use. Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula) increases the action during the day. It cleanses the bladder as epsom salts do the bowels driving out foreign matter, neutralizing excess acids, thereby relieving the irritation which causes "Getting Up Nights." These tablets costs 2c each at all drug stores or Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio, locally at J. D. Holloway's.

Labor Will Fight Any Attempts to Cut Workers' Wages

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 26—Plans for marshalling the forces of organized labor for a nation-wide fight against any attempts to slash wages of workers were formulated today by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor in session here.

Labor Chieftains expressed the belief that with all indications pointing to returning prosperity in the United States, wages should go upward, instead of downward.

Acting on reports that certain industries are contemplating cutting envelopes, Federation leaders, upon the advice of Samuel Gombers, veteran President, instructed all unions to resist these attempts with full force.

"If wages are cut, we won't work," said Matthew Woll, vice president of the Federation and a member of the Executive Council.

California Banker Was Murder Victim, Physicians Claim

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 26.—William Fee, banker, found dead in the mountain wilds near San Bernardo, was struck on the head by some blunt instrument and murdered, physicians examining the body of the slain financier, declared today. The blow fractured the skull and caused a blood clot on the brain.

With the case apparently established as murder, the authorities centered their investigation of the crime upon a torn love note written by Fee to Miss Mary F. Watkins, secertary of the San Gabriel Water company, the day before the banker mysteriously disappeared last Saturday. Fee's body was found 50 yards from a cabin owned by Miss Watkins.

"We were just friends—he was like a father to me," Miss Watkins said, admitting she had received Fee's note, which read:

"Dearest, I want you to have a dandy good time today and tomorrow but I want you to know that I want it that way ——"

The remainder of the note, voluntarily given investigators by Miss Watkins, was missing.

DEATH ROLL

Celia Miller.

Celia Mae, three months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Miller, died this morning at the family home, 1063 Elmtree street.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, Rev. Williams, officiating.

Burial will be made in Spring Grove cemetery.

Gas Wells Drilled.

POMEROY, O.—Two more big gas wells have just been drilled in the Bowman Run field. Both of them are making about five million cubic feet daily. One of them is on the old Lucius Cross farm where they already have brought in two large gassers.

Decision Stands.

LOGAN, O.—The court of appeals of this district after a session here refused to reverse the finding of the lower courts against Harry K. Starr, local man, convicted in a liquor case. Starr was fined $1,000 and his car confiscated.

Protest Assessments.

POMEROY—Several scores of Meigs county farmers who own land along the newly opened Athens-Pomery state highway have filed protests against assessments made against them to pay for 10 per cent of the cost of the work. They claim that the charges are unfair.

erpool High School team on Patterson field so that students with their parents could be present at the tabernacle where, as when Billy Sunday was here, the Union Service of the City's Churches, which usually are held in one of them, will be carried out in the big auditorium. Dr. Biederwolf will speak following a special musical program by the choir.

Intimations from Treasurer R. R. Curtis following a partial report of the Monday night's collection and sums later contributed were to the effect that sufficient money to care for ten lepers for one year are already at hand. The unexpected contribution after the evangelist's lecture netted alone $357.07. This from private sources has and is being added to.

Announcement, too, was made of a choral practice on Thursday evening that of the songs of the late W. L. Thompson, so on the following night when they will be sung familiarity will be had with them.

"I hope you will remember the subject of Thursday evening's sermon, 'The Dance,'" asserted Dr. Biederwolf before his Tuesday night sermon. "It will not be a tirade against the departure that is so frequently heard from evangelists. I hope to present the matter in an entirely different manner and in such a way that no offense can be taken and with a slant that should give no light upon what has become an almost universal custom of pleasure in American society."

William McEwan Sings.

The invocation was made by Rev. B. R. Johnson, pastor of the First Church of Christ, and the consecration prayer at the close of the services when sixteen persons responded to the invitation by Rev. F. A. Dean, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church.

William McEwan, choral director, sang "Wonderful, Wonderful Jesus" preceding the evening sermon.

Emphasis was made on the continuance of personal work by church members during the present week in lieu of the holding of cottage prayer service at various homes throughout the city.

Because, as he asserted, the Christian life was the most manly and womanly kind, the happiest, the most influential and the safest life to live, Dr. Biederwolf commended to his hearers its early acceptance.

"The Christian is the happiest person in the world," affirmed the speaker. He does not wear the oft thought long face ascribed to preachers and deacons. On the contrary their innermost feelings are of the keenest joy and they are they who get the most out of existence. They have anything but a dull time. They don't have to put a quart of beer under belt, smoke a disease-breeding cigarette or carouse about on the Lord's day to have pleasure. Their's is the pure, clean and holy delight.

Peking Diplomats Extend Recognition To Chinese Regime

PEKING, Nov. 26.—It was decided to extend de facto recognition to the Tuan Chi Jui provisional government of China at a meeting of the diplomatic corps this afternoon.

The de facto recognition will continue pending the working out of a permanent government, it was said.

It is easy to hold an investigation until the investigation has got past the place where anyone can hold it—New Rochelle, N. Y., Standard Star.

Don't wait for time to heal that itching rash

NEGLECT of even the slightest skin rash, roughness, chafing or soreness may have serious consequences. Painful, disfiguring complaints like eczema, ringworm, etc., all start in a small way.

The safest plan is to keep a jar of Resinol Ointment ready to use at the first sign of skin trouble. It promptly stops itching and reduces inflammation and burning. The tiny pores readily receive this soothing ointment, and its healing influence is carried far below the surface of the skin.

Resinol Soap is a favorite with thousands who like its generous lather, so refreshing and cleansing. At all druggists.

AUTO STRIKES FUNERAL CAR

D. Lacye, Driver, Held for Hearing Before Mayor Barnes.

Occupants of a touring car operated by Murray McDevitt, members of the funeral procession which followed the body of the late Mrs. LeRoy McDevitt, buried yesterday afternoon to Spring Hill cemetery, miraculously escaped serious injuries when their automobile was struck by another machine at the intersection of Tenth and Center streets.

D. Lacye, said to have been the driver of the car which collided with McDevitt's, was arrested last evening by Patrolman Newton, and posted bond of $25 for his appearance on Friday evening before Mayor James S. Barnes. He is charged with reckless driving.

The funeral procession, it is reported, was enroute in Tenth street to Spring Hill cemetery when the accident occurred. The machine driven by Lacye, reached the street intersection as McDevitt's car passed Center street and the former, it is reported, was unable to stop. Both machines were damaged by the crash.

SPECIAL MUSIC FOR UNION MEET

Arrangements have been completed for the union Thanksgiving services which will be held Thursday morning at 10 o'clock in the Second Presbyterian church, Eighteenth street, Rev. Thomas Berger, pastor, announced today.

The services will be of one hour's duration. Ministers of the city will take part in the program. Special musical numbers have been arranged, including vocal selections by Mrs. Harold Gould Moore.

A special offering for local charity will be taken.

HIGH GRIDDERS FACE BIG GAME

Wellsville high gridders tomorrow afternoon will face Steubenville high school's eleven in the Orange and Black team's biggest battle of the year. The contest will take place on Northend field, Steubenville, and on scheduled to start at 2:30 o'clock.

The Thanksgiving day game will be the final tilt on the Wellsville card for the 1924 campaign which has given the local squad four victories and as many defeats.

On the face of their excellent record for the season, the Jefferson county gridders stand out distinctly as pre-game favorites, but this has been a season of more than the usual number of upsets, and it is possible that the Wellsville lads will have more of a chance than their supporters anticipate.

Tomorrow's game is the first of a series of two Thanksgiving engagements between the two schools, the 1925 game being scheduled for Central park, Wellsville.

CLASS WILL GIVE COMEDY "BIMBO"

Members of the cast of "Bimbo," comedy production which will be presented Friday and Saturday evenings of this week in the high school auditorium, under auspices of the Loyal Helpers' class of the First Christian church have been rehearsing for several days and are rapidly reaching the stage where enthusiasm is being injected into lines and action, to an extent that heralds one of the most interesting home talent shows ever presented here.

"Bimbo" is a breezy comedy wherein an American motion picture man lands on an island by that name and is taken for the new governor who is to be sent from the United States. He encounters there two former sweethearts besides having an island princess "fall for him." A young American railroad engineer is also on the island and to aid in rushing through his contract, is stirring the natives to a revolution so that he may receive a bonus for early completion of the road and marry his fiancee, who also is on the island with her aunt.

An Englishman, General Cadenza, and others complete the cast. Of course, everything ends happily, but it requires two acts to bring about this culmination, and these given opportunity for a great deal of good comedy and excellent music that is new and catchy.

Wife Asks Divorce.

John Donahue, of Wellsville, who is named in a petition for divorce filed by his wife Sadie Donahue, has been granted leave to file an answer and cross petition. Mrs. Donahue in her petition asked for a divorce and also restoration to her maiden name. She is represented by Lones, Hill and Davidson of East Liverpool while Attorney W. A. O'Grady of Wellsville is counsel for Donahue.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 36, 1924.

Christmas Health Seal Campaign

East Liverpool will launch its annual campaign against tuberculosis next week, when the health department of the City Federation of Women's Clubs will begin the sale of the penny health seals, funds from which are expended largely in protecting children from the dread disease by education, sanatorium treatment and fresh air camps.

As in past years, when the city surpassed its quotas in the nation-wide movement against the white plague, the campaign will be directed by Mrs. Louis Steinfeld, a member of the executive committee of the Ohio association.

Appeals will be made to civic organizations, fraternal societies, manufacturers, merchants and professional men as well as industrial workers to use the penny stickers at Christmas time to help tuberculosis children. The major portion of the proceeds will be devoted to needs here, the remainder going to the state and national organization to aid in carrying the lesson of good health into the homes of the country.

Einar Holboell, a postal clerk in a small town in Denmark, noting the countless stamps passing through his hands during the holiday season, conceived the idea of the health seal as an opportunity to help humanity. This benevolent Nordic is a Santa Claus in reality, for he has brought to the world the greatest of all gifts—health.

The idea, which has been adopted by the National Tuberculosis Association and the Ohio Public Health Association, and, in turn, taken up by auxiliaries in East Liverpool and other cities, was brought to the United States by Miss Emily P. Bissell, Wilmington, Delaware, through the influence of an article by Jacob Riis in an American magazine in 1907.

In the first campaign, 300,000 seals were sold, providing $1,000 to pay on the site of the first sanatorium in Delaware, (called Hope Farm.) Last year more than 400,000,000 seals were sold in this country, of which Ohio purchased 22,000,000 and East Liverpool more than 20,000.

Buy the familiar double-barred cross seal and use it on your Christmas mail, thus aiding in the fight to save thousands of lives.

Give Thanks

Now turn off the radio for a minute and gather around the piano. Here it is! All ready—

"We plow the fields and scatter
The good seed on the land;
But it is fed and watered
By God's almighty hand.
He sends the snow in winter,
The warmth to swell the grain,
The breezes and the sunshine
And soft refreshing rain."

Everybody join in the chorus—

"All good gifts around us
Then thank the Lord, O thank the Lord,
For all His love."

Amen to that! The old harvest song of Arthur Cottman is everlastingly appropriate at this time of year, and especially so right now. For America, already prosperous above the rest of humanity even in what she calls a business slump, is recovering from that slump and, by all visible evidences, entering upon a period of new progress and well-being. And this present up-rush of activity and optimism, be it observed, has come from the wide-flung American farmland, where the Creator has tended and watered the seed just as the good song says.

Give thanks for comfort, for profitable labor, for assurance of continued safety and welfare. That alone will help to spiritualize and redeem mere material prosperity. But it is no time to confine thought and gratitude to material things. In the eternal scale of values, they count for little. It is a time to take stock of national ideals, to cherish such as are unsullied, and to realize more clearly that all material progress should be but the symbol and means of spiritual progress.

TODAY

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

THE LADY AND THE STAR

On the front page, two sets of headlines face you, and help you to judge yourself.

One headline deals with La Paris. They want their skin tanned. Rouge and lipstick are out of fashion. But we live in a hurry. Sunshine is uncertain, real tanning takes too long.

So the ladies bathe twice a day in strong tea, and soon they are tanned thoroughly, all over. The tea tan, caused perhaps by tanning in the tea, is more uniform than sun tan. And it gives the "barbarous color" that the ladies desired.

10,000 BILLION YEARS

The other news comes from Prof Russell, head of the astronomy department of Princeton university.

He tells you that a star, one of the tiny light specks in the Milky Way, or great Vega, the blue star above our heads, or our own sun, has a life covering more than ten thousand billion years.

Not ten thousand million years, mind you, but ten thousand billions.

Let that appalling figure sink into your mind. It is utterly useless to try, by any method, to make a finite human mind understand such figures. You write down one, add 13 zero's and that stands for ten thousand billions.

But that means nothing to us, except a certain sound of words.

Yet, the giant suns do roll on through ten thousand billions of years. And then they go back by cataclysmic collision or otherwise to disorganized matter, and begin all over again, just as we do.

That's the one grain of comfort. The life we know is three score and ten, or a little longer, if we escape the germs. We appear and disappear, like gnats in the sunshine, but we are at least part of a scheme in which some things do last ten thousand billion years. And, for all we know, we may have a total existence as long as time itself. And, so may the gnat, for that matter.

If the French lady in her bath interests you more than the star that lives one hundred thousand, thousand, thousand, thousand years, you are one kind of a human being If the age of the stars interest you more than the color of the day's cuticle, you're another sort of human.

King Lear, in his sorrow, called upon the stars to pity him because they were old like him. He'd have been surprised to know the real difference in their ages.

BUT THIS IS BRITAIN

The Egyptians have learned that shooting British officials is expensive pastime. They had the fun of shooting and killing General Sir Lee Stack. Now they will pay for their sport!

Great Britain sends this ultimatum: "Pay two and a half million dollars for killing Stack, and get out of the Sudan, which is valuable, and belongs to us, anyhow, and apologize." The "if not" is backed up by warships, soldiers and especially by flying machines ready to drop unpleasant explosive substances.

Egypt will pay. The worst of it is that the $2,500,000 will be paid by taxes on the miserably poor Egyptian workers. Those that did the killing will not pay.

France formally approves Britain's demands. "We league of nations' folks must stick together." Who knows when France may have an ultimatum for some little country?

You may say that Britain's ultimatum to Egypt recalls Austria's ultimatum to Servia, when the Austrian prince was murdered—the ultimatum that started the great war and cost twenty million lives.

Quite true, but that was Austria and this is Great Britain. There is a difference, and if you do not see it, Great Britain does

The interesting this to us in America, wishing all Europeans well if they will leave us alone and stop borrowing our money, is the importance of the flying machine in modern ultimatum and such.

With little risk to British lives, and to few lives, at worst, Britain can subdue any small country. In the house of commons recently, some sentimentalist complained it was not fair for England to drop TNT from the sky on ignorant savages. It was explained by the British war department that flyers did the work more swiftly, surely and safely than it could be done in the old days, when such men as Chinese Gordon had to lead punitive expeditions and fight against the barbarians on even terms on the earth.

Fighting from the sky, as an eagle fights a rabbit, is safer for the precious white lives and it kills fewer barbarians. The psychological effect of flyers dropping bombs is very great and the savage gives up.

All of which is true, as regards the matter of fact.

What the angel Gabriel thinks of the human eagle and rabbit hunt will be known later.

During this stock boom, you may have noticed that the St. Paul stocks, common and preferred, have been bought, as many as 50,000 shares in a day. Wise brokers have said, "Somebody is going to break his neck."

The buying has absorbed all shares offered by the wise ones, and all the shares that for good reasons have been thrown on the market by the William Rockefeller estate and by J. Ogden Armour, the two biggest holders.

HENRY FORD'S IGNORANCE

Now, to explain things, is mentioned the magic name, "Henry Ford." Ford is building a gigantic electric power plant at Minneapolis He will sell power at a fair price, that being his strange habit. He seems, in his pitiful ignorance of American methods, not to know enough to rob the people, when they were clearly made to be robbed.

The St. Paul road plans to use Ford's cheap current and electrify its entire system, as it has already electrified its mileage over the Rocky mountains. That excellent work, by the way, was done by William Rockefeller and his son, Percy. They deserve credit for enterprise, even if it did practically "bust the road."

Railroad men should learn something from the effect produced by Ford's name, in connection with any property, especially railroad property. There is something in honesty and public spirit, combined with efficiency. The railroads should try that, after they have tried everything else.

If it were announced on sound authority that Ford intended to buy the St. Paul and run it the common stock would jump more than 80 points to par. The people believe i nFord and his ability.

But, little lambs, write this on your little cuffs: "Henry Ford is not going to buy St. Paul. And if you gamble in that or any other cat and dog stock you are apt to break your neck financially," just as the wise broker said

NEWSY GOSSIP OF BIG CITIES

By ALICE LANGELIER.

PARIS, Nov. 26.—Besides painting and sculpture every branch of art from music to the cinema and gastronomy is represented at the Salon d'Automne, which has just opened its door in Paris.

Moving pictures are actually on exhibition and delicious food prepared by French chefs can be eaten in the picturesque restaurant in the center of the salon. The muses are now beginning to take care of the practical needs of man. This is probably the outstanding feature of the art salon which draws great crowds every year. The painting contains few surprises, but everywhere in the collection of 4,000 odd canvasses there is evidence that art is a living thing, progressing with the events of everyday life.

Everywhere there is plenty of color. Even the nudes are aglow in the tints of brilliant sunsets. And there are a plenty of them—nudes, reading, nudes playing, nudes bathing and nudes having picnics under a shady tree. They are not often beautiful, but show a striving after weight and form, apparently neglecting all sentiment. The dressed models show bright greens and reds, pinks and purples. Beauty is absent in most cases, but in its place there is skill on the technical side.

America's contribution to the salon this year shows a distinct "return to nature." Most of the American exhibits are landscapes and outdoor subjects inspired by Nature herself. The studio seems to be far away. Thorndyke is showing several excellent landscapes, as well as Theodore Butler and Ethel Mars, who has a delightful "Cup of Tea" with two women in sharp profile against a lovely horizon.

The work of the late Mrs. Eleanore Norcross is represented by some interesting interiors, and Gale Turnbull, of New York city, has three excellent engravings and water colors, views of Italy and Brittany.

Not far away is Alfred Rigny's "Cccordeon Player" of fine quality. Mr. Rigny is also from New York. Other American exhibits include three small paintings by John Barber and "Le Modele," by James Herbert, a still-life by Arthur Franck, flower studies by Kiefferand Kniffin and engravings by Mrs. MacMillan and Mrs. Lazzell.

In the sculpture section Cecil Howard has a portrait of Mrs. Barnwell, George Biddle has some cocks in bronze, and there are busts by Mrs. Charlotte Leby.

French artists are undoubtedly the most prominent in the 1924 salon, both in quality and quantity. "Maternite" and portraits of children by Pierre Gerber and "Plaisirs Champetres" by Jules Flandrin are particularly noteworthy.

Van Dongen, the famous Dutch artist, has captured the most important space on the wall for his portraits of exceedingly tall people of the ultra-fast type. The Russians have contributed their usual futuristic studies and the Japanese some delightful drawings.

Religious art occupies a very large section and grouped above it are bookbindings and batiks, pictures embroidered upon canvas after the manner of the old samples, and a series of posters by the well-known Cheret, advertisements of Paris pleasures from 1890 to 1814. They form a most interesting artistic and historical document.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—All Broadway is trailing to the Neighborhood playhouse in Grand street on the East Side to see the foibles and fads of the Great White Way satirized in "The Grand Street Follies." It is all good, keen stuff.

In the midst of this teeming Ghetto and surrounded by about $100 worth of scenery, a group of hitherto obscure players are displaying more of the penetratingly humorous faculty than their brothers and sisters uptown.

They are making hilarious travesty of such institutions as the Super-Drama League, the self-conscious serious thinkers of the Algonquin, the tone poem, ticket speculators, the Teapot Dome scandal, Barrymore's "Hamlet," the South Sea Island craze and Mother Janis and Elsie.

The skits were fashioned, of course, for the sophisticates. And yet the strange thing is that the natives of the East Side enjoy them fully as much. Each night finds its sprinkling of stage celebrities of the Rialto.

It is a colorful audience. Old women and beared Yiddish patriarchs who do not remove their hats. Young men in exaggerated styles of the day who still speak in broken English. Full bosomed, red checked young girls who chew gum. Men about town. Leading ladies and movie dazzlers.

A four-piece orchestra renders the music. Between acts the refreshments consist of charlotte russe and vari-colored lollipops. The highest priced seat is $150, and to their credit no tickets are placed in the hands of speculators.

If there is anything mode comic than an imitation Fanny Brice playing Ophelia and an imitation Gallagher and Shean as Grave Diggers I do not care to see it. After all, every man reaches the age when he doesn't care to fall out of chairs in fits of laughter.

Grand street is more than mere cross town thoroughfare bearing that name. It is to the East Side just what the name implies—"a grand street." There is a flair to shops and stores, over each of which are tenement apartments. Sunday is the big day of the week. Wigged orthodox women sit in doorways as an anachronistic note in the life that swirls about them—girls with their beaux, father with perambulators, street bands and hurdy gurdies, Kosher shop orchestras, racing, noisy children and splashes of old world costuming. The children are trained to take care of themselves from the time they graduate from crawling.

About the Neighborhood playhouse are a hundred street gamins who open doors of taxicabs bearing uptown visitors. They seek a grauity and a half hour's watching did not gain them as much as a penny, which amount is their supremest desire. It take insulting myrmidons in gold braid to make New Yorkers tip.

And the Neighborhood playhouse, by the way, is not an alley theater. It is well built and figures largely in the life of many stars. Among others whom the four winds have wafted to its stage are Yvette Guilbert, Ellen Terry, Emanuel Reicher, Ruth Draper, Rabindranath Tagore, Jacob Ben-Ami, Ian Maclaren, Michio Itow, Nyota Inyoka, Edith Wynne Matthison and Percy Grainger.

WHO'S WHO

THEODORE DOUGLAS ROBINSON.

The last official request made of President Coolidge by the late Senator Henry Cabot Lodge was recognized recently by the president when he appointed another scion of the Roosevelt family—Senator Theodore Douglas Robinson, of New York—assistant secretary of the navy, where he follows his cousin, Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., who resigned recently to become a candidate for governor of New York.

In addition to father and son, another Roosevelt, Franklin D. Roosevelt, a Democrat, was assistant secretary of the navy. That was in the Wilson administration.

Senator Lodge made his request by letter from his sick bed in Nahant, a few days after Colonel Roosevelt had resigned, to follow, as he hoped, the political path of his father, who had gone from assistant secretary of the navy to governor of New York after the Spanish war.

Robinson is the son of Douglas Robinson and Mrs. Corinne Roosevelt Robinson, a sister of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, the elder. He was born in New York city April 28, 1883, was graduated from Harvard in 1904, and for many years lived at Mohawk, Herkimer county.

He was a member of the New York assembly in 1912 and 1913 and a member of the state senate from 1916 to 1924. He was chairman of the New York state Progressive committee from 1912 to 1914.

Now it begins to look as if everybody loves railroads. Among other reasons, because they don't run anybody down right in the middle of the street.

Haskin Letter

IMPROVED BUSINESS CONDITIONS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—More real economic progress was made by the United States during the fiscal year ending June 30 last than in any similar period since the pre-war era, according to Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover's review of business conditions, issued preliminary to the publication of his annual report.

Farmers, manufacturers the railroads, bankers and labor have all shared in this prosperity which was on the whole sounder, if less spectacular, in individual lines, that the prosperity incident to the war. The balance of trade in our favor—the excess of exports over imports—was larger in absolute amount than in any year prior to the war, and the ratification of the Dawes plan, which is expected to bring about European stabilization, will result in a further revival in world trade in which the United States is certain to share.

The high spots of the year, as summarized by Secretary Hoover, were, first, the advance in agricultural prices, which had hitherto lagged behind industry since the slump of 1920; second, the beginnings of sound policies in German reparations leading to a hopeful measure of economic recovery in Europe; and, third, the complete recovery of our own industry and commerce, aside from agriculture, great stability of prices, high production, full employment, expanding foreign trade and prosperity throughout the business world. There were some moderate decreases in activity in some lines during the latter part of the fiscal year, but since its close there has been general recovery in those lines.

"The outstanding event of the year was the improvement in agricultural prices," says Mr. Hoover. "Unlike manufacturing and mineral industries, a change in the volume of agricultural production often does not reflect a parallel change in the well being of the producers. Farm products in general have little elasticity of demand in the home market and the farmer cannot adapt his output of crops from year to year are usually due much more to weather conditions than to the will of the farmer. Therefore farm prosperity cannot be judged upon the criterion of production alone but requires consideration of prices as well."

AN IMPORTANT CORNER TURNED

The price index shows recoveries, from the low point since the beginning of 1921, for wheat, of 57 points; cotton, 99; corn, 111, and hogs, 37. "Many adjustments are needed yet," says the secretary, "but agriculture has turned an important corner and this change marks a vital step in the whole after-war economic readjustment."

For the first time since long before the war this year railway facilities were completely equal to the demand of the country. There were no car shortages of any consequene and there was a speeding up in the delivery of all goods.

"This complete reconstruction, expansion and growing efficiency in transportation facilities marks a fine accomplishment on the part of our railway management," says Mr. Hoover. "Its economic effect is most far-reaching. Every car shortage is a strangulation in the movement of commodities which reduces price levels to the producer and increases them to the consumer. It disarranges the synchronizing of our industrial fabric and widens the margin all along the line between producer and consumer. There is still requirement for extension of terminals and readjustment of rates. There are large consolidations needed for the ultimate best service and sound finance.

The general level of business activity is found by Secretary Hoover to have been decidedly higher than even in the very prosperous year of 1919. The index of manufacturing production dropped slightly, being 115 in 1924 as compared with 116 in 1923. Mineral production rose from 118 in 1923 to 121 in 1924; forest production from 111 to 117; railroad freight, ton-miles, from 109 to 110; electric power production from 136 to 148, and building contracts let from 107 to 109. Notwithstanding far lower prices than in 1919 the value of sales of retail stores was greater in 1924 than in that year

FIGURES FOR FOREIGN TRADE

The figures of foreign trade quoted by Mr. Hoover indicate that during the year exports increased 9 per cent in value as mompared with the preceding year, while imports decreased 6 per cent. The net result of these changes in opposite directions was an increase in the excess of exports over imports from $176,000,000 in 1922-23 to $757,000,000 in 1923-24. While in absolute amount this is a larger export balance than in any year prior to the war, the percentage by which exports exceeded imports is somewhat smaller than in most pre-war years.

"The outstanding feature of our foreign trade in commodities," says Mr. Hoover, "is its strong, real growth since 1913. Our total imports and exports in that year amounted to $4,279,000,000 against $7,865,000,000 in 1923-24. If we correct this difference by the depreciated buying power of the dollar the increase is 18.2 per cent. This compares with decreases of 12 per cent for the United Kingdom, 14 per cent for France, and 51.4 per cent for Germany.

"The gain in our total trade over the fiscal year 1913 is largely accounted for by the marked increases in our trade with Asia, Oceania and South America. The value of the trade with Asia increased 244 per cent, and that with Oceania and South America 192 and 95 per cent, respectively."

Although the actual value of trade with Europe is shown to be greater than prior to the war is less than the increase in prices and the actual quantity of goods is smaller. This decline in the relative importance of Europe as a factor in our trade as other areas gain is explained as in part a continuation of a gradual shift in this direction that was evident before the war and in part the result of the war's serious impairment of European commercial strength

Secretary Hoover says that the unique situation of our foreign trade is to a considerable extend due to the support given by congress and the administration to the activities of the department of commerce. The reorganization of this service for practical promotion purposes is well indicated by the increase in the number of applications by business houses and farm co-operatives for assistance by the department.

In 1921 such inquiries or applications averaged less than 700 daily, while they now exceed 7,500 daily and are heavily overtaxing the facilities of the organization.

The tangible value of this service cannot be measured with exactness. However, an inquiry to export houses requesting estimates of their foreign transactions in which they were materially assisted by the partment, either in sales promotion or in the prevention of losses, brought responses indicating a total exceeding half a billion dollars.

Christmas Health Seal Campaign

East Liverpool will launch its annual campaign against tuberculosis next week, when the health department of the City Federation of Women's Clubs will begin the sale of the penny health seals, funds from which are expended largely in protecting children from the dread disease by education, sanatorium treatment and fresh air camps.

As in past years, when the city surpassed its quotas in the nation-wide movement against the white plague, the campaign will be directed by Mrs. Louis Steinfeld, a member of the executive committee of the Ohio association.

Appeals will be made to civic organizations, fraternal societies, manufacturers, merchants and professional men as well as industrial workers to use the penny stickers at Christmas time to help tuberculosis children. The major portion of the proceeds will be devoted to needs here, the remainder going to the state and national organization to aid in carrying the lesson of good health into the homes of the country.

Einar Holboell, a postal clerk in a small town in Denmark, noting the countless stamps passing through his hands during the holiday season, conceived the idea of the health seal as an opportunity to help humanity. This benevolent Nordic is a Santa Claus in reality, for he has brought to the world the greatest of all gifts—health.

The idea, which has been adopted by the National Tuberculosis Association and the Ohio Public Health Association, and, in turn, taken up by auxiliaries in East Liverpool and other cities, was brought to the United States by Miss Emily P. Bissell, Wilmington, Delaware, through the influence of an article by Jacob Riis in an American magazine in 1907.

In the first campaign, 300,000 seals were sold, providing $1,000 to pay on the site of the first sanatorium in Delaware, (called Hope Farm.) Last year more than 400,000,000 seals were sold in this country, of which Ohio purchased 22,000,000 and East Liverpool more than 20,000.

Buy the familiar double-barred cross seal and use it on your Christmas mail, thus aiding in the fight to save thousands of lives.

Give Thanks

Now turn off the radio for a minute and gather around the piano. Here it is! All ready—

"We plow the fields and scatter
The good seed on the land;
But it is fed and watered
By God's almighty hand.
He sends the snow in winter,
The warmth to swell the grain,
The breezes and the sunshine
And soft refreshing rain."

Everybody join in the chorus—

Then thank the Lord, O thank the Lord,
For all His love."

Amen to that! The old harvest song of Arthur Cottman is everlastingly appropriate at this time of year, and especially so right now. For America, already prosperous above the rest of humanity even in what she calls a business slump, is recovering from that slump and, by all visible evidences, entering upon a period of new progress and well-being. And this present up-rush of activity and optimism, be it observed, has come from the wide-flung American farmland, where the Creator has tended and watered the seed just as the good song says.

Give thanks for comfort, for profitable labor, for assurance of continued safety and welfare. That alone will help to spiritualize and redeem mere material prosperity. But it is no time to confine thought and gratitude to material things. In the eternal scale of values, they count for little. It is a time to take stock of national ideals, to cherish such as are unsullied, and to realize more clearly that all material progress should be but the symbol and means of spiritual progress.

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

THE LADY AND THE STAR

On the front page, two sets of headlines face you, and help you to judge yourself.

One headline deals with La Paris. They want their skin tanned. Rouge and lipstick are out of fashion. But we live in a hurry. Sunshine is uncertain, real tanning takes too long.

So the ladies bathe twice a day in strong tea, and soon they are tanned thoroughly, all over. The tea tan, caused perhaps by tanning in the tea, is more uniform than sun tan. And it gives the "barbarous color" that the ladies desired.

10,000 BILLION YEARS

The other news comes from Prof Russell, head of the astronomy department of Princeton university.

He tells you that a star, one of the tiny light specks in the Milky Way, or great Vega, the blue star above our heads, or our own sun, has a life covering more than ten thousand billion years.

Not ten thousand million years, mind you, but ten thousand billions.

Let that appalling figure sink into your mind. It is utterly useless to try, by any method, to make a finite human mind understand such figures. You write down one, add 13 zero's and that stands for ten thousand billions.

But that means nothing to us, except a certain sound of words.

Yet, the giant suns do roll on through ten thousand billions of years. And then they go back by cataclysmic collision or otherwise to disorganized matter, and begin all over again, just as we do.

That's the one grain of comfort. The life we know is three score and ten, or a little longer, if we escape the germs. We appear and disappear, like gnats in the sunshine, but we are at least part of a scheme in which some things do last ten thousand billion years. And, for all we know, we may have a total existence as long as time itself. And, so may the gnat, for that matter.

If the French lady in her bath interests you more than the star that lives one hundred thousand, thousand, thousand, thousand years, you are one kind of a human being If the age of the stars interest you more than the color of the day's cuticle, you're another sort of human.

King Lear, in his sorrow, called upon the stars to pity him because they were old like him. He'd have been surprised to know the real difference in their ages.

BUT THIS IS BRITAIN

The Egyptians have learned that shooting British officials is expensive pastime. They had the fun of shooting and killing General Sir Lee Stack. Now they will pay for their sport!

Great Britain sends this ultimatum: "Pay two and a half million dollars for killing Stack, and get out of the Sudan, which is valuable, and belongs to us, anyhow, and apologize." The "if not" is backed up by warships, soldiers and especially by flying machines ready to drop unpleasant explosive substances.

Egypt will pay. The worst of it is that the $2,500,000 will be paid by taxes on the miserably poor Egyptian workers. Those that did the killing will not pay.

France formally approves Britain's demands. "We league of nations' folks must stick together." Who knows when France may have an ultimatum for some little country?

You may say that Britain's ultimatum to Egypt recalls Austria's ultimatum to Servia, when the Austrian prince was murdered—the ultimatum that started the great war and cost twenty million lives.

Quite true, but that was Austria and this is Great Britain. There is a difference, and if you do not see it, Great Britain does

The interesting this to us in America, wishing all Europeans well if they will leave us alone and stop borrowing our money, is the importance of the flying machine in modern ultimatum and such.

With little risk to British lives, and to few lives, at worst, Britain can subdue any small country. In the house of commons recently, some sentimentalist complained it was not fair for England to drop TNT from the sky on ignorant savages. It was explained by the British war department that flyers did the work more swiftly, surely and safely than it could be done in the old days, when such men as Chinese Gordon had to lead punitive expeditions and fight against the barbarians on even terms on the earth.

Fighting from the sky, as an eagle fights a rabbit, is safer for the precious white lives and it kills fewer barbarians. The psychological effect of flyers dropping bombs is very great and the savage gives up.

All of which is true, as regards the matter of fact.

What the angel Gabriel thinks of the human eagle and rabbit hunt will be known later.

During this stock boom, you may have noticed that the St. Paul stocks, common and preferred, have been bought, as many as 50,000 shares in a day. Wise brokers have said, "Somebody is going to break his neck."

The buying has absorbed all shares offered by the wise ones, and all the shares that for good reasons have been thrown on the market by the William Rockefeller estate and by J. Ogden Armour, the two biggest holders.

HENRY FORD'S IGNORANCE

Now, to explain things, is mentioned the magic name, "Henry Ford." Ford is building a gigantic electric power plant at Minneapolis He will sell power at a fair price, that being his strange habit. He seems, in his pitiful ignorance of American methods, not to know enough to rob the people, when they were clearly made to be robbed.

The St. Paul road plans to use Ford's cheap current and electrify its entire system, as it has already electrified its mileage over the Rocky mountains. That excellent work, by the way, was done by William Rockefeller and his son, Percy. They deserve credit for enterprise, even if it did practically "bust the road."

Railroad men should learn something from the effect produced by Ford's name, in connection with any property, especially railroad property. There is something in honesty and public spirit, combined with efficiency. The railroads should try that, after they have tried everything else.

If it were announced on sound authority that Ford intended to buy the St. Paul and run it the common stock would jump more than 80 points to par. The people believe i nFord and his ability.

But, little lambs, write this on your little cuffs: "Henry Ford is not going to buy St. Paul. And if you gamble in that or any other cat and dog stock you are apt to break your neck financially," just as the wise broker said

By ALICE LANGELIER.

PARIS, Nov. 26.—Besides painting and sculpture every branch of art from music to the cinema and gastronomy is represented at the Salon d'Automne, which has just opened its door in Paris.

Moving pictures are actually on exhibition and delicious food prepared by French chefs can be eaten in the picturesque restaurant in the center of the salon. The muses are now beginning to take care of the practical needs of man. This is probably the outstanding feature of the art salon which draws great crowds every year. The painting contains few surprises, but everywhere in the collection of 4,000 odd canvasses there is evidence that art is a living thing, progressing with the events of everyday life.

Everywhere there is plenty of color. Even the nudes are aglow in the tints of brilliant sunsets. And there are a plenty of them—nudes, reading, nudes playing, nudes bathing and nudes having picnics under a shady tree. They are not often beautiful, but show a striving after weight and form, apparently neglecting all sentiment. The dressed models show bright greens and reds, pinks and purples. Beauty is absent in most cases, but in its place there is skill on the technical side.

America's contribution to the salon this year shows a distinct "return to nature." Most of the American exhibits are landscapes and outdoor subjects inspired by Nature herself. The studio seems to be far away. Thorndyke is showing several excellent landscapes, as well as Theodore Butler and Ethel Mars, who has a delightful "Cup of Tea" with two women in sharp profile against a lovely horizon.

The work of the late Mrs. Eleanore Norcross is represented by some interesting interiors, and Gale Turnbull, of New York city, has three excellent engravings and water colors, views of Italy and Brittany.

Not far away is Alfred Rigny's "Cccordeon Player" of fine quality. Mr. Rigny is also from New York. Other American exhibits include three small paintings by John Barber and "Le Modele," by James Herbert, a still-life by Arthur Franck, flower studies by Kiefferand Kniffin and engravings by Mrs. MacMillan and Mrs. Lazzell.

In the sculpture section Cecil Howard has a portrait of Mrs. Barnwell, George Biddle has some cocks in bronze, and there are busts by Mrs. Charlotte Leby.

French artists are undoubtedly the most prominent in the 1924 salon, both in quality and quantity. "Maternite" and portraits of children by Pierre Gerber and "Plaisirs Champtetres" by Jules Flandrin are particularly noteworthy.

Van Dongen, the famous Dutch artist, has captured the most important space on the wall for his portraits of exceedingly tall people of the ultra-fast type. The Russians have contributed their usual futuristic studies and the Japanese some delightful drawings.

Religious art occupies a very large section and grouped above it are bookbindings and batiks, pictures embroidered upon canvas after the manner of the old samples, and a series of posters by the well-known Cheret, advertisements of Paris pleasures from 1890 to 1814. They form a most interesting artistic and historical document.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—All Broadway is trailing to the Neighborhood playhouse in Grand street on the East Side to see the foibles and fads of the Great White Way satirized in "The Grand Street Follies." It is all good, keen stuff.

In the midst of this teeming Ghetto and surrounded by about $100 worth of scenery, a group of hitherto obscure players are displaying more of the penetratingly humorous faculty than their brothers and sisters uptown.

They are making hilarious travesty of such institutions as the Super-Drama League, the self-conscious serious thinkers of the Algonquin, the tone poem, ticket speculators, the Teapot Dome scandal, Barrymore's "Hamlet," the South Sea Island craze and Mother Janis and Elsie.

The skits were fashioned, of course, for the sophisticates. And yet the strange thing is that the natives of the East Side enjoy them fully as much. Each night finds its sprinkling of stage celebrities of the Rialto.

It is a colorful audience. Old women and bearded Yiddish patriarchs who do not remove their hats. Young men in exaggerated styles of the day who still speak in broken English. Full bosomed, red checked young girls who chew gum. Men about town. Leading ladies and movie dazzlers.

A four-piece orchestra renders the music. Between acts the refreshments consist of charlotte russe and vari-colored lollipops. The highest priced seat is $150. and to their credit no tickets are placed in the hands of speculators.

If there is anything mode comic than an imitation Fanny Brice playing Ophelia and an imitation Gallagher and Shean as Grave Diggers I do not care to see it. After all, every man reaches the age when he doesn't care to fall out of chairs in fits of laughter.

Grand street is more than mere cross town thoroughfare bearing that name. It is to the East Side just what the name implies—"a grand street." There is a flair to shops and stores, over each of which are tenement apartments. Sunday is the big day of the week. Wigged orthodox women sit in doorways as an anachronistic note in the life that swirls about them—girls with their beaux, father with perambulators, street bands and hurdy gurdies, Kosher shop orchestras, racing, noisy children and splashes of old world costuming. The children are trained to take care of themselves from the time they graduate from crawling.

About the Neighborhood playhouse are a hundred street gamins who open doors of taxicabs bearing uptown visitors. They seek a grauity and a half hour's watching did not gain them as much as a penny, which amount is their supremest desire. It take insulting myrmidons in gold braid to make New Yorkers tip.

And the Neighborhood playhouse, by the way, is not an alley theater. It is well built and figures largely in the life of many stars. Among others whom the four winds have wafted to its stage are Yvette Guilbert, Ellen Terry, Emanuel Reicher, Ruth Draper, Rabindranath Tagore, Jacob Ben-Ami, Ian Maclaren, Michio Itow, Nyota Inyoka, Edith Wynne Matthison and Percy Grainger.

WHO'S WHO

THEODORE DOUGLAS ROBINSON.

The last official request made of President Coolidge by the late Senator Henry Cabot Lodge was recognized recently by the president when he appointed another scion of the Roosevelt family—Senator Theodore Douglas Robinson, of New York—assistant secretary of the navy, where he follows his cousin, Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., who resigned recently to become a candidate for governor of New York.

In addition to father and son, another Roosevelt, Franklin D. Roosevelt, a Democrat, was assistant secretary of the navy. That was in the Wilson administration.

Senator Lodge made his request by letter from his sick bed in Nahant, a few days after Colonel Roosevelt had resigned, to follow, as he hoped, the political path of his father, who had gone from assistant secretary of the navy to governor of New York after the Spanish war.

Robinson is the son of Douglas Robinson and Mrs. Corinne Roosevelt Robinson, a sister of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, the elder. He was born in New York city April 28, 1883, was graduated from Harvard in 1904, and for many years lived at Mohawk, Herkimer county.

He was a member of the New York assembly in 1912 and 1913 and a member of the state senate from 1916 to 1924. He was chairman of the New York state Progressive committee from 1912 to 1914.

Now it begins to look as if everybody loves railroads. Among other reasons, because they don't run anybody down right in the middle of the street.

IMPROVED BUSINESS CONDITIONS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—More real economic progress was made by the United States during the fiscal year ending June 30 last than in any similar period since the pre-war era, according to Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover's review of business conditions, issued preliminary to the publication of his annual report.

Farmers, manufacturers the railroads, bankers and labor have all shared in this prosperity which was on the whole sounder, if less spectacular, in individual lines, that the prosperity incident to the war. The balance of trade in our favor—the excess of exports over imports—was larger in absolute amount than in any year prior to the war, and the ratification of the Dawes plan, which is expected to bring about European stabilization, will result in a further revival in world trade in which the United States is certain to share.

The high spots of the year, as summarized by Secretary Hoover, were, first, the advance in agricultural prices, which had hitherto lagged behind industry since the slump of 1920; second, the beginnings of sound policies in German reparations leading to a hopeful measure of economic recovery in Europe; and, third, the complete recovery of our own industry and commerce, aside from agriculture, great stability of prices, high production, full employment, expanding foreign trade and prosperity throughout the business world. There were some moderate decreases in activity in some lines during the latter part of the fiscal year, but since its close there has been general recovery in those lines.

"The outstanding event of the year was the improvement in agricultural prices," says Mr. Hoover. "Unlike manufacturing and mineral industries, a change in the volume of agricultural production often does not reflect a parallel change in the well being of the producers. Farm products in general have little elasticity of demand in the home market and the farmer cannot adapt his output of crops from year to year are usually due much more to weather conditions than to the will of the farmer. Therefore farm prosperity cannot be judged upon the criterion of production alone but requires consideration of prices as well."

AN IMPORTANT CORNER TURNED

The price index shows recoveries, from the low point since the beginning of 1921, for wheat, of 57 points; cotton, 99; corn, 111, and hogs, 37. "Many adjustments are needed yet," says the secretary, "but agriculture has turned an important corner and this change marks a vital step in the whole after-war economic readjustment."

For the first time since long before the war this year railway facilities were completely equal to the demand of the country. There were no car shortages of any consequene and there was a speeding up in the delivery of all goods.

"This complete reconstruction, expansion and growing efficiency in transportation facilities marks a fine accomplishment on the part of our railway management," says Mr. Hoover. "Its economic effect is most far-reaching. Every car shortage is a strangulation in the movement of commodities which reduces price levels to the producer and increases them to the consumer. It disarranges the synchronizing of our industrial fabric and widens the margin all along the line between producer and consumer. There is still requirement for extension of terminals and readjustment of rates. There are large consolidations needed for the ultimate best service and sound finance.

The general level of business activity is found by Secretary Hoover to have been decidedly higher than even in the very prosperous year of 1919. The index of manufacturing production dropped slightly, being 115 in 1924 as compared with 116 in 1923. Mineral production rose from 118 in 1923 to 121 in 1924; forest production from 111 to 117; railroad freight, ton-miles, from 109 to 110; electric power production from 136 to 148, and building contracts let from 107 to 109. Notwithstanding far lower prices than in 1919 the value of sales of retail stores was greater in 1924 than in that year

The figures of foreign trade quoted by Mr. Hoover indicate that during the year exports increased 9 per cent in value as mompared with the preceding year, while imports decreased 6 per cent. The net result of these changes in opposite directions was an increase in the excess of exports over imports from $176,000,000 in 1922-23 to $757,000,000 in 1923-24. While in absolute amount this is a larger export balance than in any year prior to the war, the percentage by which exports exceeded imports is somewhat smaller than in most pre-war years.

"The outstanding feature of our foreign trade in commodities," says Mr. Hoover, "is its strong, real growth since 1913. Our total imports and exports in that year amounted to $4,279,000,000 against $7,865,000,000 in 1923-24. If we correct this difference by the depreciated buying power of the dollar the increase is 18.2 per cent. This compares with decreases of 12 per cent for the United Kingdom, 14 per cent for France, and 51.4 per cent for Germany.

"The gain in our total trade over the fiscal year 1913 is largely accounted for by the marked increases in our trade with Asia, Oceania and South America. The value of the trade with Asia increased 244 per cent, and that with Oceania and South America 192 and 95 per cent, respectively."

Although the actual value of trade with Europe is shown to be greater than prior to the war is less than the increase in prices and the actual quantity of goods is smaller. This decline in the relative importance of Europe as a factor in our trade as other areas gain is explained as in part a continuation of a gradual shift in this direction that was evident before the war and in part the result of the war's serious impairment of European commercial strength

Secretary Hoover says that the unique situation of our foreign trade is to a considerable extend due to the support given by congress and the administration to the activities of the department of commerce. The reorganization of this service for practical promotion purposes is well indicated by the increase in the number of applications by business houses and farm co-operatives for assistance by the department.

In 1921 such inquiries or applications averaged less than 700 daily, while they now exceed 7,500 daily and are heavily overtaxing the facilities of the organization.

The tangible value of this service cannot be measured with exactness. However, an inquiry to export houses requesting estimates of their foreign transactions in which they were materially assisted by the partment, either in sales promotion or in the prevention of losses, brought responses indicating a total exceeding half a billion dollars.

With little risk to British lives, and to few lives, at worst, Britain can subdue any small country. In the house of commons recently, some sentimentalist complained it was not fair for England to drop TNT from the sky on ignorant savages. It was explained by the British war department that flyers did the work more swiftly, surely and safely than it could be done in the old days, when such men as Chinese Gordon had to lead punitive expeditions and fight against the barbarians on even terms on the earth.

Fighting from the sky, as an eagle fights a rabbit, is safer for the precious white lives and it kills fewer barbarians. The psychological effect of flyers dropping bombs is very great and the savage gives up.

All of which is true, as regards the matter of fact.

What the angel Gabriel thinks of the human eagle and rabbit hunt will be known later.

During this stock boom, you may have noticed that the St. Paul stocks, common and preferred, have been bought, as many as 50,000 shares in a day. Wise brokers have said, "Somebody is going to break his neck."

The buying has absorbed all shares offered by the wise ones, and all the shares that for good reasons have been thrown on the market by the William Rockefeller estate and by J. Ogden Armour, the two biggest holders.

HENRY FORD'S IGNORANCE

Now, to explain things, is mentioned the magic name, "Henry Ford." Ford is building a gigantic electric power plant at Minneapolis He will sell power at a fair price, that being his strange habit. He seems, in his pitiful ignorance of American methods, not to know enough to rob the people, when they were clearly made to be robbed.

The St. Paul road plans to use Ford's cheap current and electrify its entire system, as it has already electrified its mileage over the Rocky mountains. That excellent work, by the way, was done by William Rockefeller and his son, Percy. They deserve credit for enterprise, even if it did practically "bust the road."

Railroad men should learn something from the effect produced by Ford's name, in connection with any property, especially railroad property. There is something in honesty and public spirit, combined with efficiency. The railroads should try that, after they have tried everything else.

If it were announced on sound authority that Ford intended to buy the St. Paul and run it the common stock would jump more than 80 points to par. The people believe i nFord and his ability.

But, little lambs, write this on your little cuffs: "Henry Ford is not going to buy St. Paul. And if you gamble in that or any other cat and dog stock you are apt to break your neck financially," just as the wise broker said

By ALICE LANGELIER.

PARIS, Nov. 26.—Besides painting and sculpture every branch of art from music to the cinema and gastronomy is represented at the Salon d'Automne, which has just opened its door in Paris.

Moving pictures are actually on exhibition and delicious food prepared by French chefs can be eaten in the picturesque restaurant in the center of the salon. The muses are now beginning to take care of the practical needs of man. This is probably the outstanding feature of the art salon which draws great crowds every year. The painting contains few surprises, but everywhere in the collection of 4,000 odd canvasses there is evidence that art is a living thing, progressing with the events of everyday life.

Everywhere there is plenty of color. Even the nudes are aglow in the tints of brilliant sunsets. And there are a plenty of them—nudes, reading, nudes playing, nudes bathing and nudes having picnics under a shady tree. They are not often beautiful, but show a striving after weight and form, apparently neglecting all sentiment. The dressed models show bright greens and reds, pinks and purples. Beauty is absent in most cases, but in its place there is skill on the technical side.

America's contribution to the salon this year shows a distinct "return to nature." Most of the American exhibits are landscapes and outdoor subjects inspired by Nature herself. The studio seems to be far away. Thorndyke is showing several excellent landscapes, as well as Theodore Butler and Ethel Mars, who has a delightful "Cup of Tea" with two women in sharp profile against a lovely horizon.

The work of the late Mrs. Eleanore Norcross is represented by some interesting interiors, and Gale Turnbull, of New York city, has three excellent engravings and water colors, views of Italy and Brittany.

Not far away is Alfred Rigny's "Cccordeon Player" of fine quality. Mr. Rigny is also from New York. Other American exhibits include three small paintings by John Barber and "Le Modele," by James Herbert, a still-life by Arthur Franck, flower studies by Kiefferand Kniffin and engravings by Mrs. MacMillan and Mrs. Lazzell.

In the sculpture section Cecil Howard has a portrait of Mrs. Barnwell, George Biddle has some cocks in bronze, and there are busts by Mrs. Charlotte Leby.

French artists are undoubtedly the most prominent in the 1924 salon, both in quality and quantity. "Maternite" and portraits of children by Pierre Gerber and "Plaisirs Champtetres" by Jules Flandrin are particularly noteworthy.

Van Dongen, the famous Dutch artist, has captured the most important space on the wall for his portraits of exceedingly tall people of the ultra-fast type. The Russians have contributed their usual futuristic studies and the Japanese some delightful drawings.

Religious art occupies a very large section and grouped above it are bookbindings and batiks, pictures embroidered upon canvas after the manner of the old samples, and a series of posters by the well-known Cheret, advertisements of Paris pleasures from 1890 to 1814. They form a most interesting artistic and historical document.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—All Broadway is trailing to the Neighborhood playhouse in Grand street on the East Side to see the foibies and fads of the Great White Way satirized in "The Grand Street Follies." It is all good, keen stuff.

In the midst of this teeming Ghetto and surrounded by about $100 worth of scenery, a group of hitherto obscure players are displaying more of the penetratingly humorous faculty than their brothers and sisters uptown.

They are making hilarious travesty of such institutions as the Super-Drama League, the self-conscious serious thinkers of the Algonquin, the tone poem, ticket speculators, the Teapot Dome scandal, Barrymore's "Hamlet," the South Sea Island craze and Mother Janis and Elsie.

The skits were fashioned, of course, for the sophisticates. And yet the strange thing is that the natives of the East Side enjoy them fully as much. Each night finds its sprinkling of stage celebrities of the Rialto.

It is a colorful audience. Old women and beared Yiddish patriarchs who do not remove their hats. Young men in exaggerated styles of the day who still speak in broken English. Full bosomed, red checked young girls who chew gum. Men about town. Leading ladies and movie dazzlers.

A four-piece orchestra renders the music. Between acts the refreshments consist of charlotte russe and vari-colored lollipops. The highest priced seat is $150, and to their credit no tickets are placed in the hands of speculators.

If there is anything mode comic than an imitation Fanny Brice playing Ophelia and an imitation Gallagher and Shean as Grave Diggers I do not care to see it. After all, every man reaches the age when he doesn't care to fall out of chairs in fits of laughter.

Grand street is more than mere cross town thoroughfare bearing that name. It is to the East Side just what the name implies—"a grand street." There is a flair to shops and stores, over each of which are tenement apartments. Sunday is the big day of the week. Wigged orthodox women sit in doorways as an anachronistic note in the life that swirls about them—girls with their beaux, father with perambulators, street bands and hurdy gurdies, Kosher shop orchestras, racing, noisy children and splashes of old world costuming. The children are trained to take care of themselves from the time they graduate from crawling.

About the Neighborhood playhouse are a hundred street gamins who open doors of taxicabs bearing uptown visitors. They seek a grauity and a half hour's watching did not gain them as much as a penny, which amount is their supremest desire. It take insulting myrmidons in gold braid to make New Yorkers tip.

And the Neighborhood playhouse, by the way, is not an alley theater. It is well built and figures largely in the life of many stars. Among others whom the four winds have wafted to its stage are Yvette Guilbert, Ellen Terry, Emanuel Reicher, Ruth Draper, Rabindranath Tagore, Jacob Ben-Ami, Ian Maclaren, Michio Itow, Nyota Inyoka, Edith Wynne Matthison and Percy Grainger.

WHO'S WHO

THEODORE DOUGLAS ROBINSON.

The last official request made of President Coolidge by the late Senator Henry Cabot Lodge was recognized recently by the president when he appointed another scion of the Roosevelt family—Senator Theodore Douglas Robinson, of New York—assistant secretary of the navy, where he follows his cousin, Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., who resigned recently to become a candidate for governor of New York.

In addition to father and son, another Roosevelt, Franklin D. Roosevelt, a Democrat, was assistant secretary of the navy. That was in the Wilson administration.

Senator Lodge made his request by letter from his sick bed in Nahant, a few days after Colonel Roosevelt had resigned, to follow, as he hoped, the political path of his father, who had gone from assistant secretary of the navy to governor of New York after the Spanish war.

Robinson is the son of Douglas Robinson and Mrs. Corinne Roosevelt Robinson, a sister of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, the elder. He was born in New York city April 28, 1883, was graduated from Harvard in 1904, and for many years lived at Mohawk, Herkimer county.

He was a member of the New York assembly in 1912 and 1913 and a member of the state senate from 1916 to 1924. He was chairman of the New York state Progressive committee from 1912 to 1914.

Now it begins to look as if everybody loves railroads. Among other reasons, because they don't run anybody down right in the middle of the street.

The hookworm disease can be cured by one dose of carbon tetrachlorid, but a lot of people would rather be lazy.

IMPROVED BUSINESS CONDITIONS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—More real economic progress was made by the United States during the fiscal year ending June 30 last than in any similar period since the pre-war era, according to Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover's review of business conditions, issued preliminary to the publication of his annual report.

Farmers, manufacturers the railroads, bankers and labor have all shared in this prosperity which was on the whole sounder, if less spectacular, in individual lines, that the prosperity incident to the war. The balance of trade in our favor—the excess of exports over imports—was larger in absolute amount than in any year prior to the war, and the ratification of the Dawes plan, which is expected to bring about European stabilization, will result in a further revival in world trade in which the United States is certain to share.

The high spots of the year, as summarized by Secretary Hoover, were, first, the advance in agricultural prices, which had hitherto lagged behind industry since the slump of 1920; second, the beginnings of sound policies in German reparations leading to a hopeful measure of economic recovery in Europe; and, third, the complete recovery of our own industry and commerce, aside from agriculture, great stability of prices, high production, full employment, expanding foreign trade and prosperity throughout the business world. There were some moderate decreases in activity in some lines during the latter part of the fiscal year, but since its close there has been general recovery in those lines.

"The outstanding event of the year was the improvement in agricultural prices," says Mr. Hoover. "Unlike manufacturing and mineral industries, a change in the volume of agricultural production often does not reflect a parallel change in the well being of the producers. Farm products in general have little elasticity of demand in the home market and the farmer cannot adapt his output of crops from year to year are usually due much more to weather conditions than to the will of the farmer. Therefore farm prosperity cannot be judged upon the criterion of production alone but requires consideration of prices as well."

AN IMPORTANT CORNER TURNED

The price index shows recoveries, from the low point since the beginning of 1921, for wheat, of 57 points; cotton, 99; corn, 111, and hogs, 37. "Many adjustments are needed yet," says the secretary, "but agriculture has turned an important corner and this change marks a vital step in the whole after-war economic readjustment."

For the first time since long before the war this year railway facilities were completely equal to the demand of the country. There were no car shortages of any consequene and there was a speeding up in the delivery of all goods.

"This complete reconstruction, expansion and growing efficiency in transportation facilities marks a fine accomplishment on the part of our railway management," says Mr. Hoover. "Its economic effect is most far-reaching. Every car shortage is a strangulation in the movement of commodities which reduces price levels to the producer and increases them to the consumer. It disarranges the synchronizing of our industrial fabric and widens the margin all along the line between producer and consumer. There is still requirement for extension of terminals and readjustment of rates. There are large consolidations needed for the ultimate best service and sound finance.

The general level of business activity is found by Secretary Hoover to have been decidedly higher than even in the very prosperous year of 1919. The index of manufacturing production dropped slightly, being 115 in 1924 as compared with 116 in 1923. Mineral production rose from 118 in 1923 to 121 in 1924; forest production from 111 to 117; railroad freight, ton-miles, from 109 to 110; electric power production from 136 to 148, and building contracts let from 107 to 109. Notwithstanding far lower prices than in 1919 the value of sales of retail stores was greater in 1924 than in that year

The figures of foreign trade quoted by Mr. Hoover indicate that during the year exports increased 9 per cent in value as mompared with the preceding year, while imports decreased 6 per cent. The net result of these changes in opposite directions was an increase in the excess of exports over imports from $176,000,000 in 1922-23 to $757,000,000 in 1923-24. While in absolute amount this is a larger export balance than in any year prior to the war, the percentage by which exports exceeded imports is somewhat smaller than in most pre-war years.

"The outstanding feature of our foreign trade in commodities," says Mr. Hoover, "is its strong, real growth since 1913. Our total imports and exports in that year amounted to $4,279,000,000 against $7,865,000,000 in 1923-24. If we correct this difference by the depreciated buying power of the dollar the increase is 18.2 per cent. This compares with decreases of 12 per cent for the United Kingdom, 14 per cent for France, and 51.4 per cent for Germany.

"The gain in our total trade over the fiscal year 1913 is largely accounted for by the marked increases in our trade with Asia, Oceania and South America. The value of the trade with Asia increased 244 per cent, and that with Oceania and South America 192 and 95 per cent, respectively."

Although the actual value of trade with Europe is shown to be greater than prior to the war is less than the increase in prices and the actual quantity of goods is smaller. This decline in the relative importance of Europe as a factor in our trade as other areas gain is explained as in part a continuation of a gradual shift in this direction that was evident before the war and in part the result of the war's serious impairment of European commercial strength

Secretary Hoover says that the unique situation of our foreign trade is to a considerable extend due to the support given by congress and the administration to the activities of the department of commerce. The reorganization of this service for practical promotion purposes is well indicated by the increase in the number of applications by business houses and farm co-operatives for assistance by the department.

In 1921 such inquiries or applications averaged less than 700 daily, while they now exceed 7,500 daily and are heavily overtaxing the facilities of the organization.

The tangible value of this service cannot be measured with exactness. However, an inquiry to export houses requesting estimates of their foreign transactions in which they were materially assisted by the partment, either in sales promotion or in the prevention of losses, brought responses indicating a total exceeding half a billion dollars.

No hint of real Winter weather until mid-November. Summer temperatures all through the first two Autumn months and the most backward season in years. Manufacturers of winter apparel complaining of little demand for their goods. Over-production was inevitable and drastic price reductions were unavoidable. How splendidly Moyer Brothers has turned these conditions to your advantage is demonstrated in the tremendous savings available in this great coat sale.

Little more than a week ago came the general price break in the New York coat market. Everywhere overstocked manufacturers were seeking quick outlets for their surplusses of coats.

Never before were Moyer Brothers buyers favored with such an opportunity in purchasing coats at great savings—never before have we been able to get such values—never before have we been able to get such values—never before have we bought so generously and never before have our own fine coat stocks yielded greater values.

SALE OF COATS

STARTING THE MORNING AFTER THANKSGIVING DAY

No hint of real Winter weather until mid-November. Summer temperatures all through the first two Autumn months and the most backward season in years. Manufacturers of winter apparel complaining of little demand for their goods. Over-production was inevitable and drastic price reductions were unavoidable. How splendidly Moyer Brothers has turned these conditions to your advantage is demonstrated in the tremendous savings available in this great coat sale.

Little more than a week ago came the general price break in the New York coat market. Everywhere overstocked manufacturers were seeking quick outlets for their surplusses of coats.

Never before were Moyer Brothers buyers favored with such an opportunity in purchasing coats at great savings—never before have we been able to get such values—never before have we been able to get such values—never before have we bought so generously and never before have our own fine coat stocks yielded greater values.

GREAT SPECIAL PURCHASES SUPPLEMENTED BY COATS FROM OUR OWN FINE STOCKS ALL AT RADICAL REDUCTIONS

Coats — Splendid New Styles in Plaids and Plain Colors.

Handsome new coats of fine Polaires and Velaires, full lined. Lovely new striped coats as well as beautiful shades of plain brown and grey at this low price, the value is extraordinary, sport and dressy styles, all sizes. $10

Coats — With Fur Collars or Plain, All New Styles.

At this price a wonderful selection of beautiful materials. Coats that offer a delightful surprise in the smartness of their styles, the excellence of their materials and linings as well as the fur trimmings and the lowness of their price. $13

Coats — Wonderful New Styles, Fabrics, Fur Collars and Cuffs.

More than a hundred wonderful new coats in this sale group and all richly fur trimmed. Shown in all the season's most fashionable shades as well as in all the most popular materials. In sizes for women and misses. A very remarkable value. $17

Coats — Fur Trimmed, of Greatly More Expensive Type

Women who purchase these fine coats here tomorrow will secure the prize bargains of the year. We have grouped into this great lot the season's loveliest styles, the most sought after models, the very smartest ideas. Some have fur borders, some have fur edges, some have fur collar and cuff sets.
Beautiful materials of high luster and dull finished cloths. Graceful, straightline, wide cape, wrap and side effects. $28

Coats — Luxurious Fur Collars, Cuffs and Borders

A splendid Manufacturers' Clearance group of handsome winter coats offering a wide choice of smart new styles. Their materials include fine Chamovets, Fashona, Suedines and other fine fabrics generally shown in greatly more expensive garments. All of them richly fur-trimmed, including many with huge collars, deep cuffs and wide borders of fine furs. In all the season's most fashionable shades and black. $34

Here, at a time when you can appreciate it most, is as striking a coat event as you'll find this season. Here, at remarkable sale prices are coats whose outstanding merit is as conspicuous as the surpassing values. We particularly stress the fact that these coats are not the ordinary types whose chief appeal is price. They are low priced, very low! But at those same low prices you get the distinctiveness of workmanship, the superiority of design and the unquestioned quality always maintained here, even in a sale.

SOCIETY

Miss Bennett Entertains.

Members of the Sorosis club met last evening at the home of Miss Lydian Bennett of Jackson street. Responses to roll call were names of famous Greek buildings. Miss Mary Whitehill told of "Famous Greek Architecture;" Miss Hazel Geiger's paper dealt with "A Day in Athens." Miss Jessie Hall gave piano numbers. At the close of the program Mrs. John Gates, an aunt of the hostess, gave a talk on her trip around the world.

During the informal social hours, a luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by her sister, Dorothy, and brother John.

Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Gates, Mrs. James Bennett and Miss Adeline Blake.

The next meeting will be held December 9, at the home of Miss Daisy Shenkle, with Miss Ogallalla Boden as hostess.

Wedding Anniversary Observed.

Members of the Friday Five Hundred club surprised Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gilgallon at their home in Dresden avenue, last evening, in honor of their tenth wedding anniversary. A tin shower was given.

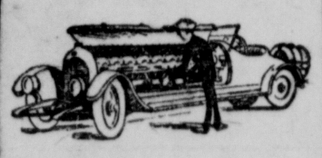

The social hours were spent with progressive five hundred, three tables being in play.

Beautiful Film Star Doesn't Know Whether She's Married

Dagmar Godowsky (above), daughter of the famed pianist, Leopold Godowsky, and film leading woman, has instituted court proceedings to remove the shadow that hovers over her marriage to Frank Mayo (inset), movie hero, in 1922. It is contended that the marriage is illegal because Mayo's divorce from his first wife was not final at the time.

POEMS THAT LIVE

Three Things

Three things filled this day for me,
Three common things filled this day;
Each had, for me, a word to say;
Said it in beauty, and was done:
Cows on a hillside all one way,
A buttercup tilted seductively,
And a lark arguing with the sun.

These three things, merely these three,
Were enough to cry the world
Out of my heart: the buttercup curled
Where some gorgeous ruffian plundered;
The skylark's dizzy flag unfurled;
The placid cows pensively
Wondering why they wondered.
—Joseph Auslander.

He Is Looking 'Em Over Again
"Eight years of stomach and liver trouble reduced me to a walking skeleton. My skin was dried up and as yellow as a twenty dollar gold piece. I was filled with gas and had severe pains in my right side. I could not think and had lost all ambition to do anything. Doctor's medicine did not touch me. My cousin advised Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, which snatched me from the grave. I have gained sixty pounds, eat like a hired man and am looking 'em over again." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Jesse D. Holloway and Druggists Everywhere.

Ethylized Gasoline
For one year and nine months ethylized gasoline has been on sale. It is now being distributed through about 20,000 filling stations covering one-third of the territory of the United States.
About 200,000,000 gallons have been used by more than 1,000,000 motorists with complete safety and satisfaction.
Recently a distressing accident occurred at an experimental plant, where a new process for the manufacture of tetraethyl lead, one of the constituents used in ethylizing gasoline, was under development.
Tetraethyl lead is a poison, as are many raw materials which enter into the manufacture of harmless compounds. Ethylized gasoline consists of 1,300 parts of ordinary gasoline containing less than one part of tetraethyl lead.
This statement is issued to make plain the all-important difference between tetraethyl lead, the raw material, and ethylized gasoline, the commercial product.
Ethylized gasoline is more than an improved fuel, giving smoothness to the motor and eliminating knocks; it is a scientific discovery, which, in its ultimate development, will contribute largely to the conservation of the world's supply of gasoline.
Exhaustive tests have been conducted which have established the safety of ethylized gasoline when used as a motor fuel. These tests have been confirmed by the United States Bureau of Mines, which is making additional studies to determine whether any possible injury can result from continued contact when used for other than motor purposes. Scientific data based on these studies will be submitted to any health commissioner or other public health official on request.

Pictorial Cross Word Puzzle for School Children

How to Solve Puzzle.

The words start in the numbered squares and run either across or down. Only one letter is placed in each white square. If the proper words are found each combination of letters in the white squares will form words. The key to the puzzle—the first word—is given in the drawing. Below are keys to the other words.

(Running Across.)

Word 1 is medicine Willie must take (plural).

(Running Down.)

Word 1 is another word for scholar.

Beautiful Film Star Doesn't Know Whether She's Married

Dagmar Godowsky (above), daughter of the famed pianist, Leopold Godowsky, and film leading woman, has instituted court proceedings to remove the shadow that hovers over her marriage to Frank Mayo (inset), movie hero, in 1922. It is contended that the marriage is illegal because Mayo's divorce from his first wife was not final at the time.

POEMS THAT LIVE

Three Things

Three things filled this day for me,
Three common things filled this day;
Each had, for me, a word to say;
Said it in beauty, and was done:
Cows on a hillside all one way,
A buttercup tilted seductively,
And a lark arguing with the sun.

These three things, merely these three,
Were enough to cry the world
Out of my heart: the buttercup curled
Where some gorgeous ruffian plundered;
The skylark's dizzy flag unfurled;
The placid cows pensively
Wondering why they wondered.

He Is Looking 'Em Over Again
"Eight years of stomach and liver trouble reduced me to a walking skeleton. My skin was dried up and as yellow as a twenty dollar gold piece. I was filled with gas and had severe pains in my right side. I could not think and had lost all ambition to do anything. Doctor's medicine did not touch me. My cousin advised Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, which snatched me from the grave. I have gained sixty pounds, eat like a hired man and am looking 'em over again." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Jesse D. Holloway and Druggists Everywhere.

Ethylized Gasoline
For one year and nine months ethylized gasoline has been on sale. It is now being distributed through about 20,000 filling stations covering one-third of the territory of the United States.
About 200,000,000 gallons have been used by more than 1,000,000 motorists with complete safety and satisfaction.
Recently a distressing accident occurred at an experimental plant, where a new process for the manufacture of tetraethyl lead, one of the constituents used in ethylizing gasoline, was under development.
Tetraethyl lead is a poison, as are many raw materials which enter into the manufacture of harmless compounds. Ethylized gasoline consists of 1,300 parts of ordinary gasoline containing less than one part of tetraethyl lead.
This statement is issued to make plain the all-important difference between tetraethyl lead, the raw material, and ethylized gasoline, the commercial product.
Ethylized gasoline is more than an improved fuel, giving smoothness to the motor and eliminating knocks; it is a scientific discovery, which, in its ultimate development, will contribute largely to the conservation of the world's supply of gasoline.
Exhaustive tests have been conducted which have established the safety of ethylized gasoline when used as a motor fuel. These tests have been confirmed by the United States Bureau of Mines, which is making additional studies to determine whether any possible injury can result from continued contact when used for other than motor purposes. Scientific data based on these studies will be submitted to any health commissioner or other public health official on request.

Pictorial Cross Word Puzzle for School Children

How to Solve Puzzle.

The words start in the numbered squares and run either across or down. Only one letter is placed in each white square. If the proper words are found each combination of letters in the white squares will form words. The key to the puzzle—the first word—is given in the drawing. Below are keys to the other words.

(Running Across.)

Word 1 is medicine Willie must take (plural).

(Running Down.)

Word 1 is another word for scholar.

Beautiful Film Star Doesn't Know Whether She's Married

Dagmar Godowsky (above), daughter of the famed pianist, Leopold Godowsky, and film leading woman, has instituted court proceedings to remove the shadow that hovers over her marriage to Frank Mayo (inset), movie hero, in 1922. It is contended that the marriage is illegal because Mayo's divorce from his first wife was not final at the time.

POEMS THAT LIVE

Three Things

Three things filled this day for me,
Three common things filled this day;
Each had, for me, a word to say;
Said it in beauty, and was done:
Cows on a hillside all one way,
A buttercup tilted seductively,
And a lark arguing with the sun.

These three things, merely these three,
Were enough to cry the world
Out of my heart: the buttercup curled
Where some gorgeous ruffian plundered;
The skylark's dizzy flag unfurled;
The placid cows pensively
Wondering why they wondered.
—Joseph Auslander.

He Is Looking 'Em Over Again

"Eight years of stomach and liver trouble reduced me to a walking skeleton. My skin was dried up and as yellow as a twenty dollar gold piece. I was filled with gas and had severe pains in my right side. I could not think and had lost all ambition to do anything. Doctor's medicine did not touch me. My cousin advised Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, which snatched me from the grave. I have gained sixty pounds, eat like a hired man and am looking 'em over again." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Jesse D. Holloway and Druggists Everywhere.

Ethylized Gasoline

For one year and nine months ethylized gasoline has been on sale. It is now being distributed through about 20,000 filling stations covering one-third of the territory of the United States.

About 200,000,000 gallons have been used by more than 1,000,000 motorists with complete safety and satisfaction.

Recently a distressing accident occurred at an experimental plant, where a new process for the manufacture of tetraethyl lead, one of the constituents used in ethylizing gasoline, was under development.

Tetraethyl lead is a poison, as are many raw materials which enter into the manufacture of harmless compounds. Ethylized gasoline consists of 1,300 parts of ordinary gasoline containing less than one part of tetraethyl lead.

This statement is issued to make plain the all-important difference between tetraethyl lead, the raw material, and ethylized gasoline, the commercial product.

Ethylized gasoline is more than an improved fuel, giving smoothness to the motor and eliminating knocks; it is a scientific discovery, which, in its ultimate development, will contribute largely to the conservation of the world's supply of gasoline.

Exhaustive tests have been conducted which have established the safety of ethylized gasoline when used as a motor fuel. These tests have been confirmed by the United States Bureau of Mines, which is making additional studies to determine whether any possible injury can result from continued contact when used for other than motor purposes. Scientific data based on these studies will be submitted to any health commissioner or other public health official on request.

Pictorial Cross Word Puzzle for School Children

How to Solve Puzzle.

The words start in the numbered squares and run either across or down. Only one letter is placed in each white square. If the proper words are found each combination of letters in the white squares will form words. The key to the puzzle—the first word—is given in the drawing. Below are keys to the other words.

(Running Across.-
Word 1 is medicine Willie must take (plural).

(Running Down.)
Word 1 is another word for scholar.

NEW WAY TO BANISH RHEUMATIC PAINS DISCOVERED BY ALESSANDRO VOLTA

Rids You of Rheumatic Pain Without Drugs or Medicines

Until recently, the real cause of Rheumatism has evaded scientific inquiry. And, naturally, the old-fashioned methods of treatment with internal remedies were uncertain and sometimes dangerous.

Now it has been definitely established that rheumatic pains are caused in many cases by the absorption of poisons into the blood.

Alessandro Volta, the well-known physicist, for whom the electric volt was named, has produced an entirely new and revolutionary method of treatment for Rheumatism. He discovered a scientific combination of certain ingredients that produces a fine powder which, when shaken into the shoes or stockings is intended to be immediately absorbed into the blood. This is due, no doubt, to the fact that the soles of the feet contain 10 times as many pores to the square inch as are found in other parts of the body.

He has called this powder Volta. Its use has given immediate relief, in many instances, from the terrible crippling, torturing pain even in stubborn, long-standing cases.

The use of Volta powder has demonstrated such astonishing results in literally thousands of cases, many of which were considered hopeless, that the American distributors have authorized local druggists to dispense Volta to rheumatic sufferers in their city with an unqualified guarantee to return the full purchase price of the first box in any rare case where the rheumatic pains are not wonderfully relieved.

All who suffer from rheumatic pains, no matter how long-standing their case may be, should take immediate advantage of this liberal offer. You can get Volta from: Carnahan-Guskes, C. T. Larkins, C. G. Anderson, Herche's Drug Store, J. C. Carnahan, Bulger's Pharmacy, Economy Drug Store.

Philosopher in Death.

LIMA.—Dr. John H. Blattenberg, World war veteran and leading veterinary surgeon of Northwestern Ohio, was a philosopher, even in death. Dr. Blattenberg, as officer of the day, rode at the head of the Armistice day parade. It began to rain. The crowds were scurrying to shelter. The physician declared he was in no hurry to seek cover from the raindrops, which for five weeks had been unknown in Lima. "Take it easy, boys," he said. "Might just as well be happy when you can. Some of these days you're going to die and you'll be dead a long time." A day later at about the same hour, Dr. Blattenberg died. Friends believe he had no premonition of death.

Injuries Prove Fatal.

NEFFS, O.—James Junkins, 45, is dead here of injuries sustained when he was caught beneath a fall of stone while at work in the local mine of the Wheeling and Lake Erie Coal Mining Co.

IF KIDNEYS BOTHER TRY DOSE OF SALTS

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Too much rich food creates acids which clog the kidney pores so that they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood. Then you get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage, or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin to drink soft water in quantities; also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone can take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby often preventing serious kidney complications. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

Rids You of Rheumatic Pain Without Drugs or Medicines

Until recently, the real cause of Rheumatism has evaded scientific inquiry. And, naturally, the old-fashioned methods of treatment with internal remedies were uncertain and sometimes dangerous.

Now it has been definitely established that rheumatic pains are caused in many cases by the absorption of poisons into the blood.

Alessandro Volta, the well-known physicist, for whom the electric volt was named, has produced an entirely new and revolutionary method of treatment for Rheumatism. He discovered a scientific combination of certain ingredients that produces a fine powder which, when shaken into the shoes or stockings is intended to be immediately absorbed into the blood. This is due, no doubt, to the fact that the soles of the feet contain 10 times as many pores to the square inch as are found in other parts of the body.

He has called this powder Volta. Its use has given immediate relief, in many instances, from the terrible crippling, torturing pain even in stubborn, long-standing cases.

The use of Volta powder has demonstrated such astonishing results in literally thousands of cases, many of which were considered hopeless, that the American distributors have authorized local druggists to dispense Volta to rheumatic sufferers in their city with an unqualified guarantee to return the full purchase price of the first box in any rare case where the rheumatic pains are not wonderfully relieved.

All who suffer from rheumatic pains, no matter how long-standing their case may be, should take immediate advantage of this liberal offer. You can get Volta from: Carnahan-Guskea, C. T. Larkins, C. G. Anderson, Herche's Drug Store, J. C. Carnahan, Bulger's Pharmacy, Economy Drug Store.

IF KIDNEYS BOTHER TRY DOSE OF SALTS

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Too much rich food creates acids which clog the kidney pores so that they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood. Then you get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage, or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin to drink soft water in quantities; also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone can take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby often preventing serious kidney complications. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

COUNTY FARM AGENT TENDERS RESIGNATION TO COMMITTEE

Clarence E. Rowland Will Sever Connection With Farm Bureau December 24—Made Excellent Record.

County Agent Clarence E. Rowland presented his resignation at a meeting of the executive committee of the Columbiana County Farm bureau, held in the farm bureau offices in the Lisbon city building, Wednesday afternoon.

The action of Mr. Rowland was quite unexpected. His resignation is to become effective December 24. He will locate in Lorain county, with headquarters in Elyria, where he has taken the office as county agent for that county.

A meeting of the board of directors of the Columbiana County Farm bureau will be held later in the month for the purpose of securing a county agent to succeed Mr. Rowland. No intimation has been given who will be secured.

Clarence E. Rowland is a veteran of the World war, and volunteered while still a student in the Agricultural college of Ohio State university. The war ended, he returned to complete his work, and immediately entered farm bureau work. His record in this county, according to state records on file with the State Farm bureau, have not been excelled in any county in the state.

Mr. Rowland came to Columbiana county February 18, 1920, and in his first year of service in this county he increased the membership of the county bureau to 403 members. This enrollment increased from the one dollar contributing member to close to 1,300 three-year members at $10 per year.

Columbiana county has an area of 534 square miles, and it was the aim of Mr. Rowland in his years of service here to develop the different parts of the county according to the needs of that particular community. Through his suggestions the yield of all cereals has been increase, likewise the yield of potatoes.

Perhaps the most notable effort of Mr. Rowland was the going over the top in the tuberculin test.

Also through the efforts of Mr. Rowland there was shipped into this county this year 12,040 bushels of certified seed potatoes.

When Mr. Rowland became county agent the assets of the farm bureau was down to $34.29, and today th's has been increased to over $9,000. He has been successful in organizing three co-operative associations, the first at Columbiana, then at Kensington and later at Homeworth. An apple-grading plant was placed in operation at New Waterford, and over 15,000 bushels of apples will be graded and shipped from that plant this season under the "Buckeye Brand."

He has developed the use of certified wheat in this county, and today over 6,000 acres are sown in this wheat, which sells on the market at a higher price than any other variety. This brings a larger return to the grower.

There have been 79 poultry demonstrations held in this county since Mr. Rowland came into this county and 100 poultry houses and 75 brooder houses have been erected from plans furnished by the county agent. In addition, at the suggest'on of Mr. Rowland over 500 acres of farm land have now been placed under the drainage system.

Another feature of the activity of Mr. Rowland has been in favor of the horticulturists, which refers to the elimination by the fruit growers o fthe use of 1-8-1 fertilizers, and the adoption of a fertilizer of a far better grade.

In entering the farm bureau work in Lorain county Mr. Rowland will enter a district that is vitally interested in dairying, truck gardening and horticulture.

It would create no surprise to those who know Mr. Rowland to learn of him being advanced to an important state position before another year ends.

TWO SUITS FILED HERE FOR DIVORCE

Sarah Kellner Muehlhauser had the care of a husband only two or three weeks after she was married to Fred William Muehlhauser, at Leetsdale, Pa., May 16, 1921, for on June 1, 1921, Muehlhauser left his wife, and she does not know where he is. It is for this reason that she seeks a divorce from her husband. The custody of one child, aged three years, is sought by the mother in this action.

Hazel P. Applegate has filed her petition for divorce from her husband, Wilbur D. Applegate. The couple were married October 11, 1916, and in July 1918, Applegate left his wife, and his whereabout are now unknown to her. Applegate was arrested for non-support on an affidavit filed by his wife, after which he paid her $20, but since then she has received nothing from him for her support.

HEWING OF TREES BRINGS PROTEST

Hewing of trees about the lawn of the Yearly meeting house of the Friends church at Damascus has caused a storm of protest to arise in that community, but now that the trees have been cut down there is nothing left to do.

During the last yearly meeting a committee was appointed to have the trees cut down. This work was done last week. It is proposed to grade the lawn.

People of Damascus liked the large locust trees. They admit this. They also liked the shade they gave in the summer season. Now all this is gone.

No one seems to know who conceived the idea of having the aged trees cut down.

TEN NAMES DRAWN FROM JURY WHEEL

Ten names were drawn from the jury wheel today and summons have been issued for these people to report for jury duty next Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock. Those who have been summoned are: John Levan and John Culp, Columbiana; J. E. Hartman, Wellsville; Etta Mellinger, Leetonia; J. F. Barnett, Beloit R. F. D.; Edwin S. Dean and George Reynolds, East Liverpool; W. J. Viers, Salem; M. A. Jackson and William E. Davidson, Kensington.

It is rather unusual that the name of only one woman has been drawn in this list, and that is Etta Mellinger. It is likely that several who are now serving as jurors will be excused at the week-end.

RULINGS HANDED DOWN BY COURT

By agreement, judgment for $116 has been entered in common pleas court in the case of George W. Runyon against John H. Smith, which is an appeal from a court of the justice of the peace filed Nov. 3, 1922. Judgment for costs has also been rendered in this action.

On the motion of Stanley Mills, the case he filed against John Caldwell has been dismissed at the cost of the plaintiff.

The court has granted leave to Samuel Berman to file his petition in the case wherein Mrs. M. Hoffritches is defendant, the time being set at Dec. 24. The case has been carried up on appeal from a lower court.

Settlement at the cost of the defendant has been recorded in the case of Barron G. Collier Inc. against Vance B. McBane and others which was an action in common pleas to recover a claim of $1,127.01.

Commissioners Meet.

A special meeting of the county commissioners was scheduled for Wednesday at which time the contract for stucco finishing the brick buildings about the County Home property was to be awarded. A former contract had been canceled after a Cleveland concern advanced the price of the stucco stone to $1.30 per ton after the salesman for the company had quoted a lower market.

Don't Fuss With Mustard Plasters!

Musterole Works Without the Blister—Easier, Quicker.

There's no sense in mixing a mess of mustard, flour and water when you can easily relieve pain, soreness or stiffness with a little clean, white Musterole.

Musterole is made of pure oil of mustard and other helpful ingredients, combined in the form of the present white ointment. It takes the place of mustard plasters, and will not blister.

Musterole usually gives prompt relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it may prevent pneumonit.)

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for Babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

Toronto

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the M. P. church was held in the church parlors. Important business was transacted. An interesting talk was given by Mrs. Malone in behalf of the mountain schools, at close of which a box was packed with clothes and toys to be sent to Pine Ridge school for Christmas. It was decided to hold the next meeting on Dec. 9, and to have a six o'clock cover dish dinner at that time. The meeting will also be in the nature of a Christmas party, each member to bring a gift not exceeding fifty cents in prices. A social hour was enjoyed during which the hostesses served lunch.

Mrs. George Myers attended a luncheon given by Mrs. D. J. Sinclair at her home in North Fourth street, Steubenville.

Mrs. William Carson entertained with a twelve o'clock coverdish party at her home on West Market street, recently. The social affair was in the nature of a house warming for their new home just completed.

The rooms were decorated in keeping with approaching Thanksgiving season.

There were twenty guests present, consisting of relatives and guests residing in the city.

Mrs. Carson was presented with two silver electric candlesticks by her guests.

Homeworth

Former pupils and friends of the Fox school, Freeburg road, held a reunion Sunday at the school house with about 125 present. Keeping Millions Free From Colds and La Grippe

W. H. Hill

W. H. HILL'S LIFE WORK

Colds cause more illness than any other human ailment. Realizing this 50 years ago, W. H. Hill determined to develop a quick-acting scientifically correct cold and la grippe remedy.

Years of research brought success. Mr. Hill discovered a most remarkable formula. He backed it with energy, faith, integrity and a name that meant "satisfaction or money back."

Today more than 4,000,000 families—one-fifth of America's population—use and recommend Hill's Cascara Bromide Quinine.

The formula has never been changed in a quarter century. What Hill's has done for millions, it can do for you. Demand red box bearing Mr. Hill's portrait. All druggists, 30 cents.

GOT RELIEF WITH VERY FIRST DOSE

Mr. Thomas W. Leffingwell

If you have been enduring the misery of stomach disorders, just follow the advice of Mr. Thomas W. Leffingwell, a farmer residing near Chesapeake, Ohio. He'll tell you how he overcame the ailments from which he had so long suffered. In an interview with a representative of the Ka-di-ok laboratories recently, he said:

"I had suffered from stomach disorders for a long time. I had dizzy spells and would get weak in the knees. I was unable to sleep nights and consequently got no rest. Beside that I got no enjoyment from eating as I had no appetite.

"I have taken six bottles of Ka-di-ok and I want to say it helped me right from the first dose. I am seventy-six years old and work every day and I can certainly notice the difference. I want to recommend Ka-di-ok to my friends as a splendid medicine."

Many people say they would not take a thousand dollars for the good that Ka-di-ok has done them. Some of the results following its use have appeared almost miraculous. Many who had given up in despair because of apparently hopeless ailments due to disorders of stomach, kidneys or liver obtained almost instant relief. If you suffer from loss of appetite, loss of weight, poor blood, insomnia, nervousness, rheumatism or a generally run down condition—try a bottle of Ka-di-ok at once. Don't delay.

COUNTY FARM AGENT TENDERS RESIGNATION TO COMMITTEE

County Agent Clarence E. Rowland presented his resignation at a meeting of the executive committee of the Columbiana County Farm bureau, held in the farm bureau offices in the Lisbon city building, Wednesday afternoon.

The action of Mr. Rowland was quite unexpected. His resignation is to become effective December 24. He will locate in Lorain county, with headquarters in Elyria, where he has taken the office as county agent for that county.

A meeting of the board of directors of the Columbiana County Farm bureau will be held later in the month for the purpose of securing a county agent to succeed Mr. Rowland. No intimation has been given who will be secured.

Clarence E. Rowland is a veteran of the World war, and volunteered while still a student in the Agricultural college of Ohio State university. The war ended, he returned to complete his work, and immediately entered farm bureau work. His record in this county, according to state records on file with the State Farm bureau, have not been excelled in any county in the state.

Mr. Rowland came to Columbiana county February 18, 1920, and in his first year of service in this county he increased the membership of the county bureau to 403 members. This enrollment increased from the one dollar contributing member to close to 1,300 three-year members at $10 per year.

Columbiana county has an area of 534 square miles, and it was the aim of Mr. Rowland in his years of service here to develop the different parts of the county according to the needs of that particular community. Through his suggestions the yield of all cereals has been increase, likewise the yieid of potatoes.

Perhaps the most notable effort of Mr. Rowland was the going over the top in the tuberculin test.

Also through the efforts of Mr. Rowland there was shipped into this county this year 12,040 bushels of certified seed potatoes.

When Mr. Rowland became county agent the assets of the farm bureau was down to $34.29, and today th's has been increased to over $9,000. He has been successful in organizing three co-operative associations, the first at Columbiana, then at Kensington and later at Homeworth. An apple-grading plant was placed in operation at New Waterford, and over 15,000 bushels of apples will be graded and shipped from that plant this season under the "Buckeye Brand."

He has developed the use of certified wheat in this county, and today over 6,000 acres are sown in this wheat, which sells on the market at a higher price than any other variety. This brings a larger return to the grower.

There have been 79 poultry demonstrations held in this county since Mr. Rowland came into this county and 100 poultry houses and 75 brooder houses have been erected from plans furnished by the county agent. In addition, at the suggestion of Mr. Rowland over 500 acres of farm land have now been placed under the drainage system.

Another feature of the activity of Mr. Rowland has been in favor of the horticulturists, which refers to the elimination by the fruit growers o fthe use of 1-8-1 fertilizers, and the adoption of a fertilizer of a far better grade.

In entering the farm bureau work in Lorain county Mr. Rowland will enter a district that is vitally interested in dairying, truck gardening and horticulture.

It would create no surprise to those who know Mr. Rowland to learn of him being advanced to an important state position before another year ends.

TWO SUITS FILED HERE FOR DIVORCE

Sarah Kellner Muehlhauser had the care of a husband only two or three weeks after she was married to Fred William Muehlhauser, at Leetsdale, Pa., May 16, 1921, for on June 1, 1921, Muehlhauser left his wife, and she does not know where he is. It is for this reason that she seeks a divorce from her husband. The custody of one child, aged three years, is sought by the mother in this action.

Hazel P. Applegate has filed her petition for divorce from her husband, Wilbur D. Applegate. The couple were married October 11, 1916, and in July 1918, Applegate left his wife, and his whereabout are now unknown to her. TEN NAMES DRAWN FROM JURY WHEEL

Ten names were drawn from the jury wheel today and summons have been issued for these people to report for jury duty next Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock. Those who have been summoned are: John Levan and John Culp, Columbiana; J. E. Hartman, Wellsville; Etta Mellinger, Leetonia; J. F. Barnett, Beloit R. F. D.; Edwin S. Dean and George Reynolds, East Liverpool; W. J. Viers, Salem; M. A. Jackson and William E. Davidson, Kensington.

It is rather unusual that the name of only one woman has been drawn in this list, and that is Etta Mellinger. It is likely that several who are now serving as jurors will be excused at the week-end.

RULINGS HANDED DOWN BY COURT

By agreement, judgment for $116 has been entered in common pleas court in the case of George W. Runyon against John H. Smith, which is an appeal from a court of the justice of the peace filed Nov. 3, 1922. Judgment for costs has also been rendered in this action.

On the motion of Stanley Mills, the case he filed against John Caldwell has been dismissed at the cost of the plaintiff.

The court has granted leave to Samuel Berman to file his petition in the case wherein Mrs. M. Hoffritches is defendant, the time being set at Dec. 24. The case has been carried up on appeal from a lower court.

Settlement at the cost of the defendant has been recorded in the case of Barron G. Collier Inc. against Vance B. McBane and others which was an action in common pleas to recover a claim of $1,127.01.

Commissioners Meet.

A special meeting of the county commissioners was scheduled for Wednesday at which time the contract for stucco finishing the brick buildings about the County Home property was to be awarded. A former contract had been canceled after a Cleveland concern advanced the price of the stucco stone to $1.30 per ton after the salesman for the company had quoted a lower market.

Toronto

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the M. P. church was held in the church parlors. Important business was transacted. An interesting talk was given by Mrs. Malone in behalf of the mountain schools, at close of which a box was packed with clothes and toys to be sent to Pine Ridge school for Christmas. It was decided to hold the next meeting on Dec. 9, and to have a six o'clock cover dish dinner at that time. The meeting will also be in the nature of a Christmas party, each member to bring a gift not exceeding fifty cents in prices. A social hour was enjoyed during which the hostesses served lunch.

Mrs. George Myers attended a luncheon given by Mrs. D. J. Sinclair at her home in North Fourth street, Steubenville.

Mrs. William Carson entertained with a twelve o'clock coverdish party at her home on West Market street, recently. The social affair was in the nature of a house warming for their new home just completed.

The rooms were decorated in keeping with approaching Thanksgiving season.

There were twenty guests present, consisting of relatives and guests residing in the city.

Mrs. Carson was presented with two silver electric candlesticks by her guests.

Homeworth

Former pupils and friends of the Fox school, Freeburg road, held a reunion Sunday at the school house with about 125 present. During the forenoon greetings were exchanged and at noon a picnic dinner was served. Homer Stoffer presided as chairman for the program given in the afternoon. Only four of the former teachers were able to be present at the reunion, namely B. F. Stuckey, Mrs. Rose Smith Steiner, Miss Bertha Anderson and Miss Lizzie Hillis. Short talks were given by the former teachers and a letter was also read from Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Cook of Cresline, former teachers unable to be present. Another former teacher, Harry R. Lee of Long Island, also sent a message. A reading was given by Miss Julia Sutton and impromptu talks by several of the former pupils assembled for the occasion. Clark Shidler of Live Oaks, California, was a special guest and others attending the reunion were from Alliance, Canton, Louisville, Sebring and Homeworth. It was decided to hold a reunion earlier in the fall next year at the school house. Mrs. Meda Culler, Mrs. Lena Hartman and Homer Shaffer composed the committee appointed to arrange for the event.

Keeping Millions Free From Colds and LaGrippe

W. H. Hill

W. H. HILL'S LIFE WORK

Colds cause more illness than any other human ailment. Realizing this 50 years ago, W. H. Hill determined to develop a quick-acting scientifically correct cold and la grippe remedy.

Years of research brought success. Mr. Hill discovered a most remarkable formula. He backed it with energy, faith, integrity and a name that meant "satisfaction or money back."

Today more than 4,000,000 families—one-fifth of America's population—use and recommend Hill's Cascara Bromide Quinine.

The formula has never been changed in a quarter century. What Hill's has done for millions, it can do for you. Demand red box bearing Mr. Hill's portrait. All druggists, 30 cents.

GOT RELIEF WITH VERY FIRST DOSE

Mr. Thomas W. Leffingwell

If you have been enduring the misery of stomach disorders, just follow the advice of Mr. Thomas W. Leffingwell, a farmer residing near Chesapeake, Ohio. He'll tell you how he overcame the ailments from which he had so long suffered. In an interview with a representative of the Ka-di-ok laboratories recently, he said:

"I had suffered from stomach disorders for a long time. I had dizzy spells and would get weak in the knees. I was unable to sleep nights and consequently got no rest. Beside that I got no enjoyment from eating as I had no appetite.

"I have taken six bottles of Ka-di-ok and I want to say it helped me right from the first dose. I am seventy-six years old and work every day and I can certainly notice the difference. I want to recommend Ka-di-ok to my friends as a splendid medicine."

Many people say they would not take a thousand dollars for the good that Ka-di-ok has done them. Some of the results following its use have appeared almost miraculous. Many who had given up in despair because of apparently hopeless ailments due to disorders of stomach, kidneys or liver obtained almost instant relief. If you suffer from loss of appetite, loss of weight, poor blood, insomnia, nervousness, rheumatism or a generally run down condition—try a bottle of Ka-di-ok at once. Don't delay.

COUNTY FARM AGENT TENDERS RESIGNATION TO COMMITTEE

County Agent Clarence E. Rowland presented his resignation at a meeting of the executive committee of the Columbiana County Farm bureau, held in the farm bureau offices in the Lisbon city building, Wednesday afternoon.

The action of Mr. Rowland was quite unexpected. His resignation is to become effective December 24. He will locate in Lorain county, with headquarters in Elyria, where he has taken the office as county agent for that county.

A meeting of the board of directors of the Columbiana County Farm bureau will be held later in the month for the purpose of securing a county agent to succeed Mr. Rowland. No intimation has been given who will be secured.

Clarence E. Rowland is a veteran of the World war, and volunteered while still a student in the Agricultural college of Ohio State university. The war ended, he returned to complete his work, and immediately entered farm bureau work. His record in this county, according to state records on file with the State Farm bureau, have not been excelled in any county in the state.

Mr. Rowland came to Columbiana county February 18, 1920, and in his first year of service in this county he increased the membership of the county bureau to 403 members. This enrollment increased from the one dollar contributing member to close to 1,300 three-year members at $10 per year.

Columbiana county has an area of 534 square miles, and it was the aim of Mr. Rowland in his years of service here to develop the different parts of the county according to the needs of that particular community. Through his suggestions the yield of all cereals has been increase, likewise the yield of potatoes.

Perhaps the most notable effort of Mr. Rowland was the going over the top in the tuberculin test.

Also through the efforts of Mr. Rowland there was shipped into this county this year 12,040 bushels of certified seed potatoes.

When Mr. Rowland became county agent the assets of the farm bureau was down to $34.29, and today th's has been increased to over $9,000. He has been successful in organizing three co-operative associations, the first at Columbiana, then at Kensington and later at Homeworth. An apple-grading plant was placed in operation at New Waterford, and over 15,000 bushels of apples will be graded and shipped from that plant this season under the "Buckeye Brand."

He has developed the use of certified wheat in this county, and today over 6,000 acres are sown in this wheat, which sells on the market at a higher price than any other variety. This brings a larger return to the grower.

There have been 79 poultry demonstrations held in this county since Mr. Rowland came into this county and 100 poultry houses and 75 brooder houses have been erected from plans furnished by the county agent. In addition, at the suggestion of Mr. Rowland over 500 acres of farm land have now been placed under the drainage system.

Another feature of the activity of Mr. Rowland has been in favor of the horticulturists, which refers to the elimination by the fruit growers o fthe use of 1-8-1 fertilizers, and the adoption of a fertilizer of a far better grade.

In entering the farm bureau work in Lorain county Mr. Rowland will enter a district that is vitally interested in dairying, truck gardening and horticulture.

It would create no surprise to those who know Mr. Rowland to learn of him being advanced to an important state position before another year ends.

TWO SUITS FILED HERE FOR DIVORCE

Sarah Kellner Muehlhauser had the care of a husband only two or three weeks after she was married to Fred William Muehlhauser, at Leetsdale, Pa., May 16, 1921, for on June 1, 1921, Muehlhauser left his wife, and she does not know where he is. It is for this reason that she seeks a divorce from her husband. The custody of one child, aged three years, is sought by the mother in this action.

Hazel P. Applegate has filed her petition for divorce from her husband, Wilbur D. Applegate. The couple were married October 11, 1916, and in July 1918, Applegate left his wife, and his whereabout are now unknown to her. Applegate was arrested for non-support on an affidavit filed by his wife, after which he paid her $20, but since then she has received nothing from him for her support.

HEWING OF TREES BRINGS PROTEST

Hewing of trees about the lawn of the Yearly meeting house of the Friends church at Damascus has caused a storm of protest to arise in that community, but now that the trees have been cut down there is nothing left to do.

During the last yearly meeting a committee was appointed to have the trees cut down. This work was done last week. It is proposed to grade the lawn.

People of Damascus liked the large locust trees. They admit this. They also liked the shade they gave in the summer season. Now all this is gone.

No one seems to know who conceived the idea of having the aged trees cut down.

TEN NAMES DRAWN FROM JURY WHEEL

Ten names were drawn from the jury wheel today and summons have been issued for these people to report for jury duty next Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock. Those who have been summoned are: John Levan and John Culp, Columbiana; J. E. Hartman, Wellsville; Etta Mellinger, Leetonia; J. F. Barnett, Beloit R. F. D.; Edwin S. Dean and George Reynolds, East Liverpool; W. J. Viers, Salem; M. A. Jackson and William E. Davidson, Kensington.

It is rather unusual that the name of only one woman has been drawn in this list, and that is Etta Mellinger. It is likely that several who are now serving as jurors will be excused at the week-end.

RULINGS HANDED DOWN BY COURT

By agreement, judgment for $116 has been entered in common pleas court in the case of George W. Runyon against John H. Smith, which is an appeal from a court of the justice of the peace filed Nov. 3, 1922. Judgment for costs has also been rendered in this action.

On the motion of Stanley Mills, the case he filed against John Caldwell has been dismissed at the cost of the plaintiff.

The court has granted leave to Samuel Berman to file his petition in the case wherein Mrs. M. Hoffritches is defendant, the time being set at Dec. 24. The case has been carried up on appeal from a lower court.

Settlement at the cost of the defendant has been recorded in the case of Barron G. Collier Inc. against Vance B. McBane and others which was an action in common pleas to recover a claim of $1,127.01.

Commissioners Meet.

A special meeting of the county commissioners was scheduled for Wednesday at which time the contract for stucco finishing the brick buildings about the County Home property was to be awarded. A former contract had been canceled after a Cleveland concern advanced the price of the stucco stone to $1.30 per ton after the salesman for the company had quoted a lower market.

W. H. Hill

W. H. HILL'S LIFE WORK

Colds cause more illness than any other human ailment. Realizing this 50 years ago, W. H. Hill determined to develop a quick-acting scientifically correct cold and la grippe remedy.

Years of research brought success. Mr. Hill discovered a most remarkable formula. He backed it with energy, faith, integrity and a name that meant "satisfaction or money back."

Today more than 4,000,000 families—one-fifth of America's population—use and recommend Hill's Cascara Bromide Quinine.

The formula has never been changed in a quarter century. What Hill's has done for millions, it can do for you. Demand red box bearing Mr. Hill's portrait. All druggists, 30 cents.

GOT RELIEF WITH VERY FIRST DOSE

Mr. Thomas W. Leffingwell

If you have been enduring the misery of stomach disorders, just follow the advice of Mr. Thomas W. Leffingwell, a farmer residing near Chesapeake, Ohio. He'll tell you how he overcame the ailments from which he had so long suffered. In an interview with a representative of the Ka-di-ok laboratories recently, he said:

"I had suffered from stomach disorders for a long time. I had dizzy spells and would get weak in the knees. I was unable to sleep nights and consequently got no rest. Beside that I got no enjoyment from eating as I had no appetite.

"I have taken six bottles of Ka-di-ok and I want to say it helped me right from the first dose. I am seventy-six years old and work every day and I can certainly notice the difference. I want to recommend Ka-di-ok to my friends as a splendid medicine."

Many people say they would not take a thousand dollars for the good that Ka-di-ok has done them. Some of the results following its use have appeared almost miraculous. Many who had given up in despair because of apparently hopeless ailments due to disorders of stomach, kidneys or liver obtained almost instant relief. If you suffer from loss of appetite, loss of weight, poor blood, insomnia, nervousness, rheumatism or a generally run down condition—try a bottle of Ka-di-ok at once. Don't delay.

Ka-di-ok can be obtained in East Liverpool at the Mathews Cut Rate Medicine Store, 129 West 6th St.

DR. W. E. BIEDERWOLF'S SERMON ON TUESDAY EVENING

Dr. Biederwolf, in his sermon Tuesday evening, said:

Text 2nd Chronicles 34:3. "While he was yet young he began to seek after God." Josiah was only eight years old when he was made king, but in the eight years of his reign, when he was sixteen, he made up his mind to serve God.

That's always the time to begin things—when you are young. You never saw a sign in a factory window that read, "Wanted 200 old people. The world has no use for you when you are old. When you get a few gray hairs you've got to begin to look around for a place to "head in." It's 23 for you. The world wants you when you are young. And so does God.

Youth is always the time to begin things. If a thing is worth doing, the quicker we get at it, the better. This is true of you as you think of becoming Christians, for two reasons:

1. It's easier to become a Christian while you are young. Not very many people become Christians after they are twenty-five.

2. The quicker you begin the richer will be your reward when the end is come. Youth is called the springtime of life—the time for the planting of the seed, and it is no mistake to say the harvest depends on the kind of seed planted. Old age is called the harvesting time of life, and "whatsoever you sow, that shall you also reap," and if your youth is full of mistakes, your old age, if God lets you live, will be nothing but a harvest of sorrow and regret. But this is not the whole truth. If it were the case would not be so hard. There is a harvesting time beyond this life and sitting here this evening looking out into your future, may God help you to realize that for every seed you sow you will reap a double harvest, one in time and one in eternity. What the harvest will be depends upon what choice you make now and every hour you live from this minute on will make you richer or poorer for eternity.

Rejoice In Youth.

"Rejoice in thy youth and let the heart cheer thee in the days of thy youth; walk in the sight of thine own eyes and in the ways of thine own heart, but know thou that for all these things. God will bring thee into judgment."

It seems to me that this ought to be reason enough in itself to persuade every one of us to begin right, to follow Josiah's example and to seek after God while we are young. But I am going to ask you to listen to a few of the other brief reasons why we ought to become Christians now and seek after God while we are young.

First. Because the Christian life is the only manly or womanly kind of life to lead. The best that any young man or young woman can be without Jesus Christ is only a caricature of what true manhood or womanhood really is.

Really, my young friends, no matter what you may think of yourself if you are not a Christian you are not much. It's no credit, young man; it's no credit, young woman, to live like you live—just drifting along with the current of the world; having a good time; doing about as you please. Any sort of a man, any sort of a woman can live that kind of life. A dead fish can go down stream, but it takes a live one to go up.

Lack Moral Courage.

I have numbers confess that they lacked the moral courage to take their stand for Christ. The mere fact that it requires courage proves that it takes a manly man and a womanly woman to be a Christian and that's the person all the world respects.

You never heard of any young person who ever lost the respect either of themselves or of anybody else by becoming a Christian, but a man thinks infinitely more of himself and is thought infinitely more of by others because he is a Christian.

"When Garfield was a boy at Williams College, one evening with some of his companions he climbed up to the top of old Greylock mountains wheer they were going to spend the night. They built their campfire, sat about it and sang their college songs and told their college jokes and when it came time to sleep young Garfield pulled a little Bible out of his pocket and said, "Boys," I promised mother when I came to school that wherever I was I would always read a little in his book and pray before I went to sleep, and if you don't care I'll do it now."

Although there were only a couple other Christians in the group, they all listened respectfully and reverently bowed their heads while the young hero prayed to his mother's God. That's the kind of a young man and that would be the kind of a young woman this world admires—a young man or young woman who believes something, who has principles and convictions and isn't ashamed of them at any time or in any place.

The second reason why we ought to seek God while we are young is, because

The Real Worth of Life.

The Christian life is the happiest kind of a life to live. You never heard any one who had made a faithful effort to serve Christ say it was an unhappy life to live. You may have heard some one who never tried it libel it by calling it gloomy and hard, but if two old men stood on this platform now, one who had been a faithful Christian all his life and the other who had been an unbeliever all his life, and they are to tell you which had the best life, I know what they would say as they looked back over the past now gone forever and as they looked out into the long unending eternity just about to begin for them both. I know what they'd say; and so do you. Indeed they would not have to speak at all. Their very countenance would tell the story.

There are some people who are gloomy by nature but never by grace, and the only thing that ever did bring sunlight into the gloom of their lives is their Christianity, and that sunlight always increases in proportion to a well developed Christian character.

We hear a great deal about our gloomy religious grandparents, but we've got mistaken notions about them. I guess they were a little strict, but possibly we've become a little lax. Anyhow I have heard of a little boy who lived in those days and who was sitting on the barnyard fence petting the old cow. As Whitey laid her nose on his knee, he stroked her face a while and after a moment said, "Poor Whitey," I guess she must be a Christian, causes she's got a long face too, as if to become a Christian meant anything like that, as if we were always to go about as though we had just come from a funeral.

The Happiest Person.

To be a Christian means to be the HAPPIEST KIND OF A PERSON, and instead of drawing your face up and down in a perpendicular direction it will pull it out the other way and your life will be all joy. "I've only been a Christian twenty-four hours," said a man past forty, "but I've had more real joy in those twenty-four hours than in all the past forty years of my life in sin.

When David had wandered away from God, what did he say, "Restore unto me the gloom of thy salvation? No! he didn't say that. Did he say, "Restore unto me the sorrow of the salvation?" No. he didn't say that. He said, "Restore unto me the JOY of thy salvation.

The Bible says, "The way of the transgressor is hard," and it sure enough is.

I wish I had time to tell you why I know it is the happy life. Some years ago two young men stood on a street corner in a western town and one of them said to the other. "Dan, don't you think it's time we were changing our lives and commencing the Christian life?" A revival was going on and the young men had been concerned about themselves, but the other said, "Oh, no; there's no hurry; we are young yet," but the first one said. "We have lived 18 years without God, and now it seems to me there ought to be a change." "Well, you may do as you please, but I am going to have a good time while I am young." Those two men separated there, and about a year after that time I picked up the county newspaper from that place and read these words: "Dan—has gone over the road to the northern penitentiary to answer for the crime of highway robbery." The other man is standing before you now—a Christian saved and kept by the grace and power of God, and as I think of what my life might have been without Christ, I would just like to lift my hand for Him and bear witness that it has paid me a million times and that is the only way to know what real happiness is.

The Grateful Life.

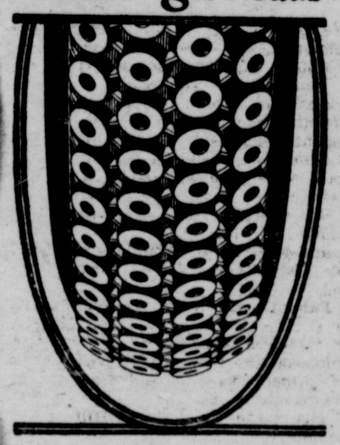

Third. It is the only grateful kind of a life to live.

I have heard of an old mother who was by no means what you would call a handsome woman, but she had a heart within her that she knew how to love and she almost wore her fingers away on the washboard that she might save enough money to send her only boy off to college and keep him there. He graduated and became quite a successful physician in Philadelphia. He sent his mother some money quite often for a while as well as wrote her every week. This lasted for a number of months and then the dear old woman was forced to wait with aching heart for fourteen long months without a word or missive of any kind from the one she loved and for whom she had almost worn out her life. At last she gathered a few things together and went down to the city and late in the evening knocked at the door of her son's handsome home. He had some fashionable company that night and in his embarrassment he told the maid who called him to the door to make ready a room upstairs for an old servant that had come for a while.

He did not expect to hear it but she did. It could not have hurt her worse if he had taken a keen steel blade and plunged in into her warm, loving heart. I don't know which would have been the baser act. Late in the night she came down into his room and could you have been there to see you would have seen a trembling form with bent shoulders and white head kneeling at the foot of her boy's bed. What she said and what she felt only she herself and God knows, but after a while she arose nad went out into the night. In the morning she was missed and could not be found, but late in the afternoon a message called him to the hospital —anold woman had been run over in the street and wa sdying. With a fearful presentiment he took his instruments and hastened away. The nurse met him at the door and said, "You're too late." "May I see the woman," he said. "Certainly," was the reply and she took him t othe side of a motionless, lifeless corpse, and as he looked down upon it he looked into the face of his own dear old mother. This time she did not speak for death had forever stilled the beating of her warm, loving heart. I know what you are thinking and what you are saying: "Shame on a young man who will treat his mother like that!" But do you know what I think of it? I think that young man's act was nobility it-

Dr. Biederwolf, in his sermon Tuesday evening, said:

Text 2nd Chronicles 34:3. "While he was yet young he began to seek after God." Josiah was only eight years old when he was made king, but in the eight years of his reign, when he was sixteen, he made up his mind to serve God.

That's always the time to begin things—when you are young. You never saw a sign in a factory window that read, "Wanted 200 old people. The world has no use for you when you are old. When you get a few gray hairs you've got to begin to look around for a place to "head in." It's 23 for you. The world wants you when you are young. And so does God.

Youth is always the time to begin things. If a thing is worth doing, the quicker we get at it, the better. This is true of you as you think of becoming Christians, for two reasons:

1. It's easier to become a Christian while you are young. Not very many people become Christians after they are twenty-five.

2. The quicker you begin the richer will be your reward when the end is come. Youth is called the springtime of life—the time for the planting of the seed, and it is no mistake to say the harvest depends on the kind of seed planted. Old age is called the harvesting time of life, and "whatsoever you sow, that shall you also reap," and if your youth is full of mistakes, your old age, if God lets you live, will be nothing but a harvest of sorrow and regret. But this is not the whole truth. If it were the case would not be so hard. There is a harvesting time beyond this life and sitting here this evening looking out into your future, may God help you to realize that for every seed you sow you will reap a double harvest, one in time and one in eternity. What the harvest will be depends upon what choice you make now and every hour you live from this minute on will make you richer or poorer for eternity.

Rejoice In Youth.

"Rejoice in thy youth and let the heart cheer thee in the days of thy youth; walk in the sight of thine own eyes and in the ways of thine own heart, but know thou that for all these things. God will bring thee into judgment."

It seems to me that this ought to be reason enough in itself to persuade every one of us to begin right, to follow Josiah's example and to seek after God while we are young. But I am going to ask you to listen to a few of the other brief reasons why we ought to become Christians now and seek after God while we are young.

First. Because the Christian life is the only manly or womanly kind of life to lead. The best that any young man or young woman can be without Jesus Christ is only a caricature of what true manhood or womanhood really is.

Really, my young friends, no matter what you may think of yourself if you are not a Christian you are not much. It's no credit, young man; it's no credit, young woman, to live like you live—just drifting along with the current of the world; having a good time; doing about as you please. Any sort of a man, any sort of a woman can live that kind of life. A dead fish can go down stream, but it takes a live one to go up.

Lack Moral Courage.

I have numbers confess that they lacked the moral courage to take their stand for Christ. The mere fact that it requires courage proves that it takes a manly man and a womanly woman to be a Christian and that's the person all the world respects.

You never heard of any young person who ever lost the respect either of themselves or of anybody else by becoming a Christian, but a man thinks infinitely more of himself and is thought infinitely more of by others because he is a Christian.

"When Garfield was a boy at Williams College, one evening with some of his companions he climbed up to the top of old Greylock mountains wheer they were going to spend the night. They built their campfire, sat about it and sang their college songs and told their college jokes and when it came time to sleep young Garfield pulled a little Bible out of his pocket and said, "Boys," I promised mother when I came to school that wherever I was I would always read a little in his book and pray before I went to sleep, and if you don't care I'll do it now."

Although there were only a couple other Christians in the group, they all listened respectfully and reverently bowed their heads while the young hero prayed to his mother's God. That's the kind of a young man and that would be the kind of a young woman this world admires—a young man or young woman who believes something, who has principles and convictions and isn't ashamed of them at any time or in any place.

The second reason why we ought to seek God while we are young is, because

The Real Worth of Life.

The Christian life is the happiest kind of a life to live. You never heard any one who had made a faithful effort to serve Christ say it was an unhappy life to live. You may have heard some one who never tried it libel it by calling it gloomy and hard, but if two old men stood on this platform now, one who had been a faithful Christian all his life and the other who had been an unbeliever all his life, and they are to tell you which had the best life, I know what they would say as they looked back over the past now gone forever and as they looked out into the long unending eternity just about to begin for them both. I know what they'd say; and so do you. Indeed they would not have to speak at all. Their very countenance would tell the story.

There are some people who are gloomy by nature but never by grace, and the only thing that ever did bring sunlight into the gloom of their lives is their Christianity, and that sunlight always increases in proportion to a well developed Christian character.

We hear a great deal about our gloomy religious grandparents, but we've got mistaken notions about them. I guess they were a little strict, but possibly we've become a little lax. Anyhow I have heard of a little boy who lived in those days and who was sitting on the barnyard fence petting the old cow. As Whitey laid her nose on his knee, he stroked her face a while and after a moment said, "Poor Whitey," I guess she must be a Christian, causes she's got a long face too, as if to become a Christian meant anything like that, as if we were always to go about as though we had just come from a funeral.

The Happiest Person.

To be a Christian means to be the HAPPIEST KIND OF A PERSON, and instead of drawing your face up and down in a perpendicular direction it will pull it out the other way and your life will be all joy. "I've only been a Christian twenty-four hours," said a man past forty, "but I've had more real joy in those twenty-four hours than in all the past forty years of my life in sin.

When David had wandered away from God, what did he say, "Restore unto me the gloom of thy salvation? No! he didn't say that. Did he say, "Restore unto me the sorrow of the salvation?" No. he didn't say that. He said, "Restore unto me the JOY of thy salvation.

The Bible says, "The way of the transgressor is hard," and it sure enough is.

I wish I had time to tell you why I know it is the happy life. Some years ago two young men stood on a street corner in a western town and one of them said to the other. "Dan, don't you think it's time we were changing our lives and commencing the Christian life?" A revival was going on and the young men had been concerned about themselves, but the other said, "Oh, no; there's no hurry; we are young yet," but the first one said. "We have lived 18 years without God, and now it seems to me there ought to be a change." "Well, you may do as you please, but I am going to have a good time while I am young." Those two men separated there, and about a year after that time I picked up the county newspaper from that place and read these words: "Dan—has gone over the road to the northern penitentiary to answer for the crime of highway robbery." The other man is standing before you now—a Christian saved and kept by the grace and power of God, and as I think of what my life might have been without Christ, I would just like to lift my hand for Him and bear witness that it has paid me a million times and that is the only way to know what real happiness is.

The Grateful Life.

Third. It is the only grateful kind of a life to live.

I have heard of an old mother who was by no means what you would call a handsome woman, but she had a heart within her that she knew how to love and she almost wore her fingers away on the washboard that she might save enough money to send her only boy off to college and keep him there. He graduated and became quite a successful physician in Philadelphia. He sent his mother some money quite often for a while as well as wrote her every week. This lasted for a number of months and then the dear old woman was forced to wait with aching heart for fourteen long months without a word or missive of any kind from the one she loved and for whom she had almost worn out her life. At last she gathered a few things together and went down to the city and late in the evening knocked at the door of her son's handsome home. He had some fashionable company that night and in his embarrassment he told the maid who called him to the door to make ready a room upstairs for an old servant that had come for a while.

He did not expect to hear it but she did. It could not have hurt her worse if he had taken a keen steel blade and plunged in into her warm, loving heart. I don't know which would have been the baser act. Late in the night she came down into his room and could you have been there to see you would have seen a trembling form with bent shoulders and white head kneeling at the foot of her boy's bed. What she said and what she felt only she herself and God knows, but after a while she arose nad went out into the night. Q. What volcanoes are active in Italy at the present time? O. O. L.

A. Vesuvius is the only active volcano on the mainland of Italy at the present time, although eruptions have occurred in the Alban Hills within historical times. The great cone of Mt. Etna is located in Sicily, and Stromboli dominates the Lipari Islands. Both of these are active volcanos.

Q. What is a jetty? P. M. C.

A. A jetty is an embankment which extends into a lake or ocean for the purpose of controlling the sand drift that would otherwise shoal up a channel or encroach on the shore. Jetties are usually built of large broken stone, or timberwork; concrete blocks, etc., can be used.

Q. What does "Ultima Thuls" mean? F. V. R.

A. "Thule" which means Norway was the most distant land known to the Romans. The adjective "ultima" means "utmost." United, the two words ultimately came to mean "the extreme end."

Q. Can you give me any figures which indicate the popularity of "Evangeline?" C. G.

A. Thirty-seven thousand copies of the poem were sold in the first ten years following its publication. The poem has been translated into ten languages.

Q. Who was the first poet laureate chosen by any state in the Union? M. V.

A. Ina Coolbrith of California. Her appointment to the laureateship was ratified by the state legislature.

Q. I find reference to a "syllabub." Please explain this term. S. M.

A. "Syllabub" was a dish made by mixing ale, cider or wine with cream or milk, so soft as to form a curd. This mixture was sweetened with rose water or lemon juice.

Q. How long ago was the term "coffee house" first used in this country? W. S. T.

A. The Widow Robert's Coffee House is the first one to which reference is found. The notice appeared in 1745.

Q. When did the Empress Eugenie die? W. O. H.

A. The ex-Empress Eugenie of France died on July 12, 1920.

Q. Is it true that Atlanta, Georgia, has two other names? G. A. E.

A. In 1837, Terminus was the name; it was then changed to Marthasville in 1843 and finally to Atlanta in 1845.

Makes a Family Supply of Cough Remedy

Really better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves about $2. Easily and quickly prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

Men - Money - Machinery

ONLY nine other motor car makers did as large a business as Paige-Jewett in 1924.

Some forty thousand Paige and Jewett cars were made and sold in the past twelve months.

Forty-three million odd dollars was the total volume of business of all kinds.

And the Company's total assets are more than $15,000,000.

A new mammoth plant—the most modern in the industry—and new machinery and equipment now give facilities unsurpassed.

An organization whose principal executives have remained unchanged since the beginning of the business sixteen years ago assures knowledge and experience second to none.

NEWS NOTES FROM MOVIELAND

BY DAISY DEAN

Our "glorious Gloria" is sojourning abroad—in Paris, to be exact—making what we fully expect will be her most ambitious effort to date, and her first costume picture, the Parmamount screen version of Sardou's "Madame Sans Gene."

"If "Madame" will excuse the digression, we will remark in passing that it was rumored quite some time ago that the public were tired of the costume play and that this typo of picture was "going out." Since that time "The Sea Hawk," "Captain Blood," "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall," "Barbara Frietchie," "Monsieur Beaucaire," "Beau Brummel" and many other period pictures have been made and the public has flocked to see them.

"Madame Sans Gene" is one of the most colorful of the stories of the Napoleonic period in French history and should make a fitting vehicle for the rapidly developing Swanson talent. The French government is said to be co-operating with the producers in the making of this production.

Gloria Swanson is one of the screen actresses who had no stage experience. She was born in Chicago and educated there, and commenced her career with the old Essany Picture Co. She has been a bathing beauty on the Sennet lot, and played for Universal, Keystone, Triangle and Famous Players.

She has been called the "best dressed woman on the screen," and she can wear gorgeous clothes well, but for a time the public were a little inclined to look upon her as a glorified clothes horse. Gloria has proved, however, that her histronic talents are genuine and her work as the little street gamin in "The Humming Bird," made her critics open their eyes.

You will remember her in "The Affairs of Aanatol," "Her Gilded Cage," "My American Wife," "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife," and "Zaza." Her late pictures include "Wages of Virtue," "The Humming Bird," "Manhandled" and "Her Love Story." When "Madame Sans Gene" is finished she will be starred in "The Coast of Folly," many of the scenes of which will be likewise filmed in France.

Gloria is charming socially and is fond of riding, painting and music.

Some time ago we announced that Julanne Johnston had sailed for Constantinople to make a picture or some scenes for one. Now we learn that while she intended to go to Turkey at that time she was prevented by internal trouble there. She went to Berlin instead and there saw the opening of "Garragon," in which she played the lead, and also the opening of "The Thief of Bagdad" in which she was Doug. Fairbanks' leading lady. She expects to go to Constantinople shortly to make scenes for "The City of Temptation."

In playing the role of "Maxine" in "The Dancers" Alma Rubens is reviving a talent she has not employed for some time. She was a dancer on the legitimate stage before getting into screen work and in this picture Alma is featured in several big scenes as an exponent of the terpischorean art. George O'Brien plays opposite Miss Rubens.

Mae Busch has been engaged to play the lead in Schulberg's next Preferred picture, "The Triflers." It is an adaptation of Frederick O. Bartlett's novel. Mae will wear eighteen different costumes in the course of the picture whose scenes take place in Paris, and some of her frocks are said to be gorgeous.

Harry Grindell Mathews' famous "death rate" is to be the basis of a dramatic photoplay to be released soon by Pathe.

self with the way some of your are treating the loving Son of God who gave the last drop of blood He had to redeem you from your sin, and some of you are sitting here in the house of God to night and you haven't even thanked Him for it. Shame! You would not treat an earthly friend in a way like that, and I say you ought to begin the Christian life now because it's the only grateful kind of a life to live.

Fourth. It's the life of best influence. You say you do not have much influence, but you do, and every day you live you've been helping your associates toward heaven or toward hell.

One of the saddest letters that ever came to me was from a young woman in Louisville, Ky., who had given herself to Christ during the meetings and she wrote saying that before she was a Christian herself she had influenced several of her companions against taking the stand which she herself had taken, and five of them, she said, have died and gone out of the world without faith and without hope, and, as she expressed it, she was haunted almost to desperation with the though of what she had done.

Daughter, listen! It would not be so bad for you to go to hell alone, but the sad part of it is that you are taking others with you. And it may be that in ten years from now or some time in the future you will come to yourself and say it's time for me to be a Christian, and you ll step over the line and be saved, but some of the girls you are encouraging now in their indifference and their worldliness and their sin will not find it so easy to throw off their old life and while you step back and are saved they'll go on and on and on until they'll be without hope and without God forever, and they'll go down to hell because you didn't help them in the day when you could, but encouraged them to ruin and to hell. I have known young women, members of the church, to allow themselves to be so influenced by the young men with whom they associate until their lives have lost all the beauty of Christian character, and I know young men who are lost and ruined today who might be earnest Christian young men if they only had the help and the influence of sweet, modest, strong-charactered young women instead of the thoughtless, giddy young woman who'd rather have than to be the pure, strong girl you might be.

I shall never forget the influence of my own Godly sister on my life. Her pure, sweet life was itself an inspiration, but I did not appreciate it, and when I was still in sin she pleaded with me to give my heart to Christ. I did not do it until she had passed into the skies, and how many times since that, as I have knelt by her grave, since I took her Savior to be mine, have I thanked God for the influence of a Godly sister. And what would I not give to have her with me now, to let her know how much I now appreciate the life she lived, but which then I did not understand. Sister, what about your influence over your brother, and what about yours, young man, over those who know you best?

The Safe Life.

5. Because it is the only Life.

A friend of mine told me that he was called upon to read the burial service of the church over the remains of one of the Godliest women he had ever known. There were three children—two boys and a girl. One of the boys was a prodigal. They sent him a telegram saying his mother was sick and for him to hurry home. He reached Philadelphia the day after his mother died. The day of the funeral the undertaker said, "Those who wish to look may do so." Friends came first, and then the husband came. He looked into the coffin, slid back the lid and kissed her and said, "Good bye, mother; You made life so happy, it will be dark without you. Good bye for a little while." Then the daughter came and leaning over she kised her mother and said, "Farewell, mother, but thank God not forever; we will meet again in the morning." The boy that stayed at home came and said, "Well mother, good bye; but we will all meet again in the Resurrection. It is only for a little time." The one who was the prodigal and who had wandered away stood leaning against the wall and his arms folded and his eyes dry. His sister walked over, slipped her arm about him and kissed him and said, "Ed, don't you want to look at mother?" And she led him to the coffin. He looked a moment and the fountains of the deep broke up. He fell over the coffin and sobbed. His sister kissed him and said, "Don't feel so sad about it, Ed; you know we are all going to see mother again." My friend said that the young man raised the saddest face he had ever looked upon and said, "No, I am not going that way." Two days later they found his body in the sewer.

I do not know what more I can say, but because it is the only manly and womanly life; because it is the only happy life; because it is the only grateful life; because it is the life of best influence and because it is the only safe life, I want to know if you will not choose this life for your self tonight.

PERSONAL LETTER TO UNHAPPY WOMEN

Do you ever get up in the morning heavy eyes, a little dizzy, without appetite for breakfast, and feeling cross and irritable? Has it ever occurred to you that your faithful body is taking that means of telling you something is wrong? Instead of taking it out on your husband and the family, wouldn't it be better to figure out just what is the matter and get rid of it? Some place in your system something isn't working right, and as a result your blood is not free from the toxins of fatigue. Maybe the day before was too strenuous—maybe you were idle all day. Either one will cause the trouble. Now what is wrong? Probably to start with some of your food has not digested and is fermenting. That couldn't happen if your liver was discharging the right kind of bile. But the walls of your digestive tract may be absorbing some of this fermentation, and your kidneys have too much to go to get all the poison out of your blood. Now is the time to send to the drug store for that old reliable remedy, World's Tonic. A few doses will clear away the waste and set the liver working right. Then it will soothe and stimulate the kidneys. In a few days you will wake up happy, and hubby and the kids will have an easier time of it. Try it and see. World's Tonic is sold by Carnahan's, 114 East Sixth street, East End, and C. N. Brannon's, Wellsville, drug store and all other reliable druggists.

When Stomach "Rebels"

Instantly! End Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn, Acidity

Correct your digestion and quiet your rebellious stomach by eating a few tablets of Pape's Diapepsin—anytime! Nothing else known relieves the distress of Indigestion, Gases, Heartburn, Flatulence, Bloating or Acidity so promptly—besides, the relief is pleasant and harmless.

Millions know the magic of "Pape's Diapepsin" and always keep it handy to reinforce the digestion, should they eat too much or eat something which does not agree with them. 60 cent packages guaranteed by druggists everywhere.

self with the way some of your are treating the loving Son of God who gave the last drop of blood He had to redeem you from your sin, and some of you are sitting here in the house of God to night and you haven't even thanked Him for it. Shame! You would not treat an earthly friend in a way like that, and I say you ought to begin the Christian life now because it's the only grateful kind of a life to live.

Fourth. It's the life of best influence. You say you do not have much influence, but you do, and every day you live you've been helping your associates toward heaven or toward hell.

One of the saddest letters that ever came to me was from a young woman in Louisville, Ky., who had given herself to Christ during the meetings and she wrote saying that before she was a Christian herself she had influenced several of her companions against taking the stand which she herself had taken, and five of them, she said, have died and gone out of the world without faith and without hope, and, as she expressed it, she was haunted almost to desperation with the though of what she had done.

Daughter, listen! It would not be so bad for you to go to hell alone, but the sad part of it is that you are taking others with you. And it may be that in ten years from now or some time in the future you will come to yourself and say it's time for me to be a Christian, and you ll step over the line and be saved, but some of the girls you are encouraging now in their indifference and their worldliness and their sin will not find it so easy to throw off their old life and while you step back and are saved they'll go on and on and on until they'll be without hope and without God forever, and they'll go down to hell because you didn't help them in the day when you could, but encouraged them to ruin and to hell. I have known young women, members of the church, to allow themselves to be so influenced by the young men with whom they associate until their lives have lost all the beauty of Christian character, and I know young men who are lost and ruined today who might be earnest Christian young men if they only had the help and the influence of sweet, modest, strong-charactered young women instead of the thoughtless, giddy young woman who'd rather have than to be the pure, strong girl you might be.

I shall never forget the influence of my own Godly sister on my life. Her pure, sweet life was itself an inspiration, but I did not appreciate it, and when I was still in sin she pleaded with me to give my heart to Christ. I did not do it until she had passed into the skies, and how many times since that, as I have knelt by her grave, since I took her Savior to be mine, have I thanked God for the influence of a Godly sister. And what would I not give to have her with me now, to let her know how much I now appreciate the life she lived, but which then I did not understand. Sister, what about your influence over your brother, and what about yours, young man, over those who know you best?

The Safe Life.

5. Because it is the only Life.

A friend of mine told me that he was called upon to read the burial service of the church over the remains of one of the Godliest women he had ever known. There were three children—two boys and a girl. One of the boys was a prodigal. They sent him a telegram saying his mother was sick and for him to hurry home. He reached Philadelphia the day after his mother died. The day of the funeral the undertaker said, "Those who wish to look may do so." Friends came first, and then the husband came. He looked into the coffin, slid back the lid and kissed her and said, "Good bye, mother; You made life so happy, it will be dark without you. Good bye for a little while." Then the daughter came and leaning over she kised her mother and said, "Farewell, mother, but thank God not forever; we will meet again in the morning." The boy that stayed at home came and said, "Well mother, good bye; but we will all meet again in the Resurrection. It is only for a little time." The one who was the prodigal and who had wandered away stood leaning against the wall and his arms folded and his eyes dry. His sister walked over, slipped her arm about him and kissed him and said, "Ed, don't you want to look at mother?" And she led him to the coffin. He looked a moment and the fountains of the deep broke up. He fell over the coffin and sobbed. His sister kissed him and said, "Don't feel so sad about it, Ed; you know we are all going to see mother again." My friend said that the young man raised the saddest face he had ever looked upon and said, "No, I am not going that way." Two days later they found his body in the sewer.

I do not know what more I can say, but because it is the only manly and womanly life; because it is the only happy life; because it is the only grateful life; because it is the life of best influence and because it is the only safe life, I want to know if you will not choose this life for your self tonight.

PERSONAL LETTER TO UNHAPPY WOMEN

Do you ever get up in the morning heavy eyes, a little dizzy, without appetite for breakfast, and feeling cross and irritable? Has it ever occurred to you that your faithful body is taking that means of telling you something is wrong? Instead of taking it out on your husband and the family, wouldn't it be better to figure out just what is the matter and get rid of it? Some place in your system something isn't working right, and as a result your blood is not free from the toxins of fatigue. Maybe the day before was too strenuous—maybe you were idle all day. Either one will cause the trouble. Now what is wrong? Probably to start with some of your food has not digested and is fermenting. That couldn't happen if your liver was discharging the right kind of bile. But the walls of your digestive tract may be absorbing some of this fermentation, and your kidneys have too much to go to get all the poison out of your blood. Now is the time to send to the drug store for that old reliable remedy, World's Tonic. A few doses will clear away the waste and set the liver working right. Then it will soothe and stimulate the kidneys. In a few days you will wake up happy, and hubby and the kids will have an easier time of it. Try it and see. World's Tonic is sold by Carnahan's, 114 East Sixth street, East End, and C. N. Brannon's, Wellsville, drug store and all other reliable druggists.

Answers to Questions

By FREDERICK J. HASKIN.

(Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing The Review-Tribune Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The Bureau can not give advice on legal, medical and financial matters. It does not attempt to settled domestic troubles, nor undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.)

Q. Are the deserts of northern Africa policed in any way? B. G.

A. The whole of the great Egyptian desert is now under the supervision of the famous "Camel Corps," which is officered by the British.

Q. Where is there a big Negro insurance company? K. R.

A. The largest Negro insurance company in the world, the North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance company, was organized and now has its headquarters in Durham, N. C.

Q. What volcanoes are active in Italy at the present time? O. O. L.

A. Vesuvius is the only active volcano on the mainland of Italy at the present time, although eruptions have occurred in the Alban Hills within historical times. The great cone of Mt. Etna is located in Sicily, and Stromboli dominates the Lipari Islands. Both of these are active volcanos.

Q. What is a jetty? P. M. C.

A. A jetty is an embankment which extends into a lake or ocean for the purpose of controlling the sand drift that would otherwise shoal up a channel or encroach on the shore. Jetties are usually built of large broken stone, or timberwork; concrete blocks, etc., can be used.

Q. What does "Ultima Thuls" mean? F. V. R.

A. "Thule" which means Norway was the most distant land known to the Romans. The adjective "ultima" means "utmost." United, the two words ultimately came to mean "the extreme end."

Q. Can you give me any figures which indicate the popularity of "Evangeline?" C. G.

A. Thirty-seven thousand copies of the poem were sold in the first ten years following its publication. The poem has been translated into ten languages.

Q. Who was the first poet laureate chosen by any state in the Union? M. V.

A. Ina Coolbrith of California. Her appointment to the laureateship was ratified by the state legislature.

Q. I find reference to a "syllabub." Please explain this term. S. M.

A. "Syllabub" was a dish made by mixing ale, cider or wine with cream or milk, so soft as to form a curd. This mixture was sweetened with rose water or lemon juice.

Q. How long ago was the term "coffee house" first used in this country? W. S. T.

A. The Widow Robert's Coffee House is the first one to which reference is found. The notice appeared in 1745.

Q. When did the Empress Eugenie die? W. O. H.

A. The ex-Empress Eugenie of France died on July 12, 1920.

Q. Is it true that Atlanta, Georgia, has two other names? G. A. E.

A. In 1837, Terminus was the name; it was then changed to Marthasville in 1843 and finally to Atlanta in 1845.

Nearly 24,000 women are employed by railways in Great Britain.

Makes a Family Supply of Cough Remedy

Really better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves about $2. Easily and quickly prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead o serious lung trouble. You can stop them ow with Creomulsion, an emulsified creoote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion s a new medical discovery with twofold acion; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

NEWS NOTES FROM MOVIELAND

BY DAISY DEAN

Our "glorious Gloria" is sojourning abroad—in Paris, to be exact—making what we fully expect will be her most ambitious effort to date, and her first costume picture, the Parramount screen version of Sardou's "Madame Sans Gene."

"If "Madame" will excuse the digression, we will remark in passing that it was rumored quite some time ago that the public were tired of the costume play and that this type of picture was "going out." Since that time "The Sea Hawk," "Captain Blood," "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall," "Barbara Frietchie," "Monsieur Beaucaire," "Beau Brummel" and many other period pictures have been made and the public has flocked to see them.

"Madame Sans Gene" is one of the most colorful of the stories of the Napoleonic period in French history and should make a fitting vehicle for the rapidly developing Swanson talent. The French government is said to be co-operating with the producers in the making of this production.

Gloria Swanson is one of the screen actresses who had no stage experience. She was born in Chicago and educated there, and commenced her career with the old Essany Picture Co. She has been a bathing beauty on the Sennet lot, and played for Universal, Keystone, Triangle and Famous Players.

She has been called the "best dressed woman on the screen," and she can wear gorgeous clothes well, but for a time the public were a little inclined to look upon her as a glorified clothes horse. Gloria has proved, however, that her histronic talents are genuine and her work as the little street gamin in "The Humming Bird," made her critics open their eyes.

You will remember her in "The Affairs of Aanatol," "Her Gilded Cage," "My American Wife," "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife," and "Zaza." Her late pictures include "Wages of Virtue," "The Humming Bird," "Manhandled" and "Her Love Story." When "Madame Sans Gene" is finished she will be starred in "The Coast of Folly," many of the scenes of which will be likewise filmed in France.

Gloria is charming socially and is fond of riding, painting and music.

Some time ago we announced that Julanne Johnston had sailed for Constantinople to make a picture or some scenes for one. Now we learn that while she intended to go to Turkey at that time she was prevented by internal trouble there. She went to Berlin instead and there saw the opening of "Garragon," in which she played the lead, and also the opening of "The Thief of Bagdad" in which she was Doug. Fairbanks' leading lady. She expects to go to Constantinople shortly to make scenes for "The City of Temptation."

In playing the role of "Maxine" in "The Dancers" Alma Rubens is reviving a talent she has not employed for some time. She was a dancer on the legitimate stage before getting into screen work and in this picture Alma is featured in several big scenes as an exponent of the terpischorean art. George O'Brien plays opposite Miss Rubens.

Mae Busch has been engaged to play the lead in Schulberg's next Preferred picture, "The Triflers." It is an adaptation of Frederick O. Bartlett's novel. Mae will wear eighteen different costumes in the course of the picture whose scenes take place in Paris, and some of her frocks are said to be gorgeous.

Harry Grindell Mathews' famous "death rate" is to be the basis of a dramatic photoplay to be released soon by Pathe.

self with the way some of your are treating the loving Son of God who gave the last drop of blood He had to redeem you from your sin, and some of you are sitting here in the house of God to night and you haven't even thanked Him for it. Shame! You would not treat an earthly friend in a way like that, and I say you ought to begin the Christian life now because it's the only grateful kind of a life to live.

Fourth. It's the life of best influence. You say you do not have much influence, but you do, and every day you live you've been helping your associates toward heaven or toward hell.

One of the saddest letters that ever came to me was from a young woman in Louisville, Ky., who had given herself to Christ during the meetings and she wrote saying that before she was a Christian herself she had influenced several of her companions against taking the stand which she herself had taken, and five of them, she said, have died and gone out of the world without faith and without hope, and, as she expressed it, she was haunted almost to desperation with the though of what she had done.

Daughter, listen! It would not be so bad for you to go to hell alone, but the sad part of it is that you are taking others with you. And it may be that in ten years from now or some time in the future you will come to yourself and say it's time for me to be a Christian, and you ll step over the line and be saved, but some of the girls you are encouraging now in their indifference and their worldliness and their sin will not find it so easy to throw off their old life and while you step back and are saved they'll go on and on and on until they'll be without hope and without God forever, and they'll go down to hell because you didn't help them in the day when you could, but encouraged them to ruin and to hell. I have known young women, members of the church, to allow themselves to be so influenced by the young men with whom they associate until their lives have lost all the beauty of Christian character, and I know young men who are lost and ruined today who might be earnest Christian young men if they only had the help and the influence of sweet, modest, strong-charactered young women instead of the thoughtless, giddy young woman who'd rather have

I shall never forget the influence of my own Godly sister on my life. Her pure, sweet life was itself an inspiration, but I did not appreciate it, and when I was still in sin she pleaded with me to give my heart to Christ. I did not do it until she had passed into the skies, and how many times since that, as I have knelt by her grave, since I took her Savior to be mine, have I thanked God for the influence of a Godly sister. And what would I not give to have her with me now, to let her know how much I now appreciate the life she lived, but which then I did not understand. Sister, what about your influence over your brother, and what about yours, young man, over those who know you best?

The Safe Life.

5. Because it is the only Life.

A friend of mine told me that he was called upon to read the burial service of the church over the remains of one of the Godliest women he had ever known. There were three children—two boys and a girl. One of the boys was a prodigal. They sent him a telegram saying his mother was sick and for him to hurry home. He reached Philadelphia the day after his mother died. The day of the funeral the undertaker said, "Those who wish to look may do so." Friends came first, and then the husband came. He looked into the coffin, slid back the lid and kissed her and said, "Good bye, mother; You made life so happy, it will be dark without you. Good bye for a little while." Then the daughter came and leaning over she kised her mother and said, "Farewell, mother, but thank God not forever; we will meet again in the morning." The boy that stayed at home came and said, "Well mother, good bye; but we will all meet again in the Resurrection. It is only for a little time." The one who was the prodigal and who had wandered away stood leaning against the wall and his arms folded and his eyes dry. His sister walked over, slipped her arm about him and kissed him and said, "Ed, don't you want to look at mother?" And she led him to the coffin. He looked a moment and the fountains of the deep broke up. He fell over the coffin and sobbed. His sister kissed him and said, "Don't feel so sad about it, Ed; you know we are all going to see mother again." My friend said that the young man raised the saddest face he had ever looked upon and said, "No, I am not going that way." Two days later they found his body in the sewer.

I do not know what more I can say, but because it is the only manly and womanly life; because it is the only happy life; because it is the only grateful life; because it is the life of best influence and because it is the only safe life, I want to know if you will not choose this life for your self tonight.

THE DOUBLE HOUSE

By Elizabeth Dejeans

The defense had made evident their line of defense; that they would endeavor to show that some other agent than the defendant had committed the murder; also that the defendant had been in no way cognizant of the provisions of Amos Proctor's will, or had any knowledge of Amos Proctor's illness and death.

Dascome's testimony was lengthy and very complete; he was as skilful in framing his answers as his counsel was in putting his questions. Dascome deposed, in substance, that, for several years, it had been his conviction that his wife was irresponsible at times; that such was the belief of Amos Proctor, and, in support of his statement, the defense introduced several letters which Dascome had received from Amos Proctor in which were the following expressions:

"I think, John, that the only explanation for Elaine's conduct is that she is irresponsible. I fear, as you do, that it may continue to grow on her. It is a sad thought to a father who remembers her as one of the sweetest and most biddable of children. She was so, John—a good child. But, as she grew older, such a change! She is like that old sweet self still, at times. You do right to be patient, my boy—there may be a change for the better."

In another letter:

"I realize what Elaine is doing to Clarice, fostering in the child the same erratic, lawless spirit as her own. I do not wonder that your patience is almost exhausted. I have considered the whole situation, and it may be necessary for us to place Elaine in a sanitarium, but such a step would be a horror to me. And it would have a terrible effect upon Clarice, besides being forever a stigma on the child. Elaine is not dangerous. All we could adduce is her trying temper and this fixed idea that you want to take Clarice away from her. If we separate her from her child, I am afraid that she will go violently insane."

Another letter:

"Since talking with Doctor Semple, I know that I have only a short time to live. I shall have to leave the problem of Elaine to you, John. I have every confidence in you. My advice is to endure as long as you can, try in every way to keep Elaine to the normal. If it proves an impossibility, then do what you think is the wisest for Elaine, for Clarice, and for yourself. Of this I am convinced, Clarice will turn to you in time, for the child has a firmer character and more intelligence than poor Elaine ever had. I realize that I am making you a sad bequest. I thank you for your long forbearance."

Dascome deposed that all that had been said about his wife's violent temper was true. He declared that never, on any occasion, had he threatened to take Clarice away from her mother, also that never, in all his experience with his wife, had she said to him, or had she shown by her manner to him, that she feared bodily harm from him. He denied emphatically Mrs. Ormsby's and Meta Thail's statements to the contrary. He said that the only time he had spoken threateningly to his wife was the occasion when she left his house, and that then he had spoken with all the sternness at his command, hoping to restrain her from taking a step which would be a terrible shock to her father.

Dascome stated that after a night of consideration he had decided to follow an entirely different course and see whether it would remove from his wife's mind the fixed idea which seemed the cause of her unaccountable conduct. That he went then direct to his wife's apartment at the hotel so as to secure an interview. Then he had told her that he had decided to give up all claim on Clarice and, if she so willed, that he would not see Clarice until the child was of age; that he told his wife that he would leave her free to take Clarice and live wherever she chose. In return, he asked her to arrange her life for a time in a way that would not distress her father; that she knew her father could not live long. That to this his wife had agreed.

Dascome stated that his wife had listened thoughtfully to what he had said. He had asked her whether she had sent any message to her father, and she told him that she had not done so, otherwise he would have communicated with Mr. Proctor at once. He said that his complete relinquishment of Clarice seemed to have a curious effect on his wife; that she seemed indifferent about the matter over which she had contended so long, that she seemed without incentive; that when Mrs. Ormsby telephoned that Clarice had fled to her, his wife had shown no excitement and had answered Mrs. Ormsby briefly and indifferently. Dascome said that his wife had spoken of taking Clarice with her to Crisomby Lakes, but, to his surprise, when Mrs. Ormsby said that Clarice was with her, Mrs. Dascome had asked Mrs. Ormsby to keep Clarice for a while. Also that he was surprised when his wife said that she did not want to keep Meta Thail any longer, and asked him to discharge the woman and tell her to go at once.

Dascome stated that he had complied with this wish as he had with every wish his wife had made. She wanted to go to Criscomby at once and asked him to make the arrangements and take her there. Their understanding was that he would leave her at Crisomby, then go on to Proctorville, as he had an appointment with Herbert Colt in Proctorville on the seventh. His wife had agreed that would be best for him to see Mr. Proctor then and explain matters to him in a way that would not shock him.

Dascome said that from the moment he had told his wife that he gave up all claim to Clarice, she was listless and apparently indifferent; that her manner was curious, not like her usual self. He said that, after their arrival, he did not see her until lunch time on April the sixth, and then she asked him to take her out on the lake, and it was understood that he must return in time to get the afternoon train to Proctorville. He said that his wife asked him to row to the lower end of the lake and, as she seemed preoccupied, they rowed for the most part in silence; that he asked no questions and made no comments, for he was determined that she should feel that he relinquished every claim; that she must decide her own future.

"I realize what Elaine is doing to Clarice, fostering in the child the same erratic, lawless spirit as her own. I do not wonder that your patience is almost exhausted. I have considered the whole situation, and it may be necessary for us to place Elaine in a sanitarium, but such a step would be a horror to me. And it would have a terrible effect upon Clarice, besides being forever a stigma on the child. Elaine is not dangerous. All we could adduce is her trying temper and this fixed idea that you want to take Clarice away from her. If we separate her from her child, I am afraid that she will go violently insane."

Another letter:

"Since talking with Doctor Semple, I know that I have only a short time to live. I shall have to leave the problem of Elaine to you, John. I have every confidence in you. My advice is to endure as long as you can, try in every way to keep Elaine to the normal. If it proves an impossibility, then do what you think is the wisest for Elaine, for Clarice, and for yourself. Of this I am convinced, Clarice will turn to you in time, for the child has a firmer character and more intelligence than poor Elaine ever had. I realize that I am making you a sad bequest. I thank you for your long forbearance."

Dascome deposed that all that had been said about his wife's violent temper was true. He declared that never, on any occasion, had he threatened to take Clarice away from her mother, also that never, in all his experience with his wife, had she said to him, or had she shown by her manner to him, that she feared bodily harm from him. He denied emphatically Mrs. Ormsby's and Meta Thail's statements to the contrary. He said that the only time he had spoken threateningly to his wife was the occasion when she left his house, and that then he had spoken with all the sternness at his command, hoping to restrain her from taking a step which would be a terrible shock to her father.

Dascome stated that after a night of consideration he had decided to follow an entirely different course and see whether it would remove from his wife's mind the fixed idea which seemed the cause of her unaccountable conduct. That he went then direct to his wife's apartment at the hotel so as to secure an interview. Then he had told her that he had decided to give up all claim on Clarice and, if she so willed, that he would not see Clarice until the child was of age; that he told his wife that he would leave her free to take Clarice and live wherever she chose. In return, he asked her to arrange her life for a time in a way that would not distress her father; that she knew her father could not live long. That to this his wife had agreed.

Dascome stated that his wife had listened thoughtfully to what he had said. He had asked her whether she had sent any message to her father, and she told him that she had not done so, otherwise he would have communicated with Mr. Proctor at once. He said that his complete relinquishment of Clarice seemed to have a curious effect on his wife; that she seemed indifferent about the matter over which she had contended so long, that she seemed without incentive; that when Mrs. Ormsby telephoned that Clarice had fled to her, his wife had shown no excitement and had answered Mrs. Ormsby briefly and indifferently. Dascome said that his wife had spoken of taking Clarice with her to Crisomby Lakes, but, to his surprise, when Mrs. Ormsby said that Clarice was with her, Mrs. Dascome had asked Mrs. Ormsby to keep Clarice for a while. Also that he was surprised when his wife said that she did not want to keep Meta Thail any longer, and asked him to discharge the woman and tell her to go at once.

Dascome stated that he had complied with this wish as he had with every wish his wife had made. She wanted to go to Criscomby at once and asked him to make the arrangements and take her there. Their understanding was that he would leave her at Crisomby, then go on to Proctorville, as he had an appointment with Herbert Colt in Proctorville on the seventh. His wife had agreed that would be best for him to see Mr. Proctor then and explain matters to him in a way that would not shock him.

Dascome said that from the moment he had told his wife that he gave up all claim to Clarice, she was listless and apparently indifferent; that her manner was curious, not like her usual self. He said that, after their arrival, he did not see her until lunch time on April the sixth, and then she asked him to take her out on the lake, and it was understood that he must return in time to get the afternoon train to Proctorville. He said that his wife asked him to row to the lower end of the lake and, as she seemed preoccupied, they rowed for the most part in silence; that he asked no questions and made no comments, for he was determined that she should feel that he relinquished every claim; that she must decide her own future.

The defense had made evident their line of defense; that they would endeavor to show that some other agent than the defendant had committed the murder; also that the defendant had been in no way cognizant of the provisions of Amos Proctor's will, or had any knowledge of Amos Proctor's illness and death.

Dascome's testimony was lengthy and very complete; he was as skilful in framing his answers as his counsel was in putting his questions. Dascome deposed, in substance, that, for several years, it had been his conviction that his wife was irresponsible at times; that such was the belief of Amos Proctor, and, in support of his statement, the defense introduced several letters which Dascome had received from Amos Proctor in which were the following expressions:

"I think, John, that the only explanation for Elaine's conduct is that she is irresponsible. I fear, as you do, that it may continue to grow on her. It is a sad thought to a father who remembers her as one of the sweetest and most biddable of children. She was so, John—a good child. But, as she grew older, such a change! She is like that old sweet self still, at times. You do right to be patient, my boy—there may be a change for the better."

In another letter:

"I realize what Elaine is doing to Clarice, fostering in the child the same erratic, lawless spirit as her own. I do not wonder that your patience is almost exhausted. I have considered the whole situation, and it may be necessary for us to place Elaine in a sanitarium, but such a step would be a horror to me. And it would have a terrible effect upon Clarice, besides being forever a stigma on the child. Elaine is not dangerous. Highs Ready For Clash With Westinghouse Tech Tomorrow

Visiting Gridders Will Possess Big Weight Advantage

Figures Show an Average of 10 Pounds' Difference in the Two Lines and 15 Pounds in the Backfields; Aerial Play, With McConville, McKee and Howard the Principal Performers, Probably Will be Utilized by Boonemen.

Outweighed by something like 10 pounds to the man on the line and approximately 15 pounds on an aver-age in the backfield, the East Liverpool high school squad that plays the Westinghouse Tech eleven tomorrow afternoon at Patterson Field will find a man-sized job on its hands. The figures are submitted by Coach O.V. Boone of the Blue and White and the mentor of the Tech gridders.

The Techites will have a line, in weight at least although the amount of avoirdupois that a man carries doesn't prove his ability, by a long shot. But assuming that tomorrow's visitors are as good as the average, the extra weight should certainly prove a distinct advantage.

Take the left side of the Tech forward line. End Hill is a 155-pounder, Tackle Flesher tips the beam at 150 and Guard Nelson makes the scales stop at 165. Compared with the right side of the East Liverpool line, these two factions being pitted aginst each other in actual battle, and find Guard Horger at 142 pounds, Tackle Liebschner, 157, and End Howard at 152.

If Larkins starts at center, as he probably will, he will be out-weighed by Pendro, the Tech center, by 150 to 136. But if Robinson takes his place, he will more than equalize matters as Robinson weighs in at 162.

The real heavyweights of the Westinghouse line, and squad, for that matter, will be doing their stuff on the right side of the line. Here we find Guard Weinend, 170 pounds; Tackle Mapes 175 pounds and End Horwath, who, with his 135 pounds, is the pigmy of the team. Opposed to this incongruous trio will be End McKee, who holds his own at 135 pounds; Tackle Bough, who can boast but 154 pounds; and Guard Perry who makes but 150. And if Bennett should replace Bough at tackle, he can bring but 149 pounds into the game.

A difference of approximately 15 pounds in backfield strength, coupled with the preponderance of Tech weight on the line may mean an East Liverpool aerial attack. The quarterbacks are even, with McConville and his rival, Africa, making 140 pounds.

The halves, Householder and Reibel, weigh 143 and 130, respectively, while the Tech ball toters, Kaeris and Magsdar, make 160 and 155, respectively. If Stockdale, with his 139 pounds, and Schaffer, with his 136, are substituted for Householder and Reibel, there still will be the same contrast.

English, fullback, will give away 17 pounds to the Tech full, or the difference between 148 pounds and 165 pounds.

With the sort of backfield that Tech possesses—a fullback at 165 pounds and halves at 160 and 155, the East Liverpool line may reasonably expect some battering tomorrow afternoon at Patterson field.

The Blue and White squad will receive its final instructions today. Actual drill work will be light and no scrimmage at all. If the Westinghouse players' heft is accompanied by natural ability, there is hardly any question but that Boone's lads will step into the face of a heavy barrage and the locals, consequently, will have to preserve every ounce of strength for the battle.

If the weather man is at all gracious and permits Patterson Field gridiron conditions to revert to some semblance of dryness, the Blue and White eleven should have a chance, and a fairly good one, at that. In that event, the burden of work undoubtedly will rest with Quarter McConville and his mighty heaving wing and Ends Howard and McKee. It appears that these three lads have a job cut out for them.

Tomorrow's clash will start at 2:30 o'clock, and, as a result, local gridders will have to wait until 6 for their turkey dinners.

CHAMPS SCORE 273 POINTS

Leetonia Holds Foes to 18 in Nine Games.

In games up to and including that of November 22, with Hubbard, Leetonia scholastic gridders, champions of Columbiana county, have scored 273 points against their opponents, held the latter to 18 points, exactly three touchdowns, and won every game on the list.

The three most difficult foes on the Leetonia list were East Liverpool, Wellsville and Salem. The champions nosed out the Salem eleven by a margin of one point and defeated East Liverpool and Wellsville teams by one touchdown margins.

Leetonia 13, Ex-Highs 6.
Leetonia 24, Lisbon 6.
Leetonia 78, Salineville 0.
Leetonia 7, Salem 6.
Leetonia 53, Columbiana 0.
Leetonia 37, East Palestine 0.
Leetonia 7, Wellsville 0.
Leetonia 6, East Liverpool 0.
Leetonia 48, Hubbard 0.

WOOSTER CLOSES WITH MT. UNION

WOOSTER, Nov. 26.—Wooster College will close a fairly successful football season by playing the annual Thanksgiving game with Mount Union at Alliance. This game closes one of the hardest schedules a Wooster team has ever had to play. Ten games were on the book. Eight were with Ohio Conference teams, one with Ashland and one with Ohio State.

Wooster won five of the seven Conference games played. The victories were over Otterbein, Cincinnati, Miami, Denison, and Reserve. Games were lost to Case and Akron. The Ashland game for the season's opener was also won and the peak of the season's play was the 7 to 7 tie with Ohio State.

Wooster's team this season has not played a consistent brand of football. In the Denison game last Saturday, which Wooster won 3 to 0, the defense of the Wooster team was up to par but the team did not show its full strength on the attack. In the game with Ohio State, the team showed its strength in the second half. Cincinnati, Reserve and Miami battles showed some of the famous drive for which the Boles coached eleven have become famous.

Wooster faces a strong eleven in Mt. Union. The Alliance crew is a strong forward passing crew and in Armstrong has one of the best punters in the conference.

This game will be the last one for eleven members of the Wooster squad. Six of the men are regulars. Material to replace these men who will be lost by graduation is not overly good.

ZEV, MAD HATTER RETIRED TO STUD

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Zev, champion three year old of the 1923 racing season and Mad Hatter, one of the best handicap horses in training, have been retired to stud, according to statements credited today to Sam Hildreth, trainer of the thoroughbreds for Harry Sinclair. Zev is the greatest money winner in the history of the turf and successfully defended America's honor against the invasion of Papyrus, English champion, in the International match race last year. He had an indifferent season in 1924, however.

Mad Hatter, now 8 years old, was prevented by his temperatment from being one of the great thoroughbreds of modern times, in the opinion of many.

PARELLI WINS HAS-BBEEN TITLE

DUBUQUE, Iowa, Nov. 26.—Joseph Parelli, Chicago, former middleweight wrestling champion, was being hailed as a has-been today, following his defeat last night by Heinie Engel, of Dubuque.

Engel took the first fall in 21½ minutes with a double wrist lock and head sciasors. Parelli won the second in 42 minutes with a reverse wrist lock but succumbed to a combination head and wrist lock in one minute 15 seconds for the third fall.

LAUGHLIN GRID TEAM AT EMPIRE

The Laughlin eleven will leave the city at 1 o'clock. The game at Empire will start at 2:30 o'clock. It will be probably the last game of the season for the potters.

HOW TEAMS COMPARE IN WEIGHT

Hill	155	Left End	McKee	135
Nelson	165	Left Guard	Perry	150
Pendro	150	Center	Larkins	136
Weinend	170	Right Guard	Horger	142
Mapes	175	Right Tackle	Leibschner	157
Howarth	135	Right End	Howard	152
Africa	140	Quarter	McConville	140
Kaeris	160	Left Half	Householder	143
Magsdar	155	Right Half	Reibel	130
Conable	165	Fullback	English	148

Mountaineers Hoping For Colgate Form

MORGANTOWN, Nov. 26.—If the West Virginia eleven can come up to its Colgate standard — a thing most unlikely with all matters considered—then followers of the Mountaineers are willing to take their chances with such a great eleven as Washington and Jefferson will put on the field tomorrow, but if a game such as was displayed against Pitt or Centre, or even Washington and Lee is served up, then the Presidents may establish a new high record for scoring on the Mountaineers.

As a matter of fact, on their records to date, Wash-Jeff and West Virginia are as evenly matched as two football teams could be. Each eleven has lost one game and won seven. W. & J. has the advantage of a victory over Pitt, a team that beat West Virginia, but on the other hand the Mountaineers scored more than three times as many points against Bethany and Geneva than the Presidents did and "neutral" in this section of the country are tossing coins to see which team they favor for victory Thursday.

Usually one team or the other is a top-heavy favorite for this annual Turkey day encounter. For instance, in 1920 Carl Beck and his mates were picked to beat the much-defeated W. & J. team 20 points; 1921 when "Greasy" Neale's team was a certain winner from the beginning; 1922 when the undefeated Spears outfit was a strong favorite and in 1923 when there was nothing to it in the advance dope but the Mountaineers. The fact that the 1920 game, as well as that in 1923, went absoltely contrary to predictions is not pertinent to the present argument. But, there can be no "upset" on Thursday unless, of course, the game should be won by either team by a one-sided score. Just to keep in line with the unexpected that has accompanied former West Virginia-W. & J. games a one-sided score will probably be run up, but nobody can say or is attempting to predict at this time which eleven will be on the short end. This year's game is the most even proposition that West Virginia and W. & J. have presented in a decade.

West Virginia, by a victory, has the opportunity to excel its 1923 record which shows seven victories, one defeat and a 13-13 tie in a schedule that presented just about the same difficulties as those on this year's card. The Mountaineers can scarcely equal the 1922 record, depsite the 12-12 tie with Washington & Lee, as that was the first time in 33 years of football that West Virginia presented an undefeated team.

To most Mountaineer fans the past ten years has been a separate and distinct period in West Virginia football history and a perusal of the record with Wash-Jeff in that space of time shows seven games played between the two teams—the Presidents winning four and the Mountaineers three. All these games have been exceptional. W. & J. won here 6-0 in 1915; West Virginia won at Fairmont 7-0 and by the same score here in 1919; in 1920 the Presidents won 28-0 at Washington and repeated the dose 13-0 here in 1921; West Virginia won 14-0 in 1922, but no Mountaineer fan can fail to recall the 7-2 W. & J. victory a year ago.

Big Ten Coaches Hurry East to See Penn-Cornell Game

Stagg, Zuppke and Thistlethwait Expect to Sit in on Foremost of the Concluding Big Contests of 1924 Campaign Tomorrow.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26—Eminent Coroners of the gridiron will hold what amounts to an inquest over Pennsylvania football at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, tomorrow, when Alonzo Stagg, of Chicago, and Bob Zuppke, of Illinois, assisted by Glen Thistlethwait, of Northwestern, will view the Penn-Cornell proceedings in their best post-mortem manner.

Rumors from the middle west have it that the three Big Ten coaches are speeding East to the game and we see no reason to doubt them.

Stagg and Zuppke, will want to see what manner of team has the colossal temerity to attempt to swallow Yale next year, using Chicago and Illinois as a chaser.

Frankly, they will be there to see what Pennsylvania has, if anything. Neither of them esteem Eastern football very highly but the writer feels that they are due for a revision of attitude. The writer expects Pennsylvania to beat Cornell in a more or less convincing manner tomorrow.

Barring the Alabama-Georgia clash for the honor and glory of the South, the Penn-Cornell game takes precedence over all others on the Holiday schedule. And when the slanting rays of a waning sun purple with the shadows of evening, Collegiate football for the season of 1925 will have all but expired. There remain only the Army-Navy game and the affair between Carnegie Tech and Notre Dame on Saturday to conclude the campaign, the former meaning nothing in particular and the latter only Notre Dame's final chance to lose a football game. The Middle West and Coast having spoken their pieces, the stage is now cleared for the curtainbow, which the East, South and Central West must make. A victory for Pennsylvania would place it along with Yale and Dartmouth at the Pinnacle of Eastern football. A defeat will rate it along with Syracuse, provided the Orange disposes of Columbia at the Polo grounds tomorrow.

The Alabama-Georgia game will decide the outcome of the Southern Conference but by no means will determine the southern champion, which will be something of a figure this year, in view of Vanderbilt's decision over Minnesota.

The annual Penn State-Pittsburgh game has lost caste because of defeats sustained by both teams, although they are much proved outfits right now. State should win.

Quite a bit of action is due for the Missour Valley when Kansas meets Missouri and Oklahoma takes on the Kansas Aggies.

Inter-sectional games of distinction and no distinction at all are down for a decision. The Florida-Drake meeting at Gainesville should furnish quite an afternoon, both having first class teams. But Marquette probably will indulge in a cross-country run through Vermont. The latter all season has been an eastern doormat with the welcome worn to a faint blur.

MAY UNCOVER NEW LIGHTWEIGHT STAR

NEW YORK, Nov. 26. — Madison Square Garden is prepared to handle the greatest crowd of the present indoor season tonight when Sid Terris, lightweight product of the same East Side quarter that produced Benny Leonard, will meet Luis Vicentini, Chilean contender, in a 12-round bout, to an official decision. The survivor is regarded as a certainty to meet Leonard for the title, and Benny, not wishing to overlook a bet, will be a ringside spectator in order to get a line on the pair.

The betting favored Terris because of his speed and cleverness, but short end players were active in Vincentini's behalf, offering odds of 1 to 4 that the Chilean would win by a knockout.

TWO CONTESTS IN VOLLEY LOOP

GREYS BOOK FREMONT A. A.

Pittsburghers Take Place of Red Men, Who Cancel.

Instead of the Cleveland Red Men, who were booked originally, the East Liverpool Greys will take on the Fremont A. A. of Pittsburgh, tomorrow morning at Patterson Field, according to announcement this morning by Manager George Cochran.

Over the telephone, officials of the Cleveland organization last night informed Manager Cochran that to organize a complete squad and do the matter full justice, was a physical impossibility, as a result of injuries, and the game was cancelled.

Cochran immediately got in touch with the Fremont eleven and after a long discussion finally booked the club. The Fremonts are one of the leading lightweight elevens of the Pittsburgh district and should give the Greys a hard game.

The Greys drilled far into the darkness last evening and as a result possess many new formations for the Thanksgiving clash, which will start promptly at 10 o'clock.

Visiting Gridders Will Possess Big Weight Advantage

The halves, Householder and Reibel, weigh 143 and 130, respectively, while the Tech ball toters, Kaeris and Magsdar, make 160 and 155, respectively. If Stockdale, with his 139 pounds, and Schaffer, with his 136, are substituted for Householder and Reibel, there still will be the same contrast.

English, fullback, will give away 17 pounds to the Tech full, or the difference between 148 pounds and 165 pounds.

With the sort of backfield that Tech possesses—a fullback at 165 pounds and halves at 160 and 155, the East Liverpool line may reasonably expect some battering tomorrow afternoon at Patterson field.

The Blue and White squad will receive its final instructions today. Actual drill work will be light and no scrimmage at all. If the Westinghouse players' heft is accompanied by natural ability, there is hardly any question but that Boone's lads will step into the face of a heavy barrage and the locals, consequently, will have to preserve every ounce of strength for the battle.

If the weather man is at all gracious and permits Patterson Field gridiron conditions to revert to some semblance of dryness, the Blue and White eleven should have a chance, and a fairly good one, at that. In that event, the burden of work undoubtedly will rest with Quarter McConville and his mighty heaving wing and Ends Howard and McKee. It appears that these three lads have a job cut out for them.

Tomorrow's clash will start at 2:30 o'clock, and, as a result, local gridders will have to wait until 6 for their turkey dinners.

Leetonia Holds Foes to 18 in Nine Games.

In games up to and including that of November 22, with Hubbard, Leetonia scholastic gridders, champions of Columbiana county, have scored 273 points against their opponents, held the latter to 18 points, exactly three touchdowns, and won every game on the list.

The three most difficult foes on the Leetonia list were East Liverpool, Wellsville and Salem. The champions nosed out the Salem eleven by a margin of one point and defeated East Liverpool and Wellsville teams by one touchdown margins.

Here is the Leetonia record:
Leetonia 13, Ex-Highs 6.
Leetonia 24, Lisbon 6.
Leetonia 78, Salineville 0.
Leetonia 7, Salem 6.
Leetonia 53, Columbiana 0.

WOOSTER CLOSES WITH MT. UNION

WOOSTER, Nov. 26.—Wooster College will close a fairly successful football season by playing the annual Thanksgiving game with Mount Union at Alliance. This game closes one of the hardest schedules a Wooster team has ever had to play. Ten games were on the book. Eight were with Ohio Conference teams, one with Ashland and one with Ohio State.

Wooster won five of the seven Conference games played. The victories were over Otterbein, Cincinnati, Miami, Denison, and Reserve. Games were lost to Case and Akron. The Ashland game for the season's opener was also won and the peak of the season's play was the 7 to 7 tie with Ohio State.

Wooster's team this season has not played a consistent brand of football. In the Denison game last Saturday, which Wooster won 3 to 0, the defense of the Wooster team was up to par but the team did not show its full strength on the attack. In the game with Ohio State, the team showed its strength in the second half. Cincinnati, Reserve and Miami battles showed some of the famous drive for which the Boles coached eleven have become famous.

Wooster faces a strong eleven in Mt. Union. The Alliance crew is a strong forward passing crew and in Armstrong has one of the best punters in the conference.

This game will be the last one for eleven members of the Wooster squad. Six of the men are regulars. Material to replace these men who will be lost by graduation is not overly good.

ZEV, MAD HATTER RETIRED TO STUD

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Zev, champion three year old of the 1923 racing season and Mad Hatter, one of the best handicap horses in training, have been retired to stud, according to statements credited today to Sam Hildreth, trainer of the thoroughbreds for Harry Sinclair. Zev is the greatest money winner in the history of the turf and successfully defended America's honor against the invasion of Papyrus, English champion, in the International match race last year. He had an indifferent season in 1924, however.

Mad Hatter, now 8 years old, was prevented by his temperatment from being one of the great thoroughbreds of modern times, in the opinion of many.

PARELLI WINS HAS-BBEEN TITLE

DUBUQUE, Iowa, Nov. 26.—Joseph Parelli, Chicago, former middleweight wrestling champion, was being hailed as a has-been today, following his defeat last night by Heinie Engel, of Dubuque.

Engel took the first fall in 21½ minutes with a double wrist lock and head scissors. Parelli won the second in 42 minutes with a reverse wrist lock but succumbed to a combination head and wrist lock in one minute 15 seconds for the third fall.

LAUGHLIN GRID TEAM AT EMPIRE

Manager Joe Dickey of the Laughlin football squad today announced negotiations have been completed with representatives of the Empire independent grid squad for a game at Empire tomorrow afternoon.

The Laughlin eleven will leave the city at 1 o'clock. The game at Empire will start at 2:30 o'clock. It will be probably the last game of the season for the potters.

GREYS BOOK FREMONT A. A.

Instead of the Cleveland Red Men, who were booked originally, the East Liverpool Greys will take on the Fremont A. A. of Pittsburgh, tomorrow morning at Patterson Field, according to announcement this morning by Manager George Cochran.

Over the telephone, officials of the Cleveland organization last night informed Manager Cochran that to organize a complete squad and do the matter full justice, was a physical impossibility, as a result of injuries, and the game was cancelled.

Cochran immediately got in touch with the Fremont eleven and after a long discussion finally booked the club. The Fremonts are one of the leading lightweight elevens of the Pittsburgh district and should give the Greys a hard game.

The Greys drilled far into the darkness last evening and as a result possess many new formations for the Thanksgiving clash, which will start promptly at 10 o'clock.

Mountaineers Hoping For Colgate Form

MORGANTOWN, Nov. 26.—If the West Virginia eleven can come up to its Colgate standard — a thing most unlikely with all matters considered—then followers of the Mountaineers are willing to take their chances with such a great eleven as Washington and Jefferson will put on the field tomorrow, but if a game such as was displayed against Pitt or Centre, or even Washington and Lee is served up, then the Presidents may establish a new high record for scoring on the Mountaineers.

As a matter of fact, on their records to date, Wash-Jeff and West Virginia are as evenly matched as two football teams could be. Each eleven has lost one game and won seven. W. & J. has the advantage of a victory over Pitt, a team that beat West Virginia, but on the other hand the Mountaineers scored more than three times as many points against Bethany and Geneva than the Presidents did and "neutral" in this section of the country are tossing coins to see which team they favor for victory Thursday.

Usually one team or the other is a top-heavy favorite for this annual Turkey day encounter. For instance, in 1920 Carl Beck and his mates were picked to beat the much-defeated W. & J. team 20 points; 1921 when "Greasy" Neale's team was a certain winner from the beginning; 1922 when the undefeated Spears outfit was a strong favorite and in 1923 when there was nothing to it in the advance dope but the Mountaineers. The fact that the 1920 game, as well as that in 1923, went absolutely contrary to predictions is not pertinent to the present argument. But, there can be no "upset" on Thursday unless, of course, the game should be won by either team by a one-sided score. Just to keep in line with the unexpected that has accompanied former West Virginia-W. & J. games a one-sided score will probably be run up, but nobody can say or is attempting to predict at this time which eleven will be on the short end. This year's game is the most even proposition that West Virginia and W. & J. have presented in a decade.

West Virginia, by a victory, has the opportunity to excel its 1923 record which shows seven victories, one defeat and a 13-13 tie in a schedule that presented just about the same difficulties as those on this year's card. The Mountaineers can scarcely equal the 1922 record, depsite the 12-12 tie with Washington & Lee, as that was the first time in 33 years of football that West Virginia presented an undefeated team.

To most Mountaineer fans the past ten years has been a separate and distinct period in West Virginia football history and a perusal of the record with Wash-Jeff in that space of time shows seven games played between the two teams—the Presidents winning four and the Mountaineers three. All these games have been exceptional. W. & J. won here 6-0 in 1915; West Virginia won at Fairmont 7-0 and by the same score here in 1919; in 1920 the Presidents won 28-0 at Washington and repeated the dose 13-0 here in 1921; West Virginia won 14-0 in 1922, but no Mountaineer fan can fail to recall the 7-2 W. & J. victory a year ago.

So much uncertainty attends Thursday's clash that there is little betting reported.

Big Ten Coaches Hurry East to See Penn-Cornell Game

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26—Eminent Coroners of the gridiron will hold what amounts to an inquest over Pennsylvania football at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, tomorrow, when Alonzo Stagg, of Chicago, and Bob Zuppke, of Illinois, assisted by Glen Thistlethwait, of Northwestern, will view the Penn-Cornell proceedings in their best post-mortem manner.

Rumors from the middle west have it that the three Big Ten coaches are speeding East to the game and we see no reason to doubt them.

Stagg and Zuppke, will want to see what manner of team has the colossal temerity to attempt to swallow Yale next year, using Chicago and Illinois as a chaser.

Frankly, they will be there to see what Pennsylvania has, if anything. Neither of them esteem Eastern football very highly but the writer feels that they are due for a revision of attitude. The writer expects Pennsylvania to beat Cornell in a more or less convincing manner tomorrow.

Barring the Alabama-Georgia clash for the honor and glory of the South, the Penn-Cornell game takes precedence over all others on the Holiday schedule. And when the slanting rays of a waning sun purple with the shadows of evening, Collegiate football for the season of 1925 will have all but expired. There remain only the Army-Navy game and the affair between Carnegie Tech and Notre Dame on Saturday to conclude the campaign, the former meaning nothing in particular and the latter only Notre Dame's final chance to lose a football game. The Middle West and Coast having spoken their pieces, the stage is now cleared for the curtain-bow, which the East, South and Central West must make. A victory for Pennsylvania would place it along with Yale and Dartmouth at the Pinnacle of Eastern football. A defeat will rate it along with Syracuse, provided the Orange disposes of Columbia at the Polo grounds tomorrow.

The Alabama-Georgia game will decide the outcome of the Southern Conference but by no means will determine the southern champion, which will be something of a figure this year, in view of Vanderbilt's decision over Minnesota.

The annual Penn State-Pittsburgh game has lost caste because of defeats sustained by both teams, although they are much proved outfits right now. State should win.

Quite a bit of action is due for the Missour Valley when Kansas meets Missouri and Oklahoma takes on the Kansas Aggies.

Inter-sectional games of distinction and no distinction at all are down for a decision. The Florida-Drake meeting at Gainesville should furnish quite an afternoon, both having first class teams. But Marquette probably will indulge in a cross-country run through Vermont. The latter all season has been an eastern doormat with the welcome worn to a faint blur.

MAY UNCOVER NEW LIGHTWEIGHT STAR

NEW YORK, Nov. 26. — Madison Square Garden is prepared to handle the greatest crowd of the present indoor season tonight when Sid Terris, lightweight product of the same East Side quarter that produced Benny Leonard, will meet Luis Vicentini, Chilean contender, in a 12-round bout, to an official decision. The survivor is regarded as a certainty to meet Leonard for the title, and Benny, not wishing to overlook a bet, will be a ringside spectator in order to get a line on the pair.

The betting favored Terris because of his speed and cleverness, but short end players were active in Vicentini's behalf, offering odds of 1 to 4 that the Chilean would win by a knockout.

Highs Ready For Clash With Westinghouse Tech Tomorrow

Figures Show an Average of 10 Pounds' Difference in the Two Lines and 15 Pounds in the Backfields; Aerial Play, With McConville, McKee and Howard the Principal Performers, Probably Will be Utilized by Boonemen.

Outweighed by something like 10 pounds to the man on the line and approximately 15 pounds on an aver-age in the backfield, the East Liverpool high school squad that plays the Westinghouse Tech eleven tomorrow afternoon at Patterson Field will find a man-sized job on its hands. The figures are submitted by Coach O.V. Boone of the Blue and White and the mentor of the Tech gridders.

The Techites will have a line, in weight at least although the amount of avoirdupois that a man carries doesn't prove his ability, by a long shot. But assuming that tomorrow's visitors are as good as the average, the extra weight should certainly prove a distinct advantage.

Take the left side of the Tech forward line. End Hill is a 155-pounder, Tackle Flesher tips the beam at 150 and Guard Nelson makes the scales stop at 165. Compared with the right side of the East Liverpool line, these two factions being pitted aginst each other in actual battle, and find Guard Horger at 142 pounds, Tackle Liebschner, 157, and End Howard at 152.

If Larkins starts at center, as he probably will, he will be out-weighed by Pendro, the Tech center, by 150 to 136. But if Robinson takes his place, he will more than equalize matters as Robinson weighs in at 162.

The real heavyweights of the Westinghouse line, and squad, for that matter, will be doing their stuff on the right side of the line. Here we find Guard Weinend, 170 pounds; Tackle Mapes 175 pounds and End Horwath, who, with his 135 pounds, is the pigmy of the team. Opposed to this incongruous trio will be End McKee, who holds his own at 135 pounds; Tackle Bough, who can boast but 154 pounds; and Guard Perry who makes but 150. And if Bennett should replace Bough at tackle, he can bring but 149 pounds into the game.

A difference of approximately 15 pounds in backfield strength, coupled with the preponderance of Tech weight on the line may mean an East Liverpool aerial attack. The quarterbacks are even, with McConville and his rival, Africa, making 140 pounds.

The halves, Householder and Reibel, weigh 143 and 130, respectively, while the Tech ball toters, Kaeris and Magsdar, make 160 and 155, respectively. If Stockdale, with his 139 pounds, and Schaffer, with his 136, are substituted for Householder and Reibel, there still will be the same contrast.

English, fullback, will give away 17 pounds to the Tech full, or the difference between 148 pounds and 165 pounds.

With the sort of backfield that Tech possesses—a fullback at 165 pounds and halves at 160 and 155, the East Liverpool line may reasonably expect some battering tomorrow afternoon at Patterson field.

The Blue and White squad will receive its final instructions today. Actual drill work will be light and no scrimmage at all. If the Westinghouse players' heft is accompanied by natural ability, there is hardly any question but that Boone's lads will step into the face of a heavy barrage and the locals, consequently, will have to preserve every ounce of strength for the battle.

If the weather man is at all gracious and permits Patterson Field gridiron conditions to revert to some semblance of dryness, the Blue and White eleven should have a chance, and a fairly good one, at that. In that event, the burden of work undoubtedly will rest with Quarter McConville and his mighty heaving wing and Ends Howard and McKee. It appears that these three lads have a job cut out for them.

Tomorrow's clash will start at 2:30 o'clock, and, as a result, local gridders will have to wait until 6 for their turkey dinners.

What mellows tobacco?
—AGE
And it follows, then, that nothing smokes better in a seasoned pipe than seasoned, aged-in-wood

In all our experience we have found nothing that equals AGEING IN WOOD to ripen and sweeten tobacco for smoking

SHAVINGS AND SAWDUST FOUND IN DR. BIEDERWOLF'S TABERNACLE

The Union Thanksgiving service at the tabernacle will be begun promptly at 10 o'clock. Dr. Biederwolf will deliver the special sermon on this occasion.

No service will be held in the co-operating churches on Thanksgiving morning other than that in the tabernacle.

That there will be no cinflict of engagements the annual High school game at Patterson field will not be played until the afternoon. This precedent will likely be followed in succeeding years so that church attendance on this day can be guaranteed.

Dr. James Ebert of this city and James Heaton, manager of the evangelistic party were young men together some years ago in Gary, Ind., where they knew well Secretary of Labor Davis who was then starting his political career that later landed him in the Cabinet. Both regretted his failure to come to East Liverpool during the recent presidential campaign as scheduled. Had he done so there would have been a reunion not counted upon by the local party managers. Dr. Ebert and Mr. Heaton ran into each other soon after the latter's arrival here to prepare for the present campaign and the old friendship was quickly renewed.

Since the roofing paper has been put in strategic places on the sides of the tabernacle the temperature in the big auditorium has been comfortable, despite the cold weather prevailing.

Dr. Biederwolf has an unique way with those coming forward to accept the Christian life. He admonishes them following public profession of their duties, the need of church alliance, of without the fold, the renewal of their vows, if within and after the listening to the consecration prayer of one of the co-operating ministers he has them begin at once the prayer habit by following in the appended one which he has long used on such occasions himself:

Oh God, be merciful to me a sinner;
I am sorry for all the sins of my life;
Forgive me for all my sins, Oh God;
Help me to live a Christian life;
When I am tempted to sin, help me then, Oh God;
Make my life a blessing to others;
Bless the loved ones of my home;
Go with we all through my life;
Be with me in the hour of my death;
Bring me into Thy presence in heaven, and
I will accept Jesus Christ as my Saviour, and
I will live the Christian life, as best I can with God's help,
From this time on to the end of my days;
For Christ's Sake,
Amen.

As they file out leaflets with advice regarding the holding of family prayer are given them. Their names are given to the pastors to whose churches they belong or wish to affiliate with. These finally arrange for their future activities.

STRAIGHT-FROM-SHOULDER BLOWS BY EVANGELIST W. E. BIEDERWOLF

A Christian's countenance indicates that he is enjoying peace.

You ought to begin the Christian life now because it is the only grateful kind of a life to live.

No one ever lost his own or others' respect by becoming a Christian.

No matter what you may think of yourself if you are not a Christian, you are not much.

Because it requires courage it takes a manly man or woman to be a Christian and that is what the world admires.

ROJAS-CONROY LOSE DECISION

Commission Wins and Fans Get Money Back.

DAYTON, Nov. 26.—Romero Rojas, of South America, and Mike Conroy, of Buffalo, N. Y., lost a decision to the Montgomery county boxing commission here last night in "the wrangle of the century."

Both heavyweights were here on a percentage basis. When they saw that their end wouldn't be so much as they expected, there began a wrangle with the commission that finally ended with Conroy losing his forfeit of $200 and the crowd getting its money back.

When the two heavyweights put up an argument to postpone the show, the commission said "nay." Immediately Conroy suffered an attack of gastritis but this failed. Then he said he couldn't get his gloves on because his "hands were too large." After using the better part of an hour and a half trying on one pair of gloves after another, with Rojas waiting and willing to go on, the commission called the show off and gave the spectators their greenbacks.

Safety Drive Seeks Pledges From Autoists

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—A drive for the signatures of 400,000 drivers of motor vehicles in New York to a safe driving pledge has been started by Barron Collier, multi-millionaire special deputy police commissioner in charge of the Bureau of Public Safety.

The pledge which drivers are being asked to sign reads:

"I hereby promise that I will obey all traffic regulations, watch out for children and pedestrians, and drive safely at all times to the end that the appalling sacrifice of life, caused by carelessness, may be stopped and the streets of New York city made safe."

INTERNATIONAL TO MEET FRIDAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 26—International league club owners will convene here on Friday for their annual meeting, according to an announcement made public today by John Conway Toole, President of the organization. The major League draft situation, tabled at the spring meeting, will be the main topic for consideration, President Toole intimated.

GREB KNOCKS OUT FRANKIE RITZ

Long Distance Run.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26—Ten local distance runners will leave today for Berwick, Pa., where they will take part in the annual Berwick Road run of nine miles tomorrow. The leaders are Villar Kyronen, former National champion; Ilmar Prim, Finnish distance star; Frank Titterton, another runner of national note, and Johnny Bell, of Syracuse, who was disqualified after winning the inter-collegiate Freshman championship at Van Cortlandt park on Monday.

Engine Suit Filed.

HENDRYBURG, O.—Alleging that R. R. Davis, tennant, on her farm near here, is not dividing the crop according to agreement, Mrs. Annie Z. Tidball obtained an injunction in Belmont county common pleas court restraining Davis from husking more of the corn grown on the farm. The suit is unique in Belmont county courts.

SHAVINGS AND SAWDUST FOUND IN DR. BIEDERWOLF'S TABERNACLE

The Union Thanksgiving service at the tabernacle will be begun promptly at 10 o'clock. Dr. Biederwolf will deliver the special sermon on this occasion.

No service will be held in the co-operating churches on Thanksgiving morning other than that in the tabernacle.

That there will be no cinflict of engagements the annual High school game at Patterson field will not be played until the afternoon. This precedent will likely be followed in succeeding years so that church attendance on this day can be guaranteed.

Dr. James Ebert of this city and James Heaton, manager of the evangelistic party were young men together some years ago in Gary, Ind., where they knew well Secretary of Labor Davis who was then starting his political career that later landed him in the Cabinet. Both regretted his failure to come to East Liverpool during the recent presidential campaign as scheduled. Had he done so there would have been a reunion not counted upon by the local party managers. Dr. Ebert and Mr. Heaton ran into each other soon after the latter's arrival here to prepare for the present campaign and the old friendship was quickly renewed.

Since the roofing paper has been put in strategic places on the sides of the tabernacle the temperature in the big auditorium has been comfortable, despite the cold weather prevailing.

Dr. Biederwolf has an unique way with those coming forward to accept the Christian life. He admonishes them following public profession of their duties, the need of church alliance, of without the fold, the renewal of their vows, if within and after the listening to the consecration prayer of one of the co-operating ministers he has them begin at once the prayer habit by following in the appended one which he has long used on such occasions himself:

Oh God, be merciful to me a sinner;
I am sorry for all the sins of my life;
Forgive me for all my sins, Oh God;
Help me to live a Christian life;
When I am tempted to sin, help me then, Oh God;
Make my life a blessing to others;
Bless the loved ones of my home;
Go with we all through my life;
Be with me in the hour of my death;
Bring me into Thy presence in heaven, and
I will accept Jesus Christ as my Saviour, and
I will live the Christian life, as best I can with God's help,
From this time on to the end of my days;
For Christ's Sake,
Amen.

As they file out leaflets with advice regarding the holding of family prayer are given them. Their names are given to the pastors to whose churches they belong or wish to affiliate with. These finally arrange for their future activities.

STRAIGHT-FROM-SHOULDER BLOWS BY EVANGELIST W. E. BIEDERWOLF

The Christian life is the happiest kind of a life to live.

You ought to begin the Christian life now because it is the only grateful kind of a life to live.

No one ever lost his own or others' respect by becoming a Christian.

No matter what you may think of yourself if you are not a Christian, you are not much.

Because it requires courage it takes a manly man or woman to be a Christian and that is what the world admires.

ROJAS-CONROY LOSE DECISION

Commission Wins and Fans Get Money Back.

DAYTON, Nov. 26.—Romero Rojas, of South America, and Mike Conroy, of Buffalo, N. Y., lost a decision to the Montgomery county boxing commission here last night in "the wrangle of the century."

Both heavyweights were here on a percentage basis. When they saw that their end wouldn't be so much as they expected, there began a wrangle with the commission that finally ended with Conroy losing his forfeit of $200 and the crowd getting its money back.

When the two heavyweights put up an argument to postpone the show, the commission said "nay." Immediately Conroy suffered an attack of gastritis but this failed. Then he said he couldn't get his gloves on because his "hands were too large." After using the better part of an hour and a half trying on one pair of gloves after another, with Rojas waiting and willing to go on, the commission called the show off and gave the spectators their greenbacks.

Safety Drive Seeks Pledges From Autoists

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—A drive for the signatures of 400,000 drivers of motor vehicles in New York to a safe driving pledge has been started by Barron Collier, multi-millionaire special deputy police commissioner in charge of the Bureau of Public Safety.

The pledge which drivers are being asked to sign reads:

"I hereby promise that I will obey all traffic regulations, watch out for children and pedestrians, and drive safely at all times to the end that the appalling sacrifice of life, caused by carelessness, may be stopped and the streets of New York city made safe."

INTERNATIONAL TO MEET FRIDAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 26—International league club owners will convene here on Friday for their annual meeting, according to an announcement made public today by John Conway Toole, President of the organization. The major League draft situation, tabled at the spring meeting, will be the main topic for consideration, President Toole intimated.

GREB KNOCKS OUT FRANKIE RITZ

Long Distance Run.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26—Ten local distance runners will leave today for Berwick, Pa., where they will take part in the annual Berwick Road run of nine miles tomorrow. The leaders are Villar Kyronen, former National champion; Ilmar Prim, Finnish distance star; Frank Titterton, another runner of national note, and Johnny Bell, of Syracuse, who was disqualified after winning the inter-collegiate Freshman championship at Van Cortlandt park on Monday.

Engine Suit Filed.

HENDRYBURG, O.—Alleging that R. R. Davis, tennant, on her farm near here, is not dividing the crop according to agreement, Mrs. Annie Z. Tidball obtained an injunction in Belmont county common pleas court restraining Davis from husking more of the corn grown on the farm. The suit is unique in Belmont county courts.

SHAVINGS AND SAWDUST FOUND IN DR. BIEDERWOLF'S TABERNACLE

The Union Thanksgiving service at the tabernacle will be begun promptly at 10 o'clock. Dr. Biederwolf will deliver the special sermon on this occasion.

No service will be held in the co-operating churches on Thanksgiving morning other than that in the tabernacle.

That there will be no cinflict of engagements the annual High school game at Patterson field will not be played until the afternoon. This precedent will likely be followed in succeeding years so that church attendance on this day can be guaranteed.

Dr. James Ebert of this city and James Heaton, manager of the evangelistic party were young men together some years ago in Gary, Ind., where they knew well Secretary of Labor Davis who was then starting his political career that later landed him in the Cabinet. Both regretted his failure to come to East Liverpool during the recent presidential campaign as scheduled. Had he done so there would have been a reunion not counted upon by the local party managers. Dr. Ebert and Mr. Heaton ran into each other soon after the latter's arrival here to prepare for the present campaign and the old friendship was quickly renewed.

Since the roofing paper has been put in strategic places on the sides of the tabernacle the temperature in the big auditorium has been comfortable, despite the cold weather prevailing.

Dr. Biederwolf has an unique way with those coming forward to accept the Christian life. He admonishes them following public profession of their duties, the need of church alliance, of without the fold, the renewal of their vows, if within and after the listening to the consecration prayer of one of the co-operating ministers he has them begin at once the prayer habit by following in the appended one which he has long used on such occasions himself:

Oh God, be merciful to me a sinner;
I am sorry for all the sins of my life;
Forgive me for all my sins, Oh God;
Help me to live a Christian life;
When I am tempted to sin, help me then, Oh God;
Make my life a blessing to others;
Bless the loved ones of my home;
Go with we all through my life;
Be with me in the hour of my death;
Bring me into Thy presence in heaven, and
I will accept Jesus Christ as my Saviour, and
I will live the Christian life, as best I can with God's help,
From this time on to the end of my days;
For Christ's Sake,
Amen.

As they file out leaflets with advice regarding the holding of family prayer are given them. Their names are given to the pastors to whose churches they belong or wish to affiliate with. These finally arrange for their future activities.

STRAIGHT-FROM-SHOULDER BLOWS BY EVANGELIST W. E. BIEDERWOLF

The Christian life is the happiest kind of a life to live.

You ought to begin the Christian life now because it is the only grateful kind of a life to live.

No one ever lost his own or others' respect by becoming a Christian.

No matter what you may think of yourself if you are not a Christian, you are not much.

Because it requires courage it takes a manly man or woman to be a Christian and that is what the world admires.

ROJAS-CONROY LOSE DECISION

Commission Wins and Fans Get Money Back.

DAYTON, Nov. 26.—Romero Rojas, of South America, and Mike Conroy, of Buffalo, N. Y., lost a decision to the Montgomery county boxing commission here last night in "the wrangle of the century."

Both heavyweights were here on a percentage basis. When they saw that their end wouldn't be so much as they expected, there began a wrangle with the commission that finally ended with Conroy losing his forfeit of $200 and the crowd getting its money back.

When the two heavyweights put up an argument to postpone the show, the commission said "nay." Immediately Conroy suffered an attack of gastritis but this failed. Then he said he couldn't get his gloves on because his "hands were too large." After using the better part of an hour and a half trying on one pair of gloves after another, with Rojas waiting and willing to go on, the commission called the show off and gave the spectators their greenbacks.

Safety Drive Seeks Pledges From Autoists

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—A drive for the signatures of 400,000 drivers of motor vehicles in New York to a safe driving pledge has been started by Barron Collier, multi-millionaire special deputy police commissioner in charge of the Bureau of Public Safety.

The pledge which drivers are being asked to sign reads:

"I hereby promise that I will obey all traffic regulations, watch out for children and pedestrians, and drive safely at all times to the end that the appalling sacrifice of life, caused by carelessness, may be stopped and the streets of New York city made safe."

INTERNATIONAL TO MEET FRIDAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 26—International league club owners will convene here on Friday for their annual meeting, according to an announcement made public today by John Conway Toole, President of the organization. The major League draft situation, tabled at the spring meeting, will be the main topic for consideration, President Toole intimated.

GREB KNOCKS OUT FRANKIE RITZ

Long Distance Run.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26—Ten local distance runners will leave today for Berwick, Pa., where they will take part in the annual Berwick Road run of nine miles tomorrow. The leaders are Villar Kyronen, former National champion; Ilmar Prim, Finnish distance star; Frank Titterton, another runner of national note, and Johnny Bell, of Syracuse, who was disqualified after winning the inter-collegiate Freshman championship at Van Cortlandt park on Monday.

Engine Suit Filed.

HENDRYBURG, O.—Alleging that R. R. Davis, tennant, on her farm near here, is not dividing the crop according to agreement, Mrs. Annie Z. Tidball obtained an injunction in Belmont county common pleas court restraining Davis from husking more of the corn grown on the farm. The suit is unique in Belmont county courts.

LODGE OFFICERS WILL BE NAMED

Tri-State Encampment, Odd Fellows, will meet at 7:30 this evening in the Hill building, Mulberry street. Following the business session officers will be nominated for the ensuing year.

Members of Pennova lodge, No. 880, will meet tomorrow evening at 7:30 in the Hill building. Third degree will be conferred on a class at this session.

Orchestra Meet Postponed.

Second Presbyterian church orchestra meeting scheduled for Thanksgiving has been postponed. Regular session will be held next Thursday.

HOLIDAY HOURS AT POSTOFFICE

Holiday hours will be observed at the East End postoffice tomorrow, Thanksgiving day. Stamp and general delivery window will be open for a brief period in the morning. Carriers will make no deliveries. Mails will be received and dispatched as usual.

Blue Funeral.

Body of William L. Blue, 29 years old, Railroad street, who died at the City hospital following an extended illness, was shipped to Cadiz this morning where burial was made.

To Attend Services.

There will be no meetings in the East End churches tomorrow, Thanksgiving day, as members will join in the union services to be held at the tabernacle. Dr. W. E. Biederwolf, who is conducting the evangelistic campaign, will deliver the sermon which will be appropriate to the occasion.

It's a long road that has no hog.

BEFORE TWINS WERE BORN

Was Very Miserable. Felt Lots Better After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Wyocena, Wisconsin.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my twins were born because my sister used it and recommended it to me. I was so I could scarcely go about my daily work I was in such misery. But after I began taking the second bottle I was feeling lots better. I took three bottles and a half before I was confined and finished the bottle while I was in bed. I got up feeling fine and have taken care of the twins alone ever since. I recommend the Vegetable Compound highly and will sing its praises in the future."—Mrs. Ida Gerbitz, Wyocena, Wis.

It is remarkable how many cases have been reported similar to this one. Many mothers are left in a weakened and run-down condition after child-birth, and for such mothers the care of the baby is well-nigh impossible. Not only is it hard for the mother, but the child itself will indirectly suffer.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent tonic for the mother both before and after child-birth. It is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, and does not contain any harmful drugs. It can be taken in safety by nursing mothers.

Pyorrhea

Can Now Be Stopped

Don't suffer from sore and bleeding gums, broken health and loose teeth. A prominent Dental Specialist has made a most remarkable discovery—a simple inexpensive and effective treatment for Pyorrhea, called Jo-Vex. It soon kills the germs of Pyorrhea, stops bleeding and tenderness, hardens the gums, promotes healing, purifies the mouth and breath and halts poisoning of the system. Used as directed, Jo-Vex may be relied upon to eliminate Pyorrhea, or to prevent it. Get a bottle from C. G. Anderson or other drug stores. Jo-Vex is inexpensive, easy to use, and sold under a money-back guarantee. If your dealer can't supply you send $1.00 to the Jo-Vex Co., Akron, Ohio.

Wyocena, Wisconsin.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my twins were born because my sister used it and recommended it to me. I was so I could scarcely go about my daily work I was in such misery. But after I began taking the second bottle I was feeling lots better. I took three bottles and a half before I was confined and finished the bottle while I was in bed. I got up feeling fine and have taken care of the twins alone ever since. I recommend the Vegetable Compound highly and will sing its praises in the future."—Mrs. Ida Gerbitz, Wyocena, Wis.

It is remarkable how many cases have been reported similar to this one. Many mothers are left in a weakened and run-down condition after child-birth, and for such mothers the care of the baby is well-nigh impossible. Not only is it hard for the mother, but the child itself will indirectly suffer.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent tonic for the mother both before and after child-birth. It is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, and does not contain any harmful drugs. It can be taken in safety by nursing mothers.

MAYORS ORGANIZE TO OBTAIN LAWS FOR OHIO CITIES

Mayor Clayton C. Townes of Cleveland, is head of an organization of Ohio mayors formed to fight for legislation wanted by municipalities. The organization will attempt to break the control of the legislature held by rural representatives.

Pyorrhea

Can Now Be Stopped

Don't suffer from sore and bleeding gums, broken health and loose teeth. A prominent Dental Specialist has made a most remarkable discovery—a simple inexpensive and effective treatment for Pyorrhea, called Jo-Vex. It soon kills the germs of Pyorrhea, stops bleeding and tenderness, hardens the gums, promotes healing, purifies the mouth and breath and halts poisoning of the system. Used as directed, Jo-Vex may be relied upon to eliminate Pyorrhea, or to prevent it. Get a bottle from C. G. Anderson or other drug stores. Jo-Vex is inexpensive, easy to use, and sold under a money-back guarantee. If your dealer can't supply you send $1.00 to the Jo-Vex Co., Akron, Ohio.
